

MR. and MRS. STANLEY C. ELLIOTT JR.

Bride's Father Officiates For Elliot-Smith Wedding

Blending shades of pink and red, accented by the warm glow of candlelight, set the scene for the impressive wedding last Saturday evening, November 28 at the First Christian church at which Miss Deloris Annette Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Sargent, became the bride of Stanley C. Elliott Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Elliott Sr. of Portland.

Baskets of pink and white chrysanthemums and pink tapers in pink candelabra were placed at the altar and pink roses tied with red bows and red roses tied with pink bows marked the pews. Pink and red bows decorated with candle holders in the windows which were filled with pink tapers, and large red bows were at various places around the church. Only candlelight was used during the ceremony.

The impressive double ring ceremony was performed by Robert R. Sargent, father of the bride, who also was soloist for the wedding and sang "At the End of the Rainbow" and "Walk Hand in Hand" before the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" while the couple knelt during the ceremony and "Whither Thou Goest" at the conclusion of the ceremony. He was accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Frank Serafin who also played the prelude, the wedding marches and the postlude.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Ernest A. Stillwell of The Dalles, wore a floor length gown of white paper taffeta made with fitted bodice, long sleeves, scalloped neckline and chapel train. Pearls and sequins decorated the bodice and a star designed crown of sequins and pearls held her blush veil of soft nylon net. She carried a waterfall bouquet of French carnations and red baby rosebuds centered with a white orchid.

Her maid of honor, Miss Shirley Langlois of Vancouver, wore a floor-length gown of pink satin brocade and carried a bouquet of white snow-drift chrysanthemums with red carnations in the center.

Bridesmaids were two of the bride's sisters, Miss Ann Sargent and Miss Peggy Sargent, and Miss Patricia Robertson, all of whom were gowned in floorlength dresses of red satin brocade with which they carried nosegays of the white snow-drift mums. All four attendants wore large bows in their hair which matched their gowns.

Flower girl was Wanda June Humphreys, cousin of the bride from The Dalles, who was dressed in a short dress of pink satin brocade and carried a basket of red carnations and white chrysanthemums.

Ring bearer was Wayne Sargent, brother of the bride, who carried a white satin pillow trimmed with seed pearls and two white bells from which fell lilies of the valley with the matching white gold wedding bands attached.

Candlelighters were Miss Mary Ellen Elliott of Portland, sister of the groom, and Miss Kathi Elliott from Washington, cousin of the groom, who wore short red satin brocade dresses accented with red carnation wristlets and red hair bows.

Best man was Linn Brooks of Portland and groomsmen were Dan Elliott and Brent Redevey of Portland and Marvin Crowston. Ushers were Dennis Sargent, Bob Kirkpatrick, Bill Foster and Murray Savage, all of Portland.

At the reception held in the church social room, a three-tiered wedding cake, iced in white, trimmed with white roses edged with pink and red and topped with two white bells, was cut and served by Miss Karen Baker and Miss Trudy Robertson, both of Portland. Red candle holders with pink tapers accented the refreshment table. Miss Linda Osborn of Portland served coffee and Miss Linda Barry, also of Portland served punch. Pink and red flower arrangements about the room carried out the color scheme.

Miss Glenda Robertson was in charge of the guest book and Miss Donna MacKenzie and Miss Sharon Fieger, both of Portland, cared for the gifts. Instead of groom's cake, guests were given scrolls on which a clever verse thanked them for attending.

For her going away costume, Mrs. Elliott wore a red suit with black accessories and the orchid corsage from her wedding bouquet. Small bags of red rice were tossed at the departing couple.

The bride graduated from Vernonia high school in 1961 and is now employed by the US National bank in Portland. The groom will graduate this month from Portland State College with a major in chemistry. For the month of December, the couple will be at home at 5535 SE 115th Street in Portland.

Among the out-of-town guests were the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Stillwell from The Dalles, her great aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gabels from Walla Walla and Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Pilger and daughter Jane from Forest Grove.

Hogwaller Hop Hilarious Fun

The Future Homemakers of America chapter at Vernonia high school sponsored a Sodie Hawkins dance last Saturday evening, December 5 which proved to be a lot of fun for all who attended.

The affair was a traditional "girl ask boy" event called the "Hogwaller Hop" for which the school gym was decorated in Dogpatch fashion with cardboard shanties, kegs and barrels, pumpkins and an authentic "spoked wheel."

Admission prices were determined by the color of the eyes with blue eyes paying the highest fee and pink or red eyes admitted free. Marryin' Sam was on the job and furnished "authentic" certificates for 10 cents. A photographer, Bob Brinckhoff, was on hand to take pictures of the happy couples, for a small fee.

Dancing ranged from the two-step to the "jerk", so everyone's taste was considered.

Happy Cooks Learn Demonstration Tips

On December 3, the Happy Cooks 4-H club met at the Higginbotham home.

The girls learned about making demonstrations, and that it is important to talk so the people can hear and also to have a partner so she can point out what the demonstrator is doing while she is doing it.

Then the girls went in the kitchen and had their refreshments which were hot chocolate, cookies and coconut candy. They drew names and made plans for a Christmas party.
