

Vows Exchanged In Church Rite

Autumn leaves and flowers decorated the chancel of the Evangelical United Brethren church Saturday afternoon, September 29, and formed the setting for the exchange of wedding vows by Miss Lorraine Evelyn Cunningham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Cunningham of Treharne and Larry Wendell Jones, son of Mrs. Charles Cedarburg of Vernonia. The impressive double ring ceremony was read by the Rev. Raymond B. Targgart, pastor of the church, in the presence of the members of the families of the couple.

The bride wore an attractive white brocade afternoon dress and carried a nosegay of pink and white rosebuds. Her bridesmaid was Miss Geneva Sullivan who wore an olive green suit and white rosebud corsage.

Best man was James DeVaney from Tillamook.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held on Weed avenue in the house which was to be the new home of the couple. From the reception, they left for a short honeymoon trip to the beach.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jones are graduates of Vernonia high school with the class of 1961. He is employed at Timber Structures in Portland and she is working at the Sawyers plant at Progress.

Grand Temple Dates Approach

At the meeting of Vernonia Temple Pythian Sisters held last Wednesday evening at the IOOF hall, plans were made for attendance of the Grand Temple sessions at the Multnomah hotel in Portland next Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Charley Hickman will attend as grand representative and Mrs. Frank Lange as alternate. Others who will be at the entire session are Mrs. E. E. Garner, sitting past grand chief, and Mrs. Irma Chance.

Others plan to go for part of the sessions and social events. A tea honoring the grand chief and grand chancellor will be held from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday at the Oregon-Washington Pythian home at Vancouver. This is open to everyone and is a good time for seeing the home.

Several plan to drive to Portland Monday for the opening sessions of Grand Temple at which the Grand Temple degree is given.

Informal reports from the session will be given at the meeting here Wednesday night of next week, October 10.

Also, members are to bring things they have for the rummage sale to the meeting next week. The committee wishes articles turned in now so they can be readied and priced.

Following that meeting, there will be a silent auction so members are to bring items for that, including baked goods, canned foods, etc.

The last meeting was followed by a birthday party honoring those whose birthdates fall in July, August or September. Committee in charge was Mrs. Cleo McNair, Mrs. M. J. Lamping and Mrs. Murel Folken who served delicious cakes with ice cream, tea and coffee. Lovely dahlias from the garden of Mrs. J. A. Yeager, sister of Mrs. Lamping, decorated the tables.

Extension Program Provides Help For Homemakers with Information

The Columbia County Homemakers committee met last Friday, September 28 at the home of Mrs. Marion Cassel on Mist route. The meeting started at 10:30 a.m. and members brought a sack lunch which was accompanied by the coffee and dessert supplied by Mrs. Cassel.

Members of the committee who were present were Mrs. Inez Langdon, Scappoose; Mrs. Ellen Tannler, Rainier; Mrs. Mary Walin, Clatskanie; and Mrs. Helen Sandstrom, Clatskanie. Mrs. Saxton Barlow of Birkenfeld was unable to attend due to illness.

The county committee is made up of representatives from the various communities who work with the county extension agent, Mrs. Margaret Allyn, to plan and coordinate the extension program so as to serve the best advantage in the county.

The homemakers extension program as carried out through the extension clubs in the various communities is a program of adult education planned especially for homemakers to keep them abreast of the changing pattern of modern day living. It is an out of school educational program to bring new practices and information to the people. The home extension program is one phase of the overall three-phase program which includes 4-H clubs and the agricultural program.

It is a cooperative program supported by federal, state and county funds and is open and available to everyone interested in taking advantage of the opportunities it offers.

In Oregon, the program is under the direct supervision of Oregon State University, Corvallis. In the county, the extension office is the directing agency.

The program is planned by the people themselves so as to give them what they want. The homemakers extension program covers home living, money management, foods and nutrition, clothing, home furnishings and home management.

The program is carried out in organized groups. These groups send representatives, called project leaders, to central meeting places where they get subject matter to take back to their groups.

This year, clubs in Columbia county will have a wool dress workshop, will learn new methods of vegetable cookery, learn the facts about social security, have lessons on child training, learn how to prepare low calorie meals, learn about cleaning of rugs and upholstery, better lighting and Hawaiian cookery and culture.

This is an opportunity for all women to get continued training without cost and to continually better themselves and their families.
