Trip to Minnesota by Justin Folkens Noted

May 15, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Folkens traveled as far as Clarkston, Washington where they spent the night with a former Vernonia resident, Mrs. Lois Thayer. The next day they visited friends in Lewiston, Idaho.

After stopping at Dickinson, North Dakota to visit with Justin's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Burgan, they arrived at Wendell, Minnesota, where they stayed with Mrs. Elmer Bergerson, Mr. Folkens' sister and family.

Due to the death of a cousin, the family gathered and they were able to visit with people they wouldn't have seen otherwise.

Minnesota had a hurricane the day before they left for home and they passed where the storm made its path.

On their way home, they stopped in Salt Lake City to visit their granddaughter, Mrs. Jim Gross, and her sister, Julie Culbertson, who is visiting while Mr. Gross is in Navy Officers School in Norfolk, Va.

Center Opened At Clatskanie

Open house was held at the Lower Columbia Activity Center, May 24, with 31 attending to learn of the new adult handicap program being offered by the Columbia Association for Retarded Children in the Clatskanie, Rainier area.

The center is located in the Clatskanie Church of the Nazarene on Hwy. 30, four miles from the city center, and is the second to be opened and sponsored by CARC. The first was in St. Helens, and has been in operation since October, 1972. The centers are open to handicapped adults 17 years of age and older to provide training in self-help, basic education and leisure, recreational time.

One of the first training programs offered at the Lower Columbia Center is the landscaping of the church grounds. The clients will do the work as a part of the beautification of the church grounds.

Swimming will be offered in the Clatskanie pool for the clients and a camping trip is being planned for the summer.

Hostesses for the open house were Marge Coalman and Helen Kieger, instructors for the Clatskanie Center.

The cake and coffee, served to the guests, was prepared by the clients of the center.

To apply for registration in either center, write C.A.R.C., P.O. Box 181, St. Helens, OR 97051.

Pioneer History of Mist Told at Meet

Chapter BS of the PEO Sisterhood met May 8 at the home of Mrs. J.W. Nichols.

A very interesting program was given by Mrs. William Bridgers. She talked about her pioneer home near Mist and had many pictures, letters and cards in an old scrapbook to show.

Mrs. Darold Proehl was hostess for the May 22 meeting. Each member read a poem, or some special thing, she had enjoyed.

The beach picnic has been planned for Friday, June 22, weather permitting. Seniors attending are to meet at the center at 10 a.m. and are to take a basket of lunch. Anyone who would like to go along should contact the center at 429-3912.

Fred Dusek is back home again after being in the hospital for five weeks to have surgery on his hips. The next social-potluck will be held Friday, June 15, 12:30 p.m. All members are welcome.

Hayride Gives 'Understanding'

With a little bit of yesterday, today, there's a new hope for tomorrow. After going through the forest at Clint's Tree Farm on an old hay wagon pulled by two beautiful black Percheron horses, a new understanding is felt.

From the towering grand fir to the delicate yellow buttercups were some of the things enjoyed by a group of 40 children and three adults who traveled down the trails and across the river last Wednesday.

This was one of two groups taken out on hayrides, with the proceeds of nearly $90 turned over to the American Cancer Society. During the trips, the children were told the history of the farm, the trees and the plants, the wood duck that dove-bombed the hawk because he was setting on the tree her nest was in, and the Bald Eagle who seemed to listen.

Riding the haywagon, listening to the stories, running down the path to see where the old mare, "Queenie," had all her foals.

Then, to have a wiener roast and skipping rocks across the creek, ended the day for the groups of tired kids.
