CARD OF THANKS

I WISH to express my appreciation to the many friends who remembered me with cards, plants, visits and other kindnesses while I was in the hospital and since I've been home. They have helped more than words can express.
Harry Emmons 111c

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation for all the kindness and expressions of sympathy extended us during our recent sorrow. For the cards, flowers, calls and many other thoughtful acts we are indeed grateful. A special thanks is extended to the St. Mary's Altar Society for the dinner and to those who served, Mrs. Richard Huntman and Mrs. Joe Dennis. Also, to others who sent dishes. All were greatly appreciated. Our sincere thanks to everyone.

THIS IS Architect John Storrs' sketch of the $1½ million forestry center that will provide exhibit space for forest products from Oregon, Washington, California and Idaho. Center will be built by Western Forestry

Center, Inc., a non-profit organization headed by industry leaders from the four states. The center will be located in Portland. A four-state campaign for funds will be underway in the near future.

C-Z Road Lighting Improved To Give Public Added Safety

A program to further increase public safety at intersections of Crown-Zellerbach's Columbia Forest Road with public highways has been undertaken by the company.

Already installed is a larger red light where the Forest Road crosses the Columbia River Highway (U.S. 30) at Scappoose. Eight-inch diameter red lights facing motorists on the public highway have been replaced with 12-inch diameter surfaces.

In addition, the company has increased to two the number of flashing amber lights on signs warning motorists they are approaching the intersection. Additional lights will also illuminate the warning signs at night.

The Forest Road, completed by CZ in 1964 to relieve log truck travel on public roads, runs from the headquarters of the company's E. P. Stamm Tree Farm at Pittsburg, to its log boom at Scappoose.

This spring the company will install traffic lights at the two crossings of the Forest Road with the Scappoose-Vernonia highway. One of these is at Spitzenberg and the second just east of the Pittsburg junction.

Both of these lights will have 12-inch diameter red lights facing traffic on the public road.

Lights at all three of the intersections will be green to motorists on the public road except when a vehicle approaches on the Forest Road.

FFA Delegates Attend Confab

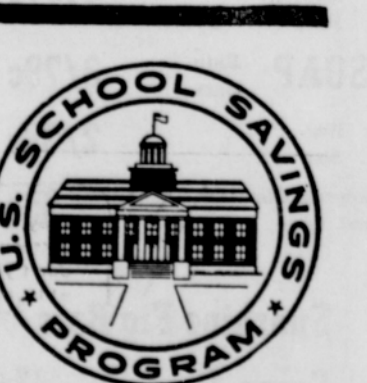

Future Farmers of America opened their 1966 Oregon convention in Bend Wednesday with more than 600 boys from 94 local chapters from high schools throughout the state in attendance. Among these are Dean Stockwell, Randy Holce and Steven Poetter, members of the Vernonia high school chapter, accompanied by their vo-ag teacher, William Bowen.

Taking part in the convention is Larry Craig, national FFA vice-president and former FFA president in Idaho. He was a student at the University of Idaho when elected to the national office. Craig lives in Midvale, Idaho.

Two delegates from each Oregon's local chapters make up the voting body to conduct convention business.

Delegates and visitors will be guests at a steak fry this evening, Thursday, at the Rimrock Riders' headquarters, a ranch just north of Bend.

Highlight of the Friday night program will be the presentation of awards and the installation of new officers. A Prineville man, Charles Peterson, is to receive a distinguished service award.

Forest Products Center Planned

A $1½ million center for the exhibition of forest products from Idaho, Oregon, Washington and California will be built in Portland, hopefully within 12 months.

Architect John Storrs has been given the go-ahead on plans and a preliminary sketch of the exterior has already been submitted.

Directors of Western Forestry Center, Inc., a non-profit corporation, have selected a three-acre site in Portland's tree-studded west hills near the Oregon Museum of Science and Industry and the Zoological Gardens.

The three-acre site belongs to the City of Portland and would eliminate three holes of the Hoyt park pitch and putt golf course, a municipally owned operation. If the city fathers approve the site, the three holes would be relocated on adjacent property.

Western Forestry Center, Inc., listing prominent industry representatives from the four states on its board of directors, was formed after fire destroyed the old Forestry building, known as the largest log cabin in the world, in August 1964. The old structure was built during the Lewis and Clark world's fair in Portland in the early 1900's.

Charles W. Fox of Portland, president of Cascades Plywood for many years, is president of the non-profit corporation, which will seek funds for the new center in a four-state campaign.

The building will be constructed of modern forest products including lumber, plywood, hardboard, laminated timbers etc.

Approximately 45,000 feet of exhibit space will be available, plus a 300-seat auditorium and an area for changing exhibits. A small admission charge will make it possible for the center to be self-supporting.

OMSI Auction Items Wanted

Henry Anderegg, chairman for local participation in the Columbia county OMSI fund raising auction to be held March 26 at the fair grounds at Deer Island, stated early this week that letters are being sent this week to all businesses in this area asking for donations of items to be sold. He plans to pick items up here prior to March 24 and take them to the fair grounds March 25.

All money derived from the auction will go to the construction of an agricultural wing for OMSI. Similar fund raising auctions are being held in other counties throughout the state, also.

Anderegg stated that all donations to the auction are tax deductible. He has special blanks which will be filled out and given to each contributor to use for tax purposes. Persons who wish to give cash instead of merchandise are asked to make checks payable to OMSI.

While letters are being sent only to businesses, contributions from individuals are desired, also. They can be new or used items. Antique articles have good sales value. Items of small value or large value are all welcome. Those with items to be picked up may call Anderegg, or other members of the local committee, Wm. Rundle or Cecil Huff.

Many a man who has carved out his future begins to cut out his own best friends.
