VERNONIA WAS dark Monday night when businessmen and merchants complied with Governor McCall's order that all unnecessary lighting be curtailed.

Governor's Office Issues Order On Energy

Since the issuance of Governor Tom McCall's executive order prohibiting the use of electric lighting for display and decorative purposes, the cooperation of Oregonians has been exemplary, according to officials in the Governor's office.

However there have been a few who have not yet complied, partly out of misunderstanding or lack of knowledge of the order, it was felt. Therefore a copy of the official order is printed below for the benefit of the public.

A tollfree number is available for those wishing more information. The number is 1 - 800 - 452 - 0340.

The executive order is as follows:
EXECUTIVE ORDER NO.: EO-73-7
CURTAILMENT OF DISPLAY LIGHTING DURING ENERGY EMERGENCY

Executive Order No. EO - 73 - 5 declared an energy emergency in the State of Oregon. The people of Oregon were requested to respond affirmatively and voluntarily to this crisis. The current patterns of voluntary energy conservation have been encouraging, but the voluntary reduction in energy use is not by itself sufficient to avoid abrupt and widespread interruptions of electrical power which would seriously impair the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of the State of Oregon if further substantial savings of energy are not effected. Executive Order No. EO - 73 - 5 is hereby incorporated in this Order by reference.

An emergency affecting the interests and general welfare of the state exists within and throughout the entire State of Oregon. The life and property of the citizens of Oregon as well as the general economic conditions are jeopardized and endangered by the existing and imminent energy shortage.

IT IS HEREBY ORDERED AND DIRECTED that no person shall cause or permit display lighting. Display lighting is the use of artificial light for decorative purposes, or to direct attention to the providers of goods or services, or to illuminate or direct attention to:

a) Signs advertising goods or services or the providers of goods or services;

b) Displays of goods;
c) Objects or designs symbolic of commercial enterprises such as trademarks; or
d) Buildings or landscaping.

However, where light is ordinarily used for purposes in addition to display lighting, display lighting includes only that use of light not reasonably necessary to accomplish the other purposes. Display lighting does not include the use of light necessary to identify the location of essential governmental services (e.g., fire and police), or health and communications services.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED AND DIRECTED that this Executive Order is effective from the date of its signing until rescinded by further Executive Order.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto subscribed my name and caused to be affixed the great seal of the State of Oregon. Done at Gledened Beach, Oregon, this 23rd day of September, 1973.

Highway Division Asks Local Officials To Help

Fred Klaboe, state highway engineer and administrator of the Highway Division asked local government officials in Clackamas, Columbia, Multnomah and Washington Counties September 21 for assistance in selecting highway projects to receive financing as part of a $150 million bond program authorized during the last legislative session.

In a meeting held at the CRAG Building, 6400 SW Canyon Court, Portland, Klaboe said that the Highway Division was anxious to receive local help in determining the best use of the $26,535,000 allocated to the state's 2nd administrative district. The 2nd administrative district includes Clackamas, Multnomah and Washington Counties.

Klaboe advised local officials that, "While the newly created Transportation Commission must by law bear final responsibility in the decision-making, the commission believes local assistance assures the best possible project selection."

He also expressed hope that expected cooperation between all units of local government will go a long way in strengthening the role of the regionally oriented administrative districts.

Local officials should have no difficulty identifying enough highway improvement projects in the area to make use of the $26.5 million local share. Klaboe noted that the Highway Division has a ready back-log of $500 million in critical needs identified on the state highway system.

"The $150 million will make only a small dent," Klaboe said, "but it will be a welcome shot-in-the-arm."

He noted that Oregon road-users are well aware of a number of critical deficiencies in the state highway system and have every right to expect that this money will be used wisely to improve driving safety and efficiency.

Klaboe also requested local governments to incorporate meaningful citizen participation techniques in identifying their highway projects and priorities. He expressed hope that local officials will be creative in providing for full participation by all citizens and interest groups.

He pointed out that local citizen advisory committees, well-publicized town hall meetings, and the availability of technical staff to aid citizens can be productive mechanisms for obtaining citizen input.

The highway administrator's visit to Portland is another in the series that he is making to the 14 administrative districts during the months of August and September to discuss highway planning under the bond program.
