

PEO Chapter to Fete Husbands

Mrs. Owen East was hostess October 23 to Chapter BS of the PEO Sisterhood with 15 members in attendance. Mrs. Judd Greenman was present as a most welcome guest. She was the sponsor and organizer of the local chapter.

Plans were made for a special meeting on November 6 at which the state organizer, Mrs. E. R. Quinn, will make her official visit. Hostess will be Mrs. T. M. Hobart.

A tentative date, November 10, was set for a BIL party at the home of the president, Mrs. Robert Lindsay, but later it was found this conflicts with other activities and November 17 has been suggested as an alternate time. Members will be notified regarding the time. Games and other entertainment have been planned and a late buffet supper arranged by the committee in charge: Mrs. Darrold Proehl, Mrs. W. G. Heath and Mrs. J. W. Nichols. For the BILs Robert Lindsay, William Nelson and R. B. Fletcher were appointed to arrange ceremonies for the initiation of other BILs.

The ritual of the sisterhood was exemplified and the program was given by Mrs. Paul Gordon who presented a clever constitution and by-laws quiz in which all members took part.

believes FEDERAL AID to each state should be prompt return of one-fourth of all income tax paid by that state, with no deduction. LESS UNEMPLOYMENT if we handle our own money. Now we support bureaucrats in Washington and elsewhere to handle it inefficiently for us.

Stop the skin game of matching money with Uncle Sam. It's Oregon money that he matches with us for SCHOOLS, WELFARE, SENIOR CITIZENS, CHILD CARE.

BETTER ROADS. Let each state have ALL the gas tax, no federal. Then Oregon could have its more-easily-seen yellow stripe. Vote 111 X LAWRENCE MEISSNER.

What this country seems to need most today are sound and practical theories on how to live within one's income.

Society Members Note Severity Of Storm Compared with 1880

The Columbia County Historical Society met Tuesday, October 23 with a good attendance at the Natal Grange hall. Wm. Wood, president, presided at the meeting after the group had eaten the bountiful meal served by the Grange ladies.

All were glad to see that the storm had done no more damage than it had and that the roads were clear of fallen timber. It was recalled that when the big storm of 1880 came, it had blocked the roads in the Nehalem valley beyond repair.

Much discussion of the new museum and its progress showed that things are progressing slowly, and it is hoped that it will soon be ready for occupancy. Living quarters must be prepared for a curator before displays can be installed.

The 1962 historical booklets were ready for distribution and members took copies to sell in their communities. Material in the

Group Showers New Arrivals

Small fry were the center of attraction as well as the reason for the party held recently at the home of Mrs. Rudy Domitrovich with Mrs. Dale Andrich as co-hostess. Honor guests at the affair were Mrs. Manning Bomberger and her twin girls, Kristine Kay and Kathleen Ann who were born September 30 and Mrs. Truman Jackson and her small daughter, Jennifer Lynn who arrived September 13.

Purpose of the event was to shower the mothers with all the adorable gifts available for such charming young ladies.

Appropriate games were played and prizes awarded after which very clever refreshments of cakes shaped and iced to represent booties and assorted open face sandwiches were served by the hostesses.

booklet covers the county, so all parts are represented in the stories. Copies may be obtained from members of the society. There is already talk of a 1963 edition, since there are many interesting stories worth recording. The booklets are priced at $1.00 each.

The members of the society wish to express appreciation to those who have helped with collecting material for both 1961 and 1962 booklets and in distributing them, thus adding to the museum fund. This is thought to be a very worthwhile project, since nothing of the kind has been done here before.

Plans are underway to meet in November at the Vernonia Grange hall.
