The People Speak . . .

It has come to the attention of the Camp Wilkerson Advisory Committee that Stuart B. Johnson has resigned his position at the Columbia County Park Commission.
For three years Stuart has been involved in the rebuilding of that facility and has been one of the most instrumental persons in lending his most able advice, his personal equipment, his valuable time and many materials to the completion of the lodge project.
Mr. Stuart has often expressed his concern about the youth of the County and the importance of offering a camp facility such as Wilkerson as one alternative to activities of youth which are of a negative nature.
The Advisory Committee feels it speaks for all the citizens and particularly the youth of the county in expressing a sincere thanks to Stuart and wish him well in his expanding business and the family obligations which necessitate his resignation.
Sincerely,
The Camp Wilkerson Advisory Committee

Group Attends Style Show Energy Crisis Week Ended By Assembly

Three members of the staff of the Cut and Curl Room in Vernonia, attended a hair style showing at the Thunderbird Motel at Jantzen Beach Monday, December 3.
Mary Ann Ceballos, Carol Barker and Juanita Morford, owner of the beauty salon, enjoyed two films on sculpture cutting and blow dry styling, presented by Paul Mitchell, then watched actual demonstrations of the technique by hair style artist Richard Hensen. Included in the show was the first-time viewing of the hair styling artistry used on a male model.
Sculpture cutting - to the shape of the head - then blow drying eliminates the hardship of nightly pinups as the hair is cut to fall into place with only the occasional use of electric curlers or a pin curl or two for a touch of curl.
The show was presented by Clairol Inc. who also treated the group to a showing of the latest hair coloring techniques which feature blending hair color instead of tinting it one solid color.
