

Extension Service Men Talk at Pomona on Phases of Agriculture

The regular session of Columbia County Pomona Grange was held at the Fern Hill Grange hall Saturday, February 6, with a large attendance. Pomona Master Wes Kimble, called the meeting to order at 11:30 a.m. for reports by committee chairmen.

Agriculture Chairman Hazel Smith called on Don Coin Walrod, Tom Zinn and Robert Stevely from the county extension service to talk on various phases of Agriculture.

Zinn announced a workshop to be held in St. Helens at the McBride school February 16 for instruction in new practices regarding gardening, spraying, etc. Warning was given regarding using salt to remove ice from walks, since the salt will wash off into surrounding borders and injure plant life.

A 4-H scholarship to summer school was voted as usual.

A discussion of the proposed new fairgrounds was held, and it was thought that a granger should be on the committee to select the site. Also, there was considerable discussion regarding the courthouse problem.

The Grange history now being prepared by the Grange historian in conjunction with the subordinate Granges was reported well under way. Most of the Granges have sent in material. This tells much of the development of the county for the past 60 years. 500 copies are being printed and will be sold for $1.00 per copy to finance the project. All Granges are asked to canvas their membership to learn how many copies are needed.

The Past Masters had ready for distribution the 1965 Register, listing the program and schedule for all the Granges of the county. They also have a contest for the year to encourage attendance at Pomona, giving prizes for the largest percentage of attendance of officers and members.

Eveyn Hudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Tarbell of Warren, told of her experiences in Germany where she had spent the past year. Other lecturer's numbers consisted of music, singing and skits.

Two candidates were obligated in the fifth degree.

Pomona meets next with Winema Grange at Birkenfeld on May 1.
