TOPICS OF THE TOWN

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Garner and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Garner entertained Saturday evening with a dinner honoring Miss Mildred Weed who left Sunday to return to her home in Pasadena after a two weeks visit here. Other guests were Oscar Weed, Mr. and Mrs. Oren Weed and Mr. and Mrs. Elza Weed and son Dennis from St. Helens.

RUMMAGE SALE: Thurs., Fri., Oct. 11, 12. Fire hall. EUB church. 4012c

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Laird and family have now moved to their new home in Salem. Mrs. Laird is teaching there this year. Mr. Laird has been working in Portland while awaiting completion of the bowling alley in Salem with which he is to be associated. The strikes which affected construction work has delayed its completion.

The trapper, Robert Walker and his family are moving from Washington street to the Davies place on Rock creek, formerly known as the McFarland place.

Larry Kuehn who is a freshman at Reed college this year visited here last week end with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Steers.

Mrs. L. G. Bowerman drove to Corvallis Sunday to pick up her daughter, Mrs. Merritt Tuttle for the drive on to Toledo to visit Mrs. Bowerman's brother, Fred Wall. They found him at home and doing fine and he sent his greetings to his many Vernonia friends. Mrs. Bowerman spent Sunday night at Corvallis with her daughter and husband and returned home Monday.

A family get together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Stiff was occasioned by the visit here of their daughter Lorene and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Pousson and four children from Farmington, New Mexico. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. John White from Moses Lake, Washington; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stiff and Mrs. Clayton Stiff and family, Hillsboro; Dr. and Mrs. Frank Wallace and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ballard and son, Clackamas; Robert White, Battleground, Washington; and Mrs. Ozzie Ray and family, Vernonia. The Stiffs regretted the absence of their son, Elvin who is at present in Hong Kong.

RUMMAGE SALE: Thurs., Fri., Oct. 11, 12. Fire hall. EUB church. 4012c

Mrs. Betty Cochran of Glendale, California is visiting here with her father, A. B. Counts and other relatives. Mrs. A. B. Counts entered the University of Oregon Medical School hospital Monday for some surgery and tests which were done Tuesday.

A telephone call Saturday to Mrs. Harry Emmons brought word that her father, W. E. McGilchrist who made his home at Roseburg with his son Robert had suffered a heart attack or stroke. Other news from the Robert Gilchrist home was that a son, David Scott, had arrived September 27. This is their sixth child.

Guests the past several weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nelson have been his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Nelson from Moorhead, Minnesota. They will leave for home Friday of this week.

Mrs. Carl Davis and Mrs. E. E. Garner drove to Longview Sunday morning and accompanied Mrs. M. D. Cole to opening events of the Washington Grand Temple, Pythian Sisters at the Montecello hotel. Included were a tea honoring the grand officers of the Knights and Sisters, the joint opening ceremonies in which the welcome to the convention was extended by the Longview mayor, joint memorial services and group banquets in the evening. Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Garner attended the past grand chiefs banquet and Mrs. Davis was at the representative banquet. Groups all joined for entertainment after the dinners.

RUMMAGE SALE: Thurs., Fri., Oct. 11, 12. Fire hall. EUB church. 4012c

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Frank and their daughter, Mrs. Larry Brown and her two children drove to The Dallas week end before last to visit their son Roy and family. Mr. Frank remained there all of last week and Roy brought him home last week end.

Mrs. Larry Brown who is at present staying here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Frank so as to be able to make frequent trips to visit her husband at Good Samaritan hospital where he has been for some time, is pleased to see him showing some improvement now, although progress is slow.

Gordon Reed was rushed to Good Samaritan hospital Friday of last week after he had suffered a heart attack and was placed in an oxygen tent. By Tuesday of this week he had recovered sufficiently to be allowed up briefly and hoped to be allowed to come home soon if his progress continued.

Forest Club Explores Woods

Twenty-two 4-H Forest Pleasure clubbers rode Ralph Keasey's pickup to the woods at the north end of Rose avenue September 25. A quick plus and minus test showed that there had been a high degree of absorption of the subject matter of the previous meeting. Jimmy Proehl and David Reynolds were the high men toward October's prize of a pocket glass to study leaves and insects. After a Douglas fir and a grand fir were Christmas trees, many members were able to walk up to a new tree and say, "The tree begins here." That lowest perfect swirl of limbs is the beginning. Below this most careful judgment is needed to grow a second tree from a limb. A nicely brushed tree of the forestry club of several years back was again pruned at the needed correction points.

