

CARC Program Lists Speaker

Mrs. Helen Gordon, who travelled in Europe this spring as Oregon-Washington delegate to the Women for Peace rally in The Hague, will be the guest panelist at a public dinner sponsored by the Columbia County Retarded Childrens association.

Mrs. Severin Posch, Scappoose, chairman of the dinner committee, said the potluck dinner will be held in the auditorium of the St. Fredrics parochial school, St. Helens, Saturday, September 26. St. Fredrics is donating the use of its facilities.

Mrs. Gordon is the director of the Portland Jewish Community Center pre-school, open to both retarded and average children. She has served as a board member of the National Association for Retarded Children, and as president of the state organization. Mrs. Gordon recently attended a two-week session on learning disabilities, held at the Easter Seal Child Development Center in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. While in Europe, Mrs. Gordon studied teaching methods used for the retarded in Sweden, Denmark, London, Spain and France.

Her husband, William Gordon, is executive director of the Jewish Community Center.

Dealer Views 1965 Models

On Wednesday, August 19, Jim Davies, local Chevrolet dealer, accompanied by his son, Craig, drove to Seattle to view the pre-showing of the 1965 Chevrolet cars and trucks.

The new models were acclaimed by the representative dealers from Oregon, Washington and Idaho to be the most beautiful and distinctive ever produced by General Motors.

Complete style changes have been made in the regular Chevrolet line which includes Impalas, Bel Airs and Biscaynes. The Impala sports coupe and four door sedans were the center of attention of dealers. Radical changes which make it truly a sports car have been made to the Corvair line. The new Corsa sports coupe replaces the former Monza coupe. The changes in these two lines are completely different from the 1964 line.

Pleasing and functional design improvements were incorporated into the Chevelle and Chevy 2 series, to make them again the outstanding value for demanding motorists.

The 1965 model trucks and pickups are in dealers' hands and ready for delivery. Vernonia Auto received a shipment last week of new pickups. The 1965 car showing is scheduled for Thursday, September 24.

David Linn Goes Into Submarine Training

David E. Linn, EN2, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Linn, left last Sunday for Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania to attend a five week course of advanced nuclear power at Bettis school. After that he will go to New London, Connecticut to be assigned to a new submarine, the Benjamin Franklin, which will be commissioned in the spring.

He was accompanied east by his father, Walter Linn, who is taking a vacation from his work at the city hall.

4-H Education Grants Offered

Outstanding college prospects in the state this year will share in educational grants offered to present or former 4-H club members.

The awards, totaling $6,700, are being provided by the S&H foundation for the fifth consecutive year, reports the national 4-H service committee.

Each of 17 selected states will receive $300 to be awarded by the extension service.

Selection preference will be given girls planning to major in home economics, but depending upon state regulations, girls or boys in other fields may be eligible.

In addition, S&H provides two scholarship awards available on a national basis. The grants of $800 each will be given to two present or former 4-H girls who will be juniors in college this year. They must plan to major in home economics in their junior and senior years.

Additional information and scholarship applications are available from county extension agents or the state 4-H club office.

Quick Freezing Preserves Fish

Quick freezing extra fish, salmon in particular, is a good way to preserve them for future use, says Columbia County Extension Agent Margaret Allyn.

Cut up the fish in the desired size pieces and place in suitable containers. Place in freezer and freeze the fish solid before adding water. After the fish is frozen solid, fill the container with water so all portions of the fish are covered with at least one half inch of water and freeze.

When both the fish and the water are placed in the container at the same time, the fish freezes very slowly and large ice crystals are formed in the flesh. When the fish is thawed the ice crystals melt, making the flesh soft and flabby — and some of the good juices are lost.

Quick freezing fish in airtight bags is also a good way to preserve extra fish. It is fast, takes less freezer space, and if the bag is air tight, will preserve the fish at least for six months.

Soap, sunlight and hot water are among the chief enemies of tuberculosis germs

MRS. ELVA Goss, left, director of the art exhibit at the Columbia county fair, admires an unusual collection of sculpture exhibited by Sunny DeHart of Vernonia. The blue ribbon display consisted of a nude in sitting position, and an unfired nude in leaning position, a Buddha of plaster and vermiculate, clay punch ports, both fired and unfired, and free form articles. At right is a typical scene that was repeated many times at the Columbia county fair just finished. This group of 4-H youngsters is showing their animals before Judge Molar who gives a critical eye to junior Hereford calves and their handlers.

Recently joining the Navy through the recruiting station in Hillsboro, was Dale Wayne Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Green, Vernonia. Hill, a graduate of Vernonia high school, joined the navy under the high school graduate training program and was assigned a specialist school in the high school seaman field.

Recently enlisting in the U. S. Navy at Hillsboro recruiting station and now undergoing basic training at the naval training center at San Diego, California was Jackie Lee Greenwood, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Rose, Timber Route, Vernonia. Greenwood is a former Vernonia high school student.

Barracks and Auxiliary Hold Meeting August 24

The World War I Barracks 2525 and auxiliary met August 24 at the Odd Fellows building with a delicious pot luck dinner at 6:30 p.m. A regular meeting of each unit was held at 8 p.m.

AFL-CIO Urges Registration

The state AFL-CIO's renewed voter registration effort and its educational campaign on Ballot Measure No. 3 to amend the state workmen's compensation (job-injury) law was carried to the Columbia County Labor Council, AFL-CIO meeting here Wednesday evening, August 19.

Don Cadwell, special representative of the Oregon AFL-CIO, described to delegates the place that the state AFL-CIO, the county and area labor councils, such as the Columbia county body and local unions, play in the voter registration drive and the Ballot Measure No. 3 educational campaign.

Cadwell informed the delegates of what is contained in the ballot measure to be voted upon at the November 3 general election. Briefly, this is what is involved. The protection of the present exclusive state workmen's compensation law would be extended to some 200,000 employed persons in the state not now covered by it, increase benefits generally by 18.5 percent, extend the time for which an injured workman can apply for increased compensation from the present two to five years, free employers from suit under the employers' liability act, permit employers to insure jointly and increase the benefits of those injured in earlier years.

Cadwell referred to a study made of administrative costs of insurance coverage for workmen under private auspices and the cost, paid out of the employer's premium dollar, under state coverage. This study, he said, revealed that whereas some 38 cents of the premium dollar went for administrative costs under private insurance, the administrative cost paid out of the employer's premium dollar under state coverage was only seven cents.
