Hospital Notes Policy Change

Morningside hospital, Portland, the largest private psychiatric hospital on the west coast, is being made available to private patients in Oregon and neighboring states for the first time in 50 years, Administrator Henry W. Coe announced this week in conjunction with a tour of the 350-bed hospital by Gov. Mark O. Hatfield.

Morningside was founded in 1893 by Dr. Henry Waldo Coe, a well-known Oregon pioneer citizen. Since 1904, the hospital has been primarily occupied by patients from Alaska. Last month, the Alaska Psychiatric Institute opened in Anchorage, giving the new state its first public psychiatric facility, and allowing Morningside to again accept private patients from the Northwest.

Morningside is considered a pioneer among psychiatric hospitals in the "open door" philosophy of treatment, Administrator Coe pointed out, which was introduced in 1955, prior to the general usage of tranquilizing drugs in psychiatric care. The "open" hospital is characterized by the absence of locks and barred windows, Coe said.

Holiday Party Dated By Unit

Members of the Vernonia Extension Unit heard Mrs. T. F. Keasey and Mrs. Merle Cline present an interesting and informative lesson concerning Social Security at the meeting held Thursday of last week, November 15, at the West Oregon Electric building.

Mrs. R. C. Lindsay, safety chairman, gave pointers on making a first aid kit for car or home use in an emergency.

As an extra feature of the meeting, the ladies learned to make work bags from ice cream cartons.

December 13, the unit will meet at 11:00 a.m. for a meeting which will include a planned potluck dinner. Those at the November meeting outlined dishes they will take and others who attend are to take salad or dessert. There will be a style show of garments made in the dress workshops.

Also, the unit is to fill a Christmas box for Fairview Home so all who attend are asked to bring gifts for that.

The unit planned project will be smocked pillows. Those wishing to participate should bring materials as follows:

For the gingham pillow, one and a half yards of one-inch checked material and a package of regular sized rick-rack; for the corduroy pillows, round, one yard 20 inches of 36 inch material will make two.

Persons interested in first aid or home nursing courses are asked to contact Mrs. Wally Grosche, Civil Defense chairman. If enough show interest, classes will be arranged.

Meet Features Re-Obligation

At the meeting of Vernonia Temple, Pythian Sisters, November 14, the annual homecoming was observed with past chiefs filling the chairs. Mrs. Harry Culbertson, charter member of the temple which was organized in 1926, presided as most excellent chief and Mrs. Mathilde Bergerson served as excellent senior, Mrs. Carl Davis as excellent junior, Mrs. Charley Hickman as manager, Mrs. Irma Chance as treasurer, Mrs. Frank Lange as secretary and Mrs. E. E. Garner as sitting past chief.

Highlight of the evening was the candlelight re-obligation ceremony in which Mrs. Grayce Bundy and Mrs. Mary Sawyer acted as the candle-lighters.

Mrs. Robert Wyckoff and Mrs. Gladys Sozoff, members who now live in Forest Grove, were here for the evening.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Jennie Lusby, Mrs. Helen Spofford, Mrs. Harry Culbertson and Mrs. Garner. Assorted doughnuts were served with coffee and tea and a clever centerpiece arranged by Mrs. Spofford featured a combination of autumn flowers, 'teacups' and doughnuts with the added touch of a ceramic bird, supposedly to eat the crumbs.

At the next meeting, November 28, the first nomination of officers will be made. All members are urged to attend.

County Cancer Recheck Ended

Columbia was among the first 10 counties in Oregon to complete the 1962 recheck of participants in the American Cancer Society's six-year cancer prevention study, says Byron Steward of St. Helens, county chairman of the survey. News of the county's achievement came from Dr. A. C. Hutchinson of Portland, who heads the cancer study committee for the society's Oregon division.

This county, which had 385 men and women enrolled in the six-year study, has had four deaths in the group since the 1961 recheck. Whether or not they were cancer-caused will not be known until photostatic copies of death certificates are studied by the American Cancer Society's medical affairs department which is directing the study.

In this year's recheck, volunteer workers who are keeping track of the participants were asked only to report if they were still living and, if so, any change of address or marital status. In the 1963 recheck, more extensive information will be sought. The study will continue into 1965.

At the beginning of this fall's recheck, Oregon had 28,650 persons enrolled. They live in 27 counties of the state.

Unit Plans For Holiday Event

Tuesday, November 13, ten members were present at the Timber route Extension Unit meeting held at the Vernonia Grange hall. The project leaders, Mrs. Richard Jensen and Mrs. Antone Smejkal, gave a very interesting and informative lesson on "Your Family's Stake in Social Security." Many questions were answered by the leaders during the discussion period. The two project leaders were also hostesses for the pot luck lunch that was served.

Due to the fact that the vice-president, Vera Miller, has moved from this district and has resigned the members elected Mrs. George Smith to fill the position for the balance of the year and she was installed at this meeting.

The December 11 project is unit planned and will be on making yard stick covers and litter bags for sewing machines. There will also be a Christmas gift exchange between members with a limit of one dollar. Mothers may bring gifts for their own children if they wish. This meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Donald Bergerson. Mrs. Eugene Fuquay and Mrs. Mel Bergerson will serve as hostesses. Everyone is invited to attend.
