DEQ Requires Burn Permits

Backyard burning is scheduled for Portland-Vancouver-Longview residents from October 26 through November 25.

Permits are required and are available at local fire departments in four Oregon counties: Multnomah, Clackamas, Washington, Columbia.

Washington's Clark and Cowitz County residents should inquire at local fire departments to find out whether permits are necessary.

The limited burning period for yard and garden clippings and clean wood is being implemented by the Department of Environmental Quality, Portland, and the Southwest Air Pollution Control Authority, Vancouver.

Public Service Announcements on local radio stations beginning at approximately 8 a.m. on the last Friday in October through the last Sunday in November will confirm whether burning conditions are acceptable on any given day.

Witnesses

The public talk and Watchtower study at the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses here in Vernonia will be cancelled for this Sunday, October 21. The Witness from this area will be joining several thousand others from the greater Portland area in a special gathering at the Memorial Coliseum for a color slide program about the Holy Lands.

Sunday's program will begin with a review of an article from the September 15 issue of the Watchtower, "What Kind of Training Do Children Need?", from 10 to 10:30 a.m. This will be followed by an hour and fifteen minute slide program on the theme, "Bible Lands Speak To Strengthen Our Faith." The first part of the program will show many locations of Bible events in ancient Israel and will aid all in attendance to develop a greater appreciation of the events they read about in the Bible. A second part of the slide program, after a short intermission, will illustrate how the news about Christ spread throughout the ancient world, and how that ministry is also being carried out today.

All who would like to be in attendance at this special program will be most welcome. The local congregation's regular meeting schedule will resume as usual next week.
