

Oregon
June 23
August 1, 1917
to Regular Family and Room at dress
REGISTRAR,
Oregon, Eugene
Insurance
nes, Orchard
City Property comply al Estate
1 Co.
YSSA, OREGON
north ilities for s and busi
nce are en
HONEY
Telephone
ber Co
&
aterial
ch Room
tall
Y Props
HISKEY

L. E. Wilson, Malheur County Agent For

OVERLAND CARS

Anyone contemplating buying a car should interview the satisfied owners of Overland cars. More Overland cars are in use than cars of any other make. Call and have the machine demonstrated.

I also run a Livery and carry a stock of repairs for Overland cars.

L. E. Wilson, Nyssa, Oregon

FIVE MILES

OF COOLING BREEZE

For less than one cent is a hot weather bargain that you can't afford to lose, especially when you have it right in your home or office by simply moving the starting switch of an

Electric Fan

Let us advise you on an investment that will keep you cool all summer.

IDAHO - OREGON LIGHT & POWER COMPANY

PAYETTE, IDAHO
Phone 263

The Nyssa Livery

FEED AND SALE STABLE

WILMER & PILKENTON, Props.

FIRST-CLASS TURNOUTS

CAREFUL DRIVERS

ALSO SADDLE HORSES

Good Avenue

Nyssa, Oregon

OPENINGS FOR

Hotel, General Store, Blacksmith Shop, Livery Stable, Harness Shop, Lumber and Coal Yard, Etc.

ADRIAN OREGON

On the Minidoka & Southwestern Railroad

FOR INFORMATION, ADDRESS

REUBEN McCREARY
RIVERVIEW, OR.

WHY HE USED THE BAD WORD

Little Matt Explained That the Two Pigs He Was Driving Got His Goat.

Matt Perkins, engine driver on the New York Central, thought his little farm, out near Peekskill, wouldn't be complete without pigs. So he bought a couple and had them sent out, much to the dismay of Willie, his oldest boy, who tearfully protested that the family would be disgraced if their acquaintances found they kept pigs.

But the father was obdurate, and assigned to Matt, Jr., his six-year-old and youngest hopeful, the task of caring for the pigs. This has proved a hard task, and little Matt has been having his troubles during the hot weather.

One day the pigs, being pigs, roamed far afield. Mattie, rounding them up, drove them past the veranda, where his mother happened to be. Mattie was talking to the pigs in no uncertain terms, and it must be confessed he used a word which he really should not. Where he got it no one knows.

The mother promptly called him to task, and Mattie, having penned in the pigs, returned, hot and red of face, to the veranda.

"Mattie," said his mother, sternly, "I shall have to punish you. I heard you say a naughty word."

"Well, I guess I did," was the lad's penitent rejoinder, "but you see, mamma, them pigs jest got my goat."

—New York Herald.

Scientific Farming.

As an example of scientific farming, a farmer out in Colorado harvested 200 bushels of grasshoppers in the summer, dried them and kept a big lot of chickens on them through the winter.

No Destination Barred.

Here is a sign posted in front of the office of a transfer company in one of the Oranges: "Baggage Called for and Delivered to All Parts of the Known World."—New York Press.

Protected Against Poison.

Mithridates, great ruler of Pontus, gradually hardened himself against every known poison by taking tiny doses; that no poison could catch him napping.

They Will.

"Don't eat when you are tired," is the latest health ultimatum, notwithstanding which most folks will continue to eat when their day's work is through.

Fitting Procedure.

If you want money, go to strangers; if you want advice, go to friends; if you want nothing, go to relations.—Lippincott's.

Twin Ecstasies.

Life has two ecstatic moments; one when the spirit catches sight of truth, the other when it recognizes a kindred spirit.—J. C. Hare.

Prospects Good For East Side

Senator Borah Hopeful That Appropriation Will Be Made and Black Canyon Project Taken Up.

Good news has been received this week by those who are keeping in touch with developments relative to the Black Canyon project. J. M. Thompson of Caldwell, attorney for the district, is diligent continually, watching every movement that bespeaks encouragement for the project. He is bending every effort to promote the government taking up the project and he is keeping in close touch with Senator Borah relative to the $30,000,000 appropriation.

During the past week Mr. Thompson received a letter from Senator Borah that gives more encouragement than usual. The senator is very hopeful now that the appropriation will be made and he is also confident that the Black Canyon project will be taken up under the appropriation.

Many people here know Will R. King of Malheur county, Oregon, formerly supreme judge in Oregon and recently appointed by President Wilson as chief counsel in the reclamation service. Judge King is a typical westerner, born and raised in this section, particularly in Malheur county, Oregon. He is heartily in sympathy with people who are striving to develop the great empire of the Northwest.

Senator Borah has arranged to meet Judge King here about the middle of this month and together they will make an investigation of the Black Canyon project.

This, of course, augurs good for the project, for all are sure that the project will stand the most searching investigation, and it would indicate, too, that these men feel sure of the appropriation for the reclamation fund from which the Black Canyon project is to be financed.

It has been learned that the government has been conducting a careful investigation of the power facilities at Arrow Rock with data on the plans for a pumping plant on the Payette river for the Black Canyon project. This is no small matter and four months work has already been put in on it. The problems of power required, transmission lines, and the evolution of power at Arrow Rock, all make it a big question, but its feasibility is unquestioned.

The impounding of water at Payette lakes and its delivery to the pumping station on the river is a simple problem and it is generally recognized by those in touch with the situation that the plan is the most practical of any yet considered.

In all the prospect at this time for the Black Canyon is unusually bright.—Middleton Herald.

