IT'S YOUR LAW

Remember For Law Makes Democracy Live

WAS IT AN ACCIDENT?
An accident isn't one if it's sure to take place. It must be unexpected and sudden, and, generally, unintentional.

A company insured Jones from damage he might cause to others "by accident."

Jones drilled for and got oil on his land. He pumped for years, and one day when his neighbor's land began to sink, the neighbor sued Jones. The insurance firm would not defend the suit or pay the damages.

So Jones up and sued the insurance firm.

The court upheld the insurance firm: The sinking land was not an "accident." It was bound to happen and Jones and the neighbor could have foreseen it. Maybe in the first year the sinking might be an accident. But the neighbor was suing for damage for years of pumping and drilling. In one case, unknown to the owner some salad oil grew rancid from lack of care. He sold it to a customer who mixed it with good food products and damaged all his stock. The court agreed that damage to the customer's stock was an accident.

Casualties and accidents must happen suddenly. Disputes arise over what an accident is, often with the tax collector. Under the taxing laws you may deduct for "casualties" or "accidents." In income tax cases the government will not let you deduct termite or dry rot damage caused to your home over many years. But a sudden swarm of termites damaging your house all at once would be deductible.

Note: Oregon lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws. It is to inform, not advise.
