Long Distance Savings Given

Annual savings on long distance calls will be boosted to an estimated $150,740 for customers of West Coast Telephone company and its subsidiary, Beaver State Telephone, with the filing of new toll tariffs on January 11, a company official announced this week.

According to L. E. Cross, West Coast's Oregon division manager, the new toll rate change filed with the public utility commissioner correspond to those changes announced earlier by the federal communications commission for interstate calls, and are scheduled to become effective February 1. Included in the savings, Cross said, will be approximately $13,700 in excise taxes which are still applicable to long distance telephone calls. The savings estimate is based on the number of calls placed by telephone customers in the past; however, savings could be larger if calling volume is increased.

The lower rates will apply only to calls placed on a station-to-station basis and not on person-to-person messages. Of particular interest are proposed changes in time periods when the lower rates apply.

The special night rate, a maximum of $1 for a three-minute station-to-station call to any point in the 48 adjacent states, will begin at 8 p.m., instead of 9 p.m., as it now does and will also apply all day on Sunday. A lower evening rate will go into effect between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. week days, as well as all day on Saturday. The regular day rate, applicable on calls made between 4:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., Monday through Friday, will not change.

Long distance savings as a result of the time changes will be supplemented by actual cost reductions on certain classes of intrastate and interstate messages.

As an example of the effect of the reductions, Cross said that under existing rates a three-minute call on Sunday from Beaverton to Los Angeles costs $1.20. After February 1, that same call will cost 75 cents.

Maps Available For Eight Cities

New street maps for eight Oregon cities are now available through the Oregon state highway department, according to Forrest Cooper, state highway engineer.

The cities are Clatskanie, Cornelius, Mt. Angel, Newport, Phoenix, Salem, Sheridan and Vernonia. Because of its size, Salem required 13 map sheets, while the other seven cities required only one map sheet each. The new Salem maps include the areas which were annexed to the city in 1964.

These maps are drawn to the scale of 800 feet to the inch and are plotted on 17x19-inch sheets. This size costs 25 cents per map sheet. A reduced-size map uses a scale of 1,600 feet to the inch on an 8-1/2x11-inch sheet. The smaller size costs 10 cents per map sheet.

The map for Salem, for example, would cost $1.30 for the small size and $3.25 for the large. The maps for the other seven cities will cost 10 cents each for the small size and 25 cents for the larger one.

The maps include markings for post offices, schools, railroad stations, city halls, courthouses, and libraries. Streets are marked as open for travel or dedicated but not open. The maps were prepared in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads.

Persons wishing these maps may purchase them by writing to the Map Distribution Unit, Room 313, State Highway Building, Salem, Oregon 97310. Checks should be made payable to the Oregon State Highway Department.

Deaths Drop in Two Counties

Despite the state's record-breaking toll of 576 traffic fatalities, Columbia and Tillamook counties actually suffered fewer traffic deaths than in 1963. Clatsop county traffic deaths, however, surpassed the 1963 total.

Ten people died in Columbia county mishaps during 1964 compared to 11 in 1963. Oregon Highway 30 was the scene of nine of these deaths.

Tillamook county experienced six traffic fatalities as compared to nine during 1963.

Ten people died in Clatsop county in 1964 highway accidents or two more than were killed during 1963. Multnomah county recorded the most traffic deaths with 85; then followed Lane county with 53; Washington county, 40; Douglas, 34; Linn, 30 and Klamath, 25.

QUESTION: My husband and I are receiving social security. Recently, our street number was changed. Is it really necessary to change our address with the Social Security Administration? The postman knows where we live.

ANSWER: Your present postman may know your address, but a new postman may look for you at the address on your check. He might send your check back to the Treasury Department for remailing if he does not find you at that address, which could cause a delay in the delivery of your check. You also risk the possibility of having your check lost or stolen. Therefore, you really should notify the Social Security Administration of your change of address.

QUESTION: I have been in the service since 1951. My statement of earnings from Baltimore shows no credits prior to January 1957. Why didn't I get credit for the first six years of my service career?

ANSWER: Service in the armed forces was not covered by social security until January 1957. However, if you were on active duty on and after December 31, 1956, you receive "free" credits of $160 a month for any service from 1951 through 1956. Check with the social security office for further information.

QUESTION: You often suggest to your inquirers that they get in touch with the social security office before retiring. I'm still not too clear on the advantage of doing this. Would you explain again, please?

ANSWER: The most important reason for calling early at the social security office is to obtain definite information about what you can expect from social security. This information will have a bearing on your planning—that is: when you retire—at 62, at 65 or later; also, what steps you might take in advance to assure yourself of a more adequate income—such as the purchase of annuities or arranging for a part-time job, completion of time payments while still working, etc. Also, if you are about to retire, you may make application for social security benefits as much as three months ahead of time, so your checks will start promptly.

QUESTION: My husband is disabled, and he and I and our 15-year-old daughter are receiving social security disability insurance checks. My husband and I are moving to Arizona for his health, but our daughter will remain with my sister who will be caring for her until she graduates from high school in three years. How will this affect our benefits?

ANSWER: If you are under 62, you yourself may receive benefits only for the months in which your daughter is in your care. If you plan to be away from your daughter for three years, she would not generally be considered to be in your care. We suggest that you notify your social security office just before you leave for Arizona. Your checks will stop but your daughter (and, of course, your husband) will continue to receive benefits. Your daughter's checks may go to your sister, since she will be caring for the girl.

Car Strikes Parked Truck

Arthur Johnson of 214 N. 2nd street, St. Helens, received a cut lip when his car struck a parked Crown Zellerbach truck in Scappoose about 5:40 p.m. Monday.

The accident occurred when Johnson, who was on his way home from work in Portland, fell asleep at the wheel and his car ran into the truck which was parked on the east side of the highway.

No damage to the truck was reported but the Johnson car was damaged and had to be towed away. Patrolman Dave Novak investigated the accident. No citation was issued.
