TOPICS OF THE TOWN

Dick Frank arrived home December 18 from the Ft. Meade army base for Christmas with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Elgus Frank. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Frank and family from Bay City and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Frank and family from Cornelius were all here for a family gathering Christmas eve. Dick is leaving today, Thursday, to return to the Maryland base and will then leave for his overseas assignment in Ethiopia. Only member of the family absent from the Christmas eve gathering was their grandson Paul who is in the Shrine hospital. They called on him Monday and found him recuperating from his eighth surgery, four of which have been during this stay in the hospital. The surgeries are to correct a hip malformation. Dick Frank and his grandmother, Mrs. Zoe Salomonsen, called on Paul Tuesday.

Rites Held for Grover Blount

Funeral services were held Monday at 10 a.m. in the Hillsboro chapel of the Fuiten/Friesen Mortuary for Grover C. Blount, 80-year old resident of Hillsboro since the late 1940s. He passed away at Tuality hospital Wednesday of last week following an illness of the past two years. His former pastor, the Rev Russel Wood, now at the West Linn Baptist church, officiated.

Grover Cleveland Blount was born April 15, 1885 in Arkansas. He spent all of his earlier life in the Arkansas and Louisiana areas until coming to Oregon more than 20 years ago.

He farmed before coming west. However, here he was employed in the sawmill business until he retired. He had made his home in Vernonia for sometime but lived in Hillsboro for the most part and of late has lived at 1520 S. E. Alder street. He has been a member of the Hillsboro First Baptist church since living there.

Surviving is the widow, the former Lena Bergeron to whom he was married in Hillsboro on November 8, 1952.

Also surviving is one sister, Mrs. Rhoda McDonald of Fresno, California; three nephews, Albert of Tillamook, Lester Blount, Hillsboro and Joel D. Blount of Crescent City, California; and five nieces, Mrs. William Chadwick, Los Angeles, Mrs. Ed Landsem and Mrs. George Pagh of Portland and Mrs. Kenneth Anderson, Beaverton.

Illness Claims Hazel B. Ayers

Funeral services were held Monday at 11 a.m. at Finley's Rose Chapel in Portland for Mrs. Hazel B. Ayers who succumbed last week to an extended illness which had caused her to be hospitalized for some time.

She is survived by her husband, Harvey T. Ayers; and two sons, Rollin and Robert Van Zee.

For several years, Mr. and Mrs. Ayers operated Hazel's Secondhand Store in the building on Bridge street now occupied by Waineta's Ceramics. They sold the business early in the summer but continued to live here on Madison avenue.

Christmas day dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobbie of Portland and Mr. and Mrs. Arby Mills. Mr. and Mrs. Hobbie were guests Friday through Sunday. Bernard Dowling visited with the Sundlands Sunday evening.

Robert Grimso is home for the Christmas holidays and will be here until the middle of January. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ramsey and family joined the family for Christmas day.

Let's Get Acquainted!

Do you know this woman?
Born December 23, 1900 at Beloit, Kansas.

Married in 1919 at Grand Island, Nebraska. Came to Vernonia in 1927. Had five children, four living, and a number of grandchildren. After being widowed for several years she changed her name again in 1953.

For many years she kept plugging away at the numbers game. She retired, but the habit was too strong so she returned to the old routine.

Has retired now for a second time. Belongs to lodge and club groups in which she has been active through the years.

Grandmother Visits During Vacation Week

MIST—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mathews and Marian spent Christmas eve at the Sulo Sanders home in Westport. Christmas morning they visited the homes of George, Robert, Virginia, Stanley and Martin Mathews for their annual exchange of Christmas greetings and gifts. They then went to Hillsboro for the Condit family Christmas dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Clark. Mrs. Ida Condit accompanied them home so she could visit with her granddaughter Marian for a few days. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sulo Sanders, Dale, Rosemary, Donna and Leslie Sanders, Rick Darby of Portland and Gary Bomquart of Los Angeles, Calif. Rick and Gary are former Graceland College students.

The Mist - Birkenfeld Carolers were out in Mist and surrounding areas Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dowling of Vancouver are spending a few days in Mist.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Shetler called on the John Crawfords Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Hemeon visited the Crawfords Friday. Harry Reynolds was also a caller Friday.

Behind every successful man is a woman, and generally she is about two steps ahead of him.

Uses Told for Pomegranates

At this time of the year pomegranates, latin for "apple with many seeds," are seen on fruit counters. They are about the size of apples, ripen as early as September and are on the market for a long time, according to Columbia County Extension Agent Mrs. Margaret Allyn. They have a smooth, leathery rind, and range in color from brownish yellow to brilliant red.

The edible portions of the pomegranates are the beautiful bright red seeds. Pull the skin back and use a nut pick to pick out the seeds. Wrap the rest tightly in moisture-vapor-proof wrap and store in the refrigerator. Take care when peeling and removing seeds from pomegranates. The juices can stain both fingers and clothing.

The red seeds (grils) are used in salads and cocktails—use them to make a tasty waldorf salad even more attractive, suggests Mrs. Allyn. While grapefruit is in season, you might like to try arranging sections in petal fashion for a salad, and sprinkle with pomegranate seeds.

The juice of the pomegranate is prized for making cool beverages. Grenadine, indispensable in flavoring some drinks, is made from pomegranate juice. You can press the juice from the seeds and use it in gelatin desserts, icing for cakes, fruit punches, and pudding sauces.

A pomegranate cocktail could add sparkle to a holiday dinner. To make this boil the seeds of a large pomegranate with two slices of lemon in three cups of water for about 15 minutes until the water has absorbed the color and flavor of the fruit. Add 1/2 cup sugar and cook 5 minutes longer. Strain through a double thickness of washed cheesecloth. Add 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Chill. This will serve six.

Although the pomegranate is a native of Persia, California grows them commercially. When buying a pomegranate look for a thin, tough rind free of cracks, and a fresh-looking crown that is tightly closed so that you see no seeds.
