

MR. and MRS. JAMES BROOKS

Brooks-Sargent Vows Given In Christian Church Rites

Miss Jean Sargent, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Robert Sargent, became the bride of James Brooks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Brooks of Portland on January 14 at the First Christian church.

The church was decorated with baskets of white stock, white gladioli and light blue mums. Large blue dahlias tied with white bows were on each pew. The three candles in each window were centered by lilies of the valley tied with dark blue bows.

The double ring ceremony was read by the bride's father, Rev. Robert Sargent, who also was soloist. He sang the Wedding Prayer before the ceremony, accompanied by the organist, Mrs. Frank Serafin; The Lord's Prayer while the couple knelt at the altar during the ceremony and Walk Hand in Hand at the conclusion of the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her grandfather, Ernest Stillwell of The Dalles, wore a floor length gown of white paper taffeta made with fitted bodice, long sleeves and scalloped neckline. Applique roses embroidered with seed pearls and sequins decorated the bodice, front panel of the bell-shaped skirt and were repeated on the chapel train.

Her shoulder-length tulle veil fell from a crown of pearls. She carried a cascade of white rose buds and carnations arranged around a large white orchid. She wore a pearl necklace belonging to the groom's mother.

Her matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Stanley Elliott of Corvallis, who wore a dark blue brocade satin floor length gown. Bridesmaids were two other sisters, Peggy and Ann Sargent who wore light blue brocade satin floor length gowns. They each carried nosegays of white roses and carnations with blue ribbons.

The flower girls were cousins, June Stillwell of Tillamook and Wanda Humphries of The Dalles, who were dressed in light blue and dark blue floor length dresses matching the matron of honor and bridesmaids. They each carried baskets of white flowers.

Each attendant wore a necklace, a gift of the bride, including the candle lighters, Betty Armstrong and Martha Bush who were gowned in light blue velvet. They each wore a soft veil attached to a bow of the same material as their dresses.

Best man was Stanley Elliot Terry Brooks, brother of the groom and Percy Wood were groomsmen. David Serafin and Dennis Sargent, brother of the bride acted as ushers. Steven Sargent, brother of the bride, was ring bearer. He was dressed in a dark blue velvet suit and carried a heart-shaped satin pillow.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the social hall of the church which was decorated in light and dark blue, and white. The wedding cake was served by Miss Mary Ellen Elliott of Portland. Mrs. Lee Stillwell, aunt of the bride and Mrs. Earl King served coffee and punch.

In charge of gifts were the bride's brother, Wayne Sargent and her grandmother, Mrs. Ernest Stillwell of The Dalles.

The bride's going away dress was of blue trimmed in green with black patent accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Among out-of-town guests were Mrs. Haidee Brooks, the groom's grandmother from Portland and Lee Stillwell of Tillamook, uncle of the bride.

The new Mr. and Mrs. James Brooks will be living in Portland where he works for Coast Sales Book Co.

O.E.S. Chapter Invites Guests

Nehalem Chapter No. 153, O.E.S. was doubly honored Wednesday evening by having as guests its worthy grand matron, Lillian P. Davis, Vernonia, and worthy grand patron, Paul Sorensen, Pendleton, as well as a member of the grievance committee, Grand Chapter, Lester Langdon, and a group of other members from St. Helens.

This night had been designated as birthday night, and all members were honored and presented with gifts by the worthy matron, Dorris West and worthy patron, Wilbur A. Davis.

A beautiful birthday cake made by Florence Messing was served with ice cream and coffee by the refreshment committee. The tables were effectively decorated with birthday cards for placecards and attractive gifts. Emma Bush, associate matron, is chairman of the refreshment committees this year.

The worthy matron has designated the next meeting, February 2, as Hi Neighbors night. Members from Columbia and Clatsop county chapters are invited to join with Nehalem chapter for an old fashioned get-together.

of Edward Salomonsen, a member of the lodge who passed away at a Portland hospital December 21, 1965.

The installation ceremonies were very effectively and efficiently carried out by the installing staff and very much appreciated by the members of the lodge.

Following the seating of the new officers, the regular business was concluded and refreshments were served by the social committee of the Rebekahs, Mary Markham, president, assisted by Marie Atkins, vice president; Jackie Atkins, Zoe Salomonsen, Beulah Hall and Catherine Lentz. The men greatly appreciated this gesture and they hope the ladies will favor them again soon.

The noble grand expressed his desire that the members of this lodge make a valiant attempt to join him in the fellowship of the lodge regardless of how old they
