February Toll Low; 25 Killed

Oregon's February highway death toll of 25 was the lowest February total recorded since 1955, according to the Department of Motor Vehicles. That year, 24 people were killed in February traffic accidents.

Of the 25 people killed in February, ten were between the ages of 17 and 30, the age group that shows consistently more fatalities than any other. Four were between 51 and 70, and the remaining three were 70 or older.

The department further said that 14 of the traffic deaths occurred in rural areas, while only eight of the fatalities reported were in urban areas.

Figures for the month of February showed that pedestrian deaths were down from the January total of 8. Three of the 25 people killed in February were pedestrians.

Forest Highway Program Given

As a result of conferences between the Bureau of Public Roads, the U. S. Forest Service, and the Oregon State Highway Department the highway commission has approved a forest highway program for the state which makes use of 1967 fiscal year funds.

The program involves four projects and is expected to cost approximately $3,478,000. This figure includes survey, design, and contingency funds.

One project involves an additional section of the Cascade Lakes highway which extends the work southerly of the Crane Prairie Reservoir area. This section is not on the state highway system but is of vital concern to the forest service and to the central Oregon counties. It will extend four miles and cost about $450,000. It has been highway policy to keep a continuing project on this route insofar as funds will permit.

A second project will extend the modernization of the Lake of the Woods highway easterly of the lake to the foot of the hill. The contrast between the newly completed section and this old section is so great that some accidents have occurred. Klamath county has also asked that the project be approved. It will cover 3.7 miles and cost approximately $1,200,000.

The third project will modernize the Mt. Hood Loop highway from Warm Springs junction easterly to the White River area. The existing road is extremely narrow, contains tortuous alignment and is in need of improvement. It is five miles long and will cost approximately $1,200,000.

The fourth project, on the Pendleton-John Day highway, contemplates an asphaltic concrete wearing surface on a job that was completed by the Bureau of Public Roads last year. The present job contains only a light oil surface, which will not stand up under existing traffic for more than a short time. It extends 3.85 miles and will cost approximately $200,000.

Tests Delayed By Power Use

Due to heavy demand for electric power during the last few days, the Portland U. S. Army Engineer district Wednesday announced it had cancelled peaking tests at The Dalles and Bonneville Dams which had been scheduled for Thursday and Friday of this week.

Colonel William J. Talbott, Portland district engineer, said that sufficient information had been obtained from the tests conducted Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday so that cancellation of the peaking tests on Thursday and Friday will not affect the end result.

There will be no change in the test schedule for next week, however, which will cause fluctuations in the Bonneville pool and downstream from Bonneville Dam.

Cancellation of the remainder of the tests scheduled for this week came about when the demand for electric power required use of water ponded at McNary Dam which would have been used for the peaking studies.

It's what you are that counts—not what people think you are.

Committees for Drive Selected

Volunteer committee leaders for various phases of the Easter Seal campaign have been announced by Mrs. Ed Ross, chairman of the appeal in Columbia county.

This committee will spearhead the appeal for crippled children sponsored by the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults which began March 1 and will continue through Easter Sunday, April 10.

Mrs. Ross named Mrs. Larry Kneeland as chairman of publicity; Mrs. Milt Ames, special events; St. Helens Junior Womens club, mail campaign; Henry Rio and county Rainbow Girls, coin containers, and Elmer Jensen, treasurer.

The Lily sale will be conducted by the Rainbow Girls under the direction of their mother advisors, Mrs. Donald Anicker, Seapooze; Mrs. Fred Giepel, Rainier; Mrs. George Van, Clatskanie and Mrs. Louise Hammett, Vernonia.

The Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults is an Easter Seal affiliate of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults, which has 1,426 affiliates throughout the nation. Easter Seal societies in every state, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico, fight crippling throughout a coordinated program of direct treatment and education.

Date Set for Game Hearing

Phil Schneider, state game director, advised hunters that the annual hearing to establish big game regulations for the 1966 seasons will be held in the Portland office of the game commission on May 12 and 26. The meeting is scheduled to convene at 10 a.m.

Proposals for the taking of all big game animals including elk, deer, and antelope will be considered by the commission at the public hearing. Staff recommendations for the fall hunts will also be presented to the commission. Following the meeting on May 12, the commission will establish tentative regulations which will be provided to all news media of the state.

The commission will reconvene the meeting on May 26, at which time the final regulations will be adopted. Any changes to the tentative rules will be made at the May 26 hearing and will become final for the 1966 seasons.

Schneider invited all interested persons to attend both sessions
