MUST BRAND BUTTER SAYS COMMISSIONER

The Journal has been requested by the Oregon dairy and food commissioner to publish the following:

"The statutes regulating the manufacture and sale of butter provide for the branding of creamery butter, but not for the branding of dairy butter except that each roll or square must be plainly marked 16 ounces full weight or 32 ounces full weight. We find some dairy butter that is not so marked and we also find some that is short weight.

"We would be glad to hold the manufacturer responsible for the misbranding and also for the short weight, but in the absence of any name and address on the butter so as to positively identify the manufacturer we cannot do so. The following ruling is therefore made:

"All dairy butter offered or exposed for sale will be considered misbranded if it does not have plainly marked on each roll or square the words, 'Dairy Butter,' '16 ounces full weight,' or '32 ounces full weight,' and the name and address of the manufacturer. Any person offering or exposing for sale dairy butter not branded in compliance with this ruling will be prosecuted under the statutes providing for the branding of food products. Signed, D. MICKLE, Oregon Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Little Doubt But High Line Will Be Built Thinks Mr. Kingman

A. G. Kingman, from Owyhee, in Vale on jury duty, states that everything is prosperous in his section. They have 22 families now on 2500 acres, somewhat over 100 acres to the family, which will be reduced as others come in.

"We organize and formulate a policy as to what we shall plant," says Mr. Kingman, "and all stand firmly by this policy. We have planted only two kinds of apples, Jonathans and Winesaps. Each owner has planted from eight to 15 acres of prunes, and we intend building a dryer and being ready to care for our crop, either by shipping fresh or drying, as the market may demand.

"There is but little doubt in my mind," continued Mr. Kingman, "but that the Owyhee high line pumping plant will be put in, which will add very much to the value of taxable property in Malheur county, and furnish homes for many families.—Malheur Enterprise.
