Board of Commissioners

(Memorandum Minutes)

The Columbia County Board of Commissioners met in scheduled session with Chairman Fred Foshaug presiding, Commissioner Minkoff and secretary Gloria Salvey (deputy clerk) present. Commissioner Ahlborn was absent from the state.

Commissioner Minkoff moved and Commissioner Foshaug seconded the minutes of the meeting of October 10 be approved. Motion carried.

Miscellaneous claims were approved. Keith Thompson, Roadmaster, met with the board to discuss various road department matters. He presented a list of expenditures and encumbrances by purchase order of items from Revenue Sharing Funds.

Thompson indicated it would cost about $6,000 for pipe, plus approximately $3,000 for fill and rock, to replace the Link Road bridge No. 047 which crosses Goble Creek, and which recently collapsed. Thompson showed photos of the bridge collapse and the rotted timbers.

Commissioner Minkoff moved and Commissioner Foshaug seconded the bid for various vehicles opened October 10 be awarded to Jordan Motors. Motion carried. Thompson indicated he would meet with Jordan's representatives to prepare the necessary purchase orders, and to reduce by one half-ton pickup the total amount of vehicles because lack of availability of club cab, which necessitated order from another dealer.

Purchase Order No. 2569 was approved, to Olson & Johnson Shell, for diesel purchased outside the contract price, for a total of $749.16.

Thompson presented Sam Hollinger's resignation, effective October 9, and advised he would be calling for a new list and advertising for a replacement. He also reported he has been interviewing people for the Road Maintenance Man 3 Position.

Thompson reported he had not yet received a copy of a vehicle accident report involving one of the health department personnel.

At 11 a.m. a hearing was held by the board on an appeal by William Darm from a decision of the Planning Commission pertaining to approval for the creating of a street or road to allow property to be partitioned. Present were: Darm, Warren Deras, his attorney; Ronald Reeves, Planning Director; Keith Thompson, Road Engineer; Jack Minkoff, Fred Foshaug, and Gloria Salvey.

After explaining briefly the procedures to be used during the hearing, Foshaug requested Reeves to explain the events leading to and including action taken by the Planning Commission. Reeves explained that Darm had purchased some 60 acres in Section 12, T4N, R5W, of Columbia County in 1969 and had subsequently partitioned the subject property into 13 parcels of approximately 5 acres, and had created a street or road to allow access to the aforementioned parcels of land.

On October 1, 1971, Darm had written the Planning Commission requesting approval of the road creation. On October 28, 1971, the Planning Commission answered Darm's letter, stating they had ruled the road was not in compliance with local regulation pertaining to creation of such roads. Although Darm continued to correspond with the Planning Commission, approval of his road creation was never granted, until on August 6, 1973, at a meeting with the Planning Commission, the commission established a list of requirements to be met by Darm prior to granting the requested approval. Two of the requirements pertained to the improvement of an existing county access road from the Nehalem River Highway to the road created by Darm.

Darm was of the opinion that although ten requirements were made, the requirements made for improvement of the county access road is unreasonable. Darm indicated that if he were required to improve the portion of Art Kirk Road (the aforementioned access road) the cost would be prohibitive, and he would have to abandon further thought of additional property sales.

Darm indicated he recognized the need for an improved access road to accommodate the additional traffic generated by the partitioning of his property, and that he would be willing to obtain an additional 40 feet right of way along the west side of Art Kirk Road from the Nehalem Highway to the northern boundary of his development, and that he also would be willing to participate up to 40 percent in the cost of improving the portion of said road from the Nehalem Highway to the road he is creating to allow the partitioning of his property,

Many 4-H Programs Offer New And Revised Materials

New and revised materials for both 4-H members and leaders are available this year in several 4-H home economics programs, reports Robert H. Stevely, Columbia County extension agent.

The list includes two completely revised projects - Create Your Home Environment and Bachelor Clothing - as well as the addition of new or revised materials in other areas, Stevely explains.

Formerly called "enjoy your home," the new "Create Your Home Environment" project was developed by Mrs. Dorothy Brown, Oregon State University extension home furnishings specialist, and encourages 4-H members "to create what they need or want" to improve the environment around them in the home.

Activities in the project are largely determined by the 4-H leader and members planning together and may include re-furnishing furniture, decoupage or completely redecorating a room, points out Lois Redman, OSU extension 4-H and youth specialist.

Project materials give ideas for many different activities, including ideas for making and using inexpensive articles for the home, and suggestions for programs for sharing ideas with others and to increase consumer awareness through visits to furnishing or appliance stores.

and is also willing to dedicate these to the county for road purposes.

After discussion, the board agreed to discuss the matter with legal counsel and to notify Darm of their decision as soon as possible.

Dick Dunets, COGO coordinator, met with the board to discuss the MSD solid waste study, phase two. After review of the proposals, Commissioner Minkoff moved and Commissioner Foshaug seconded to proceed with participation in the second phase, on Alternative 1, which limits solid waste disposal to the Santosh site only, and to approve CRAG's application for further funding. Motion carried.

Commissioner Minkoff moved and Commissioner Foshaug seconded to approve the bond of Phyllis R. Bushe, justice of the peace, Vernonia. Motion carried.

Ron Reeves met with the board to advise of several vacancies on the CRAG committees. Commissioner Minkoff moved and Commissioner Foshaug seconded Ron Reeves and Ron Eshelby to be appointed to the Area Development Committee, and Ron Eshelby to be appointed to the Public Works Committee. Motion carried.

Harry Franklin met with the board to register complaint and request dismissal of Ronald Eshelby, building inspector. He made several derogatory remarks and allegations, after which he was advised that because suit against Franklin is now pending in Circuit Court on alleged violation of the building code ordinance, the board would make no comment about either Eshelby or Franklin's remarks about him.

Mrs. Miller met with the Board to report the VD clinic is now complete and ready for operation, and requested permission for the clinic to be open on Monday evenings from 6:30 to 8 p.m. so it would be available to workers and students. The board approved this request, and asked Mrs. Miller to notify the news media and the schools prior to the actual starting date, of the date the clinic would open and the hours of operation.

Mrs. Miller also indicated she was not receiving responses from School District 502 on forms for immunization of school children, as required by recent legislation.

An offer of $800 was received from Vivian Schimmel for Lots 21 and 22, Block 119, City of St. Helens. Commissioner Minkoff moved and Commissioner Foshaug seconded the offer be accepted. Motion carried.

Mr. McMichael met with the board to discuss recent legislation relating to fees charged for the service, and effect it would have on his mileage rates for constable services.

Dick Dunets met again with the board in response to an inquiry as to why DEQ had authorized Santosh Disposal site permission to take tires, when it has not done the same for Mickey's Landfill. He explained the Santosh operators had agreed to DEQ requirements that tires be hand-ricked, whereas Mickey had not, because of increased labor costs.

Jeri Johnson, accountant, met with the board to advise that to date the Road department expenditures have totaled in excess of $178,000, and that they were running short of available funds. She also questioned whether Thompson had made any effort to start the sale of Bancroft bonds for the Viewcrest street improvement project.

Commissioner Minkoff agreed to inquire of Thompson about the Bancroft bond situation.
