Forest Service Totals Exports

A total of 289.4 million board feet of softwood logs, Scribner scale, was exported from all ownerships in Washington, Oregon, northern California, and Alaska in October 1972, according to Research Economist David Darr of the U.S. Forest Service, Pacific Northwest Forest and Range Experiment Station in Portland. The volume for October was up 26.2 percent from the September 1972 total and well above the October 1971 volume of 161.2 million board feet.

Japan was the destination of 261.6 million board feet or 90.4 percent of the October 1972 west coast exports.
Washington and Oregon exported 267.7 million board feet in October, up 21.5 percent from the September volume. October shipments from northern California totaled 15.7 million board feet, up sharply from the September volume of 3.8 million board feet. Alaska exported a total of 6.1 million board feet in October, an increase of 14.1 percent from September shipments.

Douglas-fir accounted for 27.5 percent of October exports, and Port-Orford-cedar, 0.7 percent.
Other softwoods, primarily western hemlock and true firs, made up the remaining 71.8 percent.

October shipments had a total value of $41 million at port of exportation and an average value of $141.55 per thousand board feet.
Douglas-fir averaged $141.05 per thousand board feet, Port-Orfordcedar $432.23, and other softwoods $138.99.

West coast softwood log exports totaled 2.3 billion board feet through the first 10 months of 1972, compared with 1.4 billion board feet for the same period of 1971. The relatively low volume in 1971 reflected in part labor disputes which affected west coast ports in Washington, Oregon and California in the third quarter of 1971.

CAUTION—if you use mistletoe in the house. The leaves and berries are toxic if eaten. If your child is in the "creeping-taste everything" stage, you may want to discard the romance of the mistletoe for this year. Otherwise use good sense in where and how you display it.

The Irish potato originated in Peru, the name potato being a corruption of the Indian name ba-tatas.
