

Unit Is Given Safety Lesson

The Vernonia Extension Unit met February 17 for its lesson on the Costs of Higher Education and Training.

Marian Cassel, safety chairman, presented a very interesting report, with pamphlets for all, and a checklist of safety habits. Everyone enjoyed the test and some decided their scores indicated a few changes around the house.

The next meeting, to be held on March 17, promises to be great fun. Everyone is to bring her sewing machine and all of its cleaning accessories and some extra scraps of material. The lesson is to be The Use and Care of Your Sewing Machine and the leader training meeting was hilarious.

History Group Holds Meeting

Attendance at the Columbia County Historical Society on Wednesday, February 23 included members and guests from out of the county as well as from the county. Attending from Portland were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Burris, Mrs. Cora Eames, Sosia Howlett, Jessie Latham and Grace Hiatt. Those from West Linn were Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith and Margaret Hudson, and from Forest Grove, Mr. and Mrs. F. Anliker and Mrs. Frieda Rice.

After the bountiful noon meal the meeting was called to order and Mack Ballard of St. Helens talked on insurance. He told of his recent visit to the museum where he was pleased with the many exhibits.

Plans are made for another historical booklet this year, with material to be in the hands of the secretary by May 1. Those having material suitable for the booklet should not delay. A good sale of the other issues is being made.

Mrs. Ervin Abraham of Rainier talked on her experiences in gathering material. She also took some of the booklets to sell at Rainier. Wm. Wood and Mrs. Lydia Erickson have books to sell in Clatskanie and Quincy area.

A discussion was held about a road which was formerly built from Reuben to Nehalem valley. This evidently did not last long.

The Oregon scenery post cards were on sale and were taken to the museum by Mrs. Grace Miller, curator. A child's rocking chair 117 years old has been received from Mr. and Mrs. A. U. Tannler to place in the museum.

Zone 1 River Angling Ends

Oregon anglers are reminded by the game commission that lower Columbia River tributaries in Zone 1 and several Nehalem River tributaries will close to angling at the end of February and will remain closed until May 21.

Columbia tributaries affected by the closure include Bear Creek, Beaver Creek, Big Creek, Clatskanie River, Gnat Creek, Klaskanine North and South Forks, and the Lewis and Clark River. Nehalem River tributaries affected by the February 28 closure include the Nehalem North Fork, Cook Creek, Rock Creek, and the Salmonberry River.

Other streams in Zone 1 along the coast will continue to be open to steelhead angling through March 31. Anglers are urged to check the angling synopsis for streams which remain open through the March period.

4-H Activities

Four-H club members in Columbia county will be participating in 4-H demonstration training meetings. All demonstration meetings will start at 7:30 p.m. Following is the schedule

March 3, Petersen grade school, Scappoose; March 7, multi-purpose room, high school, Clatskanie; March 8, West Oregon Electric, Vernonia; March 10, Rainier elementary school, Rainier; March 11, Columbia City Community hall, St. Helens area.

All club members are urged to attend this meeting. Even those boys and girls who do not demonstrate will gain many ideas and suggestions from observing other club members. Parents are also urged to attend. Those club members who have been successful demonstrations will testify to the fact that this is a family activity and club members need support and assistance from their parents.

County Extension Agents Margaret Allyn and Robert H. Stevely will be in attendance to give aid and assistance in the demonstration training.
