County to Benefit from O&C Land Underpayments

Columbia county will fall heir to an unexpected windfall amounting to $636,773.12 due to underpayment of its annual share of federal timber receipts from the Oregon and California railroad grant lands.

A government audit of the accounts at the department of Interior revealed that the under payment to Columbia county was the result of inadvertent errors. Columbia County Judge John W.

Whipple announced Wednesday, August 19, that county officials in Oregon met with Assistant Secretary of the Interior John Carver that week at Eugene to present the problem and to ask these officials the most painless solution.

Counties in the state that have been underpaid from these O&C timber sales include Columbia county, and Curry $817,708; Josephine $77,972 and Coos county underpaid $25,990.

Whipple said that the sum of $636,773.12 will be paid to the county over the next three-year period, in addition to the regular yearly payment to O&C counties.

During the year 1964, Columbia county was due to be paid $435,402.19 as a result of the tentative agreement reached this past week, the county will be paid $614,565.02, or $179,162.83 more than previously pro-

Under the Oregon and California railroad grant lands act of 1937, counties are entitled to 75 percent of the receipts from timber sold from these lands, that are administered by the Bureau of Land Management. By common consent, the counties in recent years have taken but 50 percent, and in effect allowed the BLM to use the other 25 percnt to finance access road construction. Twelve Oregon counties have been overpaid over a period of nine years from 1954 to 1963. Multnomah county has been overpaid $857,694; Lane county $207,925; Clackamas county $194,930. Others overpaid were Douglas $77,972; Klamath, $64,976; Benton, Washington, Polk, Marion and Linn, each $25,990; Jackson and Tillamook, each $12,995.

During the Eugene meeting last week, Carver suggested an alternative repayment plan for the counties that have been overpaid. This would result in those counties being paid less for this year. Because of the great overpayment, Multnomah county would have 10 years to repay its overpayment.

Whipple said that at this time. Columbia county has no plans to use the $636,773. The court indicated that the county budget committee might be called to formulate a supplemental budget to put the surplus to use.
