Thoughtless Hunters Destroy Pet Pigeon

TIMBER—The pet pigeon belonging to the B. B. Wright family and a pet of everyone in this community, will not be flying down to ride on anyone's shoulder or into a home to perch on a TV or radio to listen to music any more. It flew down on a car top in front of the tavern the other day, expecting a tidbit or to be petted when two hunters came over and took it of the car and wrung its neck. Many tears were shed by the small fry. These men, strangers, will not be too welcome in this village.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tabor moved their trailer house from the Johnson property to West Timber this last week end.

The Kelleys have been very busy clearing off and burning underbrush recently, making a pasture and room for a small barn for the latest member of their family, a horse.

Frank Celoha, accompanied by Al Tucker, went on a hunting trip for elk last week. No trophies were obtained, however.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alviso and Grant Reed returned Monday from Elgin where they were elk hunting. Mrs. Alviso visited with a cousin she had not seen for 40 years while there. They also visited a brother of Mrs. Alviso's, Berl VanWinkle, who lives near Elgin.

Two Families Herald Grandchild Additions

BIRKENFELD—Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stuve have news of a new grandson born November 9 to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bender of Forest Grove. He has been named Kevin Scott and weighed 9 pounds 10 ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Paul are rejoicing over the arrival of a granddaughter born October 8 to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson (Diane Paul) of Portland. They have named her Summer Diane. Her other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wilson of Clatskanie. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson and little daughter recently spent a few days with her folks here.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Ilstad of Enumclaw, Washington, her daughter and husband and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morris from Portland were here Sunday to visit with the E. T. Johnson family.

Mr. and Mrs. Ephriam Koljones of Seattle spent the week end with Ann Hanberg.

Stock Members Meet at Salem

The 29th annual meeting of the Western Oregon Livestock association is scheduled for the Marion Motor hotel, Salem, on November 19, 20, and 21, association president Myron Harper, Brooks, representing over 1000 affiliated members from county livestock associations, announced this week.

Senator Wayne Morse, featured speaker on Friday afternoon, will discuss the current national livestock situation. At this same session, W. T. Guerts, Oregon Turkey Grower's association manager, and member of the freight rate study committee, will high-light their study progress.

The heavy business of the association is done by a group of six committees who will start functioning at 1:30 p. m. November 19. A no-host dinner is set for the Senator hotel at 6:30 p. m. that evening.

The Friday morning program provides committee reports and a talk on livestock economy featuring Marion Thomas, extension economist at Oregon State University. The annual Banquet is set for the hotel for Friday evening starting at 7:00 p. m.

All members of county livestock associations are members of W.O.A. and are urged to attend the convention. Special activities have been planned for wives attending.

Extension Unit Party Planned

MIST—The Mist - Birkenfeld Extension Unit met at the home of Mrs. Charles Hansen Friday November 13 with 12 members present. Miss Shirley Berg, Miss Anna Hanberg, Mrs. Art Bellingham, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. John Crawford and Mrs. Darrold Barlow were guests. The lesson on creative baking with mixes was given by Mrs. Charles Ramsey and Mrs. Wayne Kyser. The members helped prepare the dishes which were sampled with the potluck luncheon. For the December, Christmas decorations will be made. The meeting will start at Birkenfeld at 10. There will be potluck at noon with the Christmas party afterwards. Mrs. Arby Mills and Mrs. Charles Ramsey will be co-hostesses.

Monday afternoon guests at the home of Mrs. John Crawford were Mrs. Howard Grimsbo, Mrs. Lloyd Garlock, Mrs. Norman Hansen, Mrs. Fred Busch and Mrs. Wayne Kyser. Mrs. Crawford showed the lovely pine decorations she had been making for Christmas.

Mrs. Howard Grimsbo attended the jewelry party Friday evening held at the home of Mrs. Charles Ramsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Darrold Barlow moved into their home in Mist over the last week end. They were married in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hansen and family were in Astoria visiting Sunday.

Plans in Making for Christmas PTA Bazaar

TIMBER—At a coffee clutch held at the home of the PTA president, Mrs. Vern Sponsel, last Wednesday morning, plans were made for a pre-Christmas bazaar December 11 to raise money for treats and a program for the Timber children. These plans were presented at the November 11 PTA meeting. Various committees were announced and their duties outlined. There will be a food table, fancy work, a white elephant table, fish pond, cake walk and a grab bag. Anyone having items usable for these various booths may call Mrs. Sponsel who will have them picked up.

Dinner guests last Sunday at the B. Tallman home were Mr. and Mrs. Everett Drury of Vancouver; Mrs. Edith Riggall of Buxton and Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Tallman of Forest Grove.