Considerable buzzing accompanied the counting of the limb swirls on two trees. It was decided that one was eight years and other was 20 years old.

Several wild foods in abundance were sampled so as to give confidence if one is lost and hungry. Everyone ate some mild snowberries and some strong rose hips, the latter having ten times the vitamin C.

Big Mac and Little Mic were found to be Big Leaf Maple (Acrora Macrofilia) and Vine Maple (Acrora Microfilia). The members picked the sealed leaves of the Western Red Cedar (Thuja Plicata) with their fingernails and observed how they were plated, (Plicata). They crushed the leaves of the Grand fir (Abies Grandis) between their fingers and noted the pungent, strong balsam odor, the nice pine smell, so called by customers on a Christmas tree lot.

And the reason for the need to know the botanical names? Because even to a Finnish or a Japanese or an Italian forester, Abies Grandis is Abies Grandis in his language, too.

Nursery Visit Is Informative

Sunday afternoon, September 23, Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Spofford visited the Lost Park Nursery and Fairdale Nursery Co. after which they went to the home of their daughter, Elsie Graham and her family.

The Fairdale Nursery Co. is owned by Frank Morishita, a landscape architect. He explained the difference between landscaping and garden design. The distinction is not too fine to be easily understood.

Landscape of an entire area establishes the background for the garden design. He said fall was the best time to do this.

He then showed them several acres in nursery stock, including rhododendrons. These were in an open field with no protection from wind or sun except a distant grove of firs near Troutdale. He mentioned a couple which he considered best for planting in sunny locations. He said that the Eastern trade preferred the larger species but he recommended the dwarf rhododendron for foundation planting.

Clarence Paul, owner of the Lost Park nursery on the west side near Portland, specializes in rhododendrons and azaleas. His fields were also in the open. He showed Mr. and Mrs. Spofford his propagating house where cuttings were rooted. It may take six months before cuttings root. Then they are planted in beds in a slat house where they are protected from sun and winter winds from one to two years.

Only the strongest plants are put in the fields. The ground is fertilized before being planted. After one year in the field, plants are ready for sale.

Mr. Paul was in agreement with Mr. Morishita that the larger, older plants were best for the home owner to purchase. Plants that were in the field two or more years are stronger and better able to establish themselves after transplanting. Field grown plants have a better shape and more blooms than other methods of raising rhododendrons.

NEW TYPE SAW NOW ON DISPLAY

A new type of chain saw that combines the low cost, light weight and operating simplicity of the do-it-yourself chain saw with the ruggedness and lugging power of professional models is on display at Keasey's Saw Shop.

Known as the C5 convertible drive model, the new saw for the first time provides small contractors and other users who do not require the features of a complete professional model with a small power conversion unit that can be added to convert direct engine drive to a gear drive for rugged, difficult cutting jobs.

It is anticipated that the new saw will be widely employed for pruning and trimming shade trees and orchards, part time logging, repairing storm damage, clearing acreage for buildings, building fences and small bridges, building cabins and shelters, and a variety of other applications.

Names Added To List Surviving M. V. Ring

Names of survivors were omitted last week from the obituary of Merle V. Ring due to the accidental misplacement of a piece of paper on which the information was given.

In addition to the brother Robert Ring from New York who was mentioned last week, he was survived by a brother Jay, who with his wife, son Jimmy and daughter Cathryn drove from California to Tacoma for the services, a brother Kenneth in Ohio who was unable to come for services and a sister Peggy, Mrs. Bon. Barnell of Portland, who, with her husband, was at Tacoma.

Mist-Nehalem Unit To Sample Lesson Items

New ways of cooking vegetables will be studied when the Mist-Nehalem Extension Unit meets October 12 at 10:30 a.m. at the Birkenfeld Community Center.

Mrs. Arby Mills and Mrs. Jim Watson will present the lesson to the ladies. Samples of the cooking will be served for lunch.

There will be a baby sitter provided. All interested women are invited to attend.
