CARD OF THANKS

I WISH to thank all the people who sent me cards, letters and flowers and those who called on me while I was in the hospital and since I came to my son's home. Also, my special thanks to the organizations for their prayers and kind deeds in my behalf. The nice sweater and fruit basket that came to me in the hospital were especially appreciated. Your kindnesses have all helped so much.

Everybody benefits

when Rural Electrics give life to democracy

Democracy, like people, gains strength from exercise. When Americans engage in political debate and vote in free elections, they breathe the new life and vitality into the democratic process.

America's rural electric systems provide a continuing example of how democracy flourishes in one sector of the electric power industry. Each year in hundreds of meetings all over the country the members of these cooperatives and other consumer-owned systems meet to review... to discuss... to debate and to cast their votes.

Each member has one vote, in accordance with cooperative tradition and democratic principles. These member-consumers have the final say in the policies and direction of these business enterprises.

Rural electrics were created in the democratic tradition by the people they serve to bring light and power to rural America. And they are keeping pace with continually growing power requirements with the help of Rural Electrification Administration loans which are repaid with interest.

Working with their government to meet the nation's needs, rural electrics also give life to democracy... and everybody benefits.
