Date Given for NROTC Exam

Vice Admiral B. J. Selles Jr., chief of naval personnel, announced today that December 12 has been designated as the test date for the 19th annual national competitive NROTC examination. Parents and high school officials should remind eligible high school seniors and graduates to submit their applications before November 20.

The regular NROTC program, which is designated to supplement the career officer output of the U. S. Naval Academy, offers a wonderful opportunity for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at one of the 52 NROTC colleges and universities which he has chosen. The Navy furnishes tuition, fees and books, plus a retainer of $50 per month to the NROTC midshipman.

Each summer NROTC midshipmen go on interesting and rewarding training cruises to different parts of the world. After completing his four year college course and all requirements, an NROTC midshipman is commissioned as a regular officer in the U. S. Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty with the operating forces.

The program is open to male high school seniors and graduates who will have reached their 17th but not their 21st birthday on June 30, 1965. Those who make a qualifying score will be interviewed and given thorough medical examinations early in 1965. Approximately 2,000 young men from those remaining in competition will thus be selected to attend college next September to prepare for their naval careers.

The 1965 NROTC Bulletins of Information and application forms are available at local high schools and Navy recruiting stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Department of the Navy, Washington, D.C. 20370.

Wheat Growers Told Deadline

Columbia county winter wheat growers wishing to participate in the 1965 wheat program have until October 2 to declare their intentions by signing up with county ASCS office, reports Don Coin Walrod, county extension agent.

Participating growers will receive price supports and certificates in addition to diversion payments. To qualify growers must plant within their allotment, diverting at least 11.11 percent of the allotment to soil conserving uses.

Under the 1965 program, price supports will be down five cents to $12.5 per bushel. At the same time certificates will be raised five cents, putting export certificates at 30 cents and domestic certificates at 75 cents.

Domestic certification will be issued on normal yields of 45 percent of the allotment and export certificates on only 35 percent.

The 11.11 percent diversion required for participation receives no payment in 1965, but allotting an extra 10 to 20 percent to soil conserving uses will result in payments equal to 50 percent of the normal yields times the county support rate.

Growers who have a feed grain base as well as a wheat allotment can substitute one for the other in 1965. It is necessary to meet diversion requirements in both cases, and wheat grown on feed grain acres will get support prices but no certificates.

Wheat growers who raised oats or rye in 1959-60 or 1964 may want to request an oat-rye base from the ASCS office, says Walrod, since wheat may be allowed on these acres.

Sign-ups made by the October 2 deadline may be revised before the end of the spring wheat sign-up deadline which has not yet been announced.

Meet Planned On Sure-Cures

The food and drug administration and the Oregon Medical association are co-sponsoring a conference on medical and nutritional quackery Monday, October 5. Registration will begin at 8:15 a.m.

The conference, to be held in Portland's Sheraton Motor Inn, features an all day program aimed at educating the public on the dangers of sure-cure nostrums, quack medicine and cultist practitioners.

Dr. Daniel K. Billmeyer, president of the Oregon Medical association, states that although progress has been made toward the elimination of quackery, especially in its cruder more obvious forms, it remains a persistent blight on community and national life. Unsuspecting victims of medical quackery are not only fleeced of the price of the "cure", but, more importantly, as a result of reliance on a false cure are deprived of the benefits of modern medicine. This can become a matter of life and death. And this is why all need to concern themselves with the ways in which communication, health education and law enforcement are relevant to the fight against quackery. Dr. Billmeyer said.

Portland's Mayor Terry Schruk will welcome the conferees, opening the day long session of speeches by experts on the various forms and phases of quackery. Most prominent among those speaking will be Senator Maurine B. Neuberger who will speak on "Helping Our Citizens Fight Quackery."

Deadline Near On Tax Refund

September 30 is the deadline for filing applications for refunds of the federal excise tax on gasoline used on a farm for farming purposes, reminds Don Coin Walrod, county extension agent.

Claims for the 4 cents per gallon refund are for gasoline purchased between the period of July 1, 1963 and June 30, 1964. Special forms are to be used in filing claims. The forms can be obtained at county extension offices or from the district director of the internal revenue service.

Water System Loan Granted

A $105,000 loan to a group of 130 rural families to construct a water system has been approved by the Farmers Home Administration, according to Robert V. Pierce, the agency's state director.

The loan, together with approximately $13,000 contributed by the association members, will allow the McNulty Water association to install 32,000 feet of pipeline, metered service connections for each water user, and fire hydrants located at strategic points. Additional fire hydrants will be installed as needs increase. The water will be purchased from the city of St. Helens.

Approximately 1000 man days of employment will be required to construct the water system; this includes the engineers, operators of construction equipment, surveyors and day laborers. When completed the system will be capable of delivering more than 200,000 gallons of water per day.

The new cooperative water system will serve more than 600 people plus several small businesses. It will replace individual wells which have been deficient in both quantity and quality. Several of the people in this area presently spend more than $10 per month to own and operate individual water treatment plants. The new system will not only eliminate this water treatment cost but will also provide fire protection and economical water for lawn and garden irrigation.

State Director Pierce points out that construction of the new water system will, in addition to providing a safe and adequate water supply to area residents also increase property values and should result in the construction of 20 or more new homes along the water line in the next three years. Pierce stated that this is an outstanding example of rural areas development. "These people applied for a loan only eight short months ago. At that time, they desired to borrow to construct a system which would serve approximately 30 rural families. With the advice and assistance of County Extension Agent Don Walrod working with Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor Victor Madsen and many hours of time donated by the association officials and other area residents, the project has been extended to serve 130 rural families."

The Farmers Home Administration loan is to be repaid over a period of 40 years. Funds for the loan are provided on an insured basis by the First National Bank of Oregon. Officers of the association are: President, Max Lawrence, 631 Cowlitz, St. Helens; vice-president, Louis Serafin, 915 S. Columbia River highway, St. Helens; secretary, Noel Marshall, Route 1, Box 147, Warren; treasurer, Mildred Peterson, 416 Division road, St. Helens; directors, Richard Backlund, Fischer Lane, Warren and Jim Smith, Achilles road, Warren.

Rural water system loans are available to organizations operating on a non-profit basis such as non-profit, corporation, water districts and towns of less than 2,500 population. These loans are made only when adequate credit at reasonable rates and terms is not otherwise available.

In the past five years, the Farmers Home Administration has made some 20 loans to groups of farmers and rural residents of Oregon for a total of $1,760,000.00.

Firearms accidents rank sixth among the major causes of accidental fatalities. Drownings rank fourth. Most such accidents occur when the victim is preparing for or engaging in a recreation activity.

Many things deter progress, but the greatest obstacle has always been prejudice.