How to Destroy Gophers.

A Minnesota farmer has a method of killing pocket gophers which he says will exterminate the pests. It is simple and inexpensive. It is evident that early spring is the best time to use it. He says:

"We were troubled greatly last year with gophers. Early in the spring I made a hole in their runs with a broom handle. Into this I dropped a raisin, having first replaced the seeds with sulphate of strychnine. One or two applications rid the whole place of the pest and there has been but one recurrence, and a single dose fixed this also."

I wish to rent my place, 14 acres irrigated land. See me at once, if you want a good offer.—R. J. Davis

COMMUNICATED.

Classify school directors.

Why (?) does any divinity hedge city treasurers, city attorneys and city councillors.

Another saloon license could be granted and the cash received placed in a sprinkling fund.

Did the Beaver River Power Co. want a 12-cent maximum so they could charge nine cents?

City funds could be a source of income were the banks required to pay interest on daily balances.

The city might start a loan office with the unused fund on hand, salaried residents having first chance.

Regarding saloon licenses, if two is good why not three or more? Why the monopoly. Five cent beer might be reached by a little competition and the city cash in the banks increased.

FARMERS GET $80 AN ACRE FOR POPCORN

Through the Davidson Grocery Co. of Boise the popcorn raisers of Roswell shipped Tuesday to Salt Lake one carload, 44,000 pounds, of popcorn. The popcorn was disposed of at $4.10 per hundred, f. o. b. Parma, netting the growers $80 an acre. Popcorn growing is now a specialty in the Roswell district, prices obtained, ready market and quality invariably produced, making popcorn a crop worthy of consideration in the seeding of the land.

Chas. Paine, W. H. Robinson and G. H. Bush were principals interested in the car shipped from Parma Tuesday, and are planting for the coming year a venture apiece in the money making staple. Mr. Paine will have five acres, Mr. Robinson seven and Mr. Brush 20.—Parma Review.

Isn't It the Truth?

When asked at Ontario what method was used by the Northern Pacific to induce settlers to locate along those lines, Louis Hill said, "we tell them the exact truth." Perhaps that is the reason Mr. Hill didn't visit the Parma section. We don't dare to tell prospective settlers all the truth about this section. They would put us down in the Munchausen class before the first half of the first inning was more than half over. Easterners simply can't understand our immense resources and the fertility of our soils, and the only thing we can do is to tell only a part of it, induce them to come here, and let the rest soak into their systems.—Herald.

Enterprising Farmers.

If you wish to see a fine illustration of intensive farming just go out and look at Messrs. Chedley and McKibben's ten acre tracts. They each several years since bought a ten acre tract from W. J. Gibson, and now they have ideal homes. A man recently tried to get Mr. Chedley to price his place. Mr. Chedley, however, was afraid to price it, lest the man would take him at his offer. Intensive farming is the kind that pays. This whole country might be cut up into small tracts and thousands of families could then have homes and be able to make independent livings on the small tracts.

Inevitable.

"Dey ain't no use talkin' to a woman," said Charcoal Eph as he emerged from a dispute with Mrs. Charcoal. "She done bound t' git y' wid weepin' ar hammah yo' wid a fatiron, bulleve me! Han' me de hoss liniment, Mis'ah Jackson!"—Baltimore Sun.

Greatness.

"Some men are born great, some achieve greatness and some have greatness thrust upon them."—Shakespeare.

"Yes, and some appear to become great by merely parading on the slightest provocation," said Dubba.

Fatal Result of Accident at Caldwell

A. E. Lewis, a Recent Arrival, Dies From Fatal Gunshot Wound—Was Alone When Injured.

Caldwell.—A most frightful accident occurred near this city Saturday evening resulting in the death of A. E. Lewis, who by some accident received the full charge of a shotgun across his face while the gun was slanting under his right arm. He was at his farm home three miles east of town and Mrs. Lewis was in town doing her Saturday shopping. When Mrs. Lewis returned home at 6 o'clock in the evening she found her husband on the floor in a most critical condition, horribly mangled by the gunshot.

The discharge had ranged up evidently from under the right arm and the shot had torn at the fleshy part under the armpit, severing an artery. It tore away the front of the face, including the mouth and nose. When found he was alive a wonderfully vital under such awful conditions. He was times semi-conscious and insisted on walking to the automobile that was hurried to the house to bring him to the hospital. Dr. W. H. Johnson had been summoned and he did everything possible to save the man's life. At the hospital an anesthetic was administered and the effort to save the unfortunate man's life was carried forward with encouragement. It was found necessary to amputate the right arm, but owing to so much loss of blood all efforts came to naught and he died about 10 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis came here from Dayton, Ind., about two months ago and purchased the 40-acre farm on which they were living.

The High Line.

Nyssa, June 11.—Editor Journal.—Sixty dollars per acre means $9600 for one hundred and sixty acres. Two dollars maintenance fee and $3.60 interest on the $60 per acre at 6 per cent means just $5.60 per acre per annum, or $836 yearly on 160 acres. Where is the farmer who could afford to pay such a price?

As we see it, the thing to do is to get some company to take part of the land in payment for water, so that present owners would not saddle a mortgage that would extend down the ages to their grand children's great grand children.

Why not let the district build the canal and save 50 per cent of the costs? Why could the district not sell the bonds and have the work done? SAMBO.

Stock wanted to pasture on Bridge Island, $1.00 per head per month. R. R. Clark, alt7f

CHALLENGE PRESSING PARLORS

Cleaning
Pressing
Repairing

John Long

Proprietor,
At Davidson's Barber Shop