STORAGE, STORM & FLOOD SHELTER

Multi-Purpose Unit Designed

Plans for a multi-purpose structure, for normal crop storage use or for occupancy by six persons in case of emergency such as nuclear attack or tornado are available from Oregon State University, according to OSU extension agricultural engineering specialist M. G. Huber.

Because at least part of the shelter would be occupied by stored produce at a time of emergency, USDA Plan No. 5948 allows two and one-third times the accepted minimum space per person. Any fruits and vegetables in storage at the time would form supplementary emergency food supply.

Ventilation is provided by gravity air flow. If more than six persons may be required to take shelter during an emergency, a mechanical blower should be installed.

With a baffle entrance, baffled exhaust vent, and a two-foot earth cover, this shelter provides a radiation protection factor of 2600.

The shelter should be on a site with good drainage or one that can be drained. In areas with high water tables, the shelter-storage may be constructed above ground and covered with a minimum of two feet of earth. Farm Building Plan Service, Agricultural Engineering Building, Oregon State University, Corvallis 97331, has working drawings of Plan No. 5948 available for 85 cents.

St. Helens Jaycees Win Bid to National Confab

On July 25-26 the Oregon Jaycees held an executive committee and local presidents meeting in Woodburn. Highlight of the meeting for the Jaycees in this area was the bidding for the Oregon log to the next national convention in Buffalo, New York, in June of next year.

Bidding for the project this year were the Reedsport Jaycees and the St. Helens Jaycees. After a superb presentation by St. Helens president, John Winkler, the project was awarded to the St. Helens chapter. The Scappoose Jaycees feel that this is the best publicity that Columbia county will receive nationwide in a long time.

The log will be donated by Crown Zellerbach corporation and will be cut in Columbia county. It will be eight feet in diameter and will be 30 feet long. The truck will come from Mock Truck Inc., Portland, the trailer from Peerless Trailer, Portland; tires from the O.K. Tire Store, St. Helens; wheels from Pacific Wheel and Rim Co., Portland; and fuel for the rig from Humble Oil Co., Portland.

Escorting this huge local log will be a lead car from Jack Keudell Motors in St. Helens. Truck and lead car will be radar equipped by RCA, Portland. Following the truck will be a Dodge Motor Home housing the news facilities of Radio Station KOHI of St. Helens. The news coverage of the logs progress will be handled by KOHI and UPI.

The log will leave St. Helens at 7 a.m. on May 29 and arrive in Buffalo on June 20. It will pass through 14 states and spend four days at the New York World's fair.

Beginning April 1 the log will make short week end trips throughout Oregon. Everyone in the Scappoose area should make it a point to see this forest giant when it is in our area. The Oregon Jaycees have taken a log to all national conventions in the past several years. The publicity and advertisement from this is terrific. Sometimes people do not believe the log is real because they have never seen such trees.
