Esther and Alice Spier, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. L. Spier, of the clothing store, returned this week from a pleasant visit at Murphy, Idaho. Mrs. Vinnie Jessee, at whose home they visited, came with them and remained two days visiting the Spiers.

Scott and His Secretary.

Sir Walter Scott's amanuensis and much esteemed friend, Willy Laidlaw, often found it difficult to keep up with the rapidity of his dictation, though on one occasion, having to wait for a second or two, he said: "Come, get on," and was answered: "Oh, ay, it is very easy for you, Willy, to say 'Get on,' but you forget I have every word to spin out of my brain."—T. P.'s Weekly, London.

United States Fruits Abroad.

Europe is the principal customer for all exported fruits from this country except oranges, lemons and raisins. Germany takes about one-half of the dried apples and the United Kingdom a like proportion of the green apples exported. Nearly one-half of the strawberries went last year to France, Germany and the Netherlands, while the United Kingdom alone took one-third of the total.

His Compliment.

The young lady of the family had just returned from Paris, where she had studied under Marchesi, and Uncle Wash, who had served her folks "sence befoh de wah," was invited into the parlor to hear her sing. When she concluded her first aria he remarked: "Miss Lucy, yo' sho equalizes a martingale."

Had Told the Truth.

"Is the master of the house in?" inquired the smooth tongued book agent of the little boy who answered his ring. "Nope," said the boy. "Little boys should not tell falsehoods," said the book agent. "Isn't that your father reading the newspaper there by the window?" "Yep," was the answer; "that's pa, all right, but ma is out."

Spread of Gipsy Moth by Wind.

Experiments conducted by the United States Bureau of Entomology prove that the newly-hatched caterpillars of the gipsy moth may be blown, under favorable conditions, a distance of six miles or more. Thus the wind is an important factor in the spread of this destructive pest.

The Neighbors.

"I suppose you won't keep this new housemaid more than a week, either," said the spiteful neighbor. "Indeed, I'll not," replied the other spiteful one. "She's lied to me already. She told me she came from a highly-respectable family, and I understand she's been working for you."

Youth's Cruelty.

Youth is a graceful thing of high-sounding words and impetuous thoughts, but, like many other graceful things, it can be very hard and very cruel.—"The Witness for the Defense," by A. E. W. Mason.

Height of Meanness.

Jinks—He settled $1,000,000 on the count and the cuss won't even play poker with him, so's he can get a little back.—New York Globe.

* Armored Vessel of 1530.

Armored vessels of war had an earlier origin than is generally supposed. The Knights of St. John of Jerusalem built in 1530 a war galley, the Santa Anna, which was protected with a cuirass of lead, to its great advantage in sea fights. The Santa Anna had another modern feature; a contemporary chronicler narrates with pleased astonishment that the vessel carried a bakery, which permitted the crew to enjoy the luxury of fresh bread.

None Perfect.

The other day an amusing thing happened at the boarding house where I eat. One of the female boarders, who has an awful appetite, took two pieces of cake at once when the dish was passed to her. Then she flashed her most winning smile on the waiter and said: "I suppose I am a perfect pig?" He did not laugh. But he came back at her with the quiet answer: "None of us is perfect."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Made Them Even.

Hogan and Murphy were on their way to work early one morning, when Hogan, being a few yards in front of Murphy, stooped down and picked up a dollar. "Sure," said Murphy, "that's my dollar ye have found." Hogan stood amazed, saying as he gave Murphy the coin, "Thin that squares up the dollar I owe ye."

Daily Thought.

As the flowers carry dewdrops, trembling on the edge of the petals, and ready to fall at the first waft of wind or brush of wing of bird, so the heart should carry its beads of words of thanksgiving, and at the first breath of heavenly favor let down the shower perfumed with the heart's gratitude.—Beecher.

Our Work.

We must do our human work in a conscientious and immaculate manner, independently from whether we hope to become angels some time in the future or believe that we used to be mollusks some time in the past.—John Ruskin.

New and Perfect World.

To put knowledge in the place of ignorance, happiness in the place of misery, justice in the place of wrong, love in the place of hate, harmony in the place of jargon—is not this to create a new world?—Charles G. Ames.

Fruit.

Mr. Peach, before leaving town on a business trip, instructed his wife's nurse to apprise him of the arrival of the stork. She obliged with the following telegram: "Mrs. Peach has a pair."—Judge.

Somewhat Personal Humor.

He paused to look in a window, and, feeling warm, raised his hat and brushed his head. It was a bald head. The humor of the street urchin cropped out at the act. A bootblack, who stood beside him, touched him on the arm: "Shine, sir?" he asked.

Quite.

"Was your husband cool when you told him there was a burglar in the house?" asked Mrs. Hammer. "Cool," replied Mrs. Gabb. "I should say he was cool. Why, his teeth chattered."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Drug on the Market.

Generally speaking, he who would be a popular entertainer should cut out lectures. Women do not care for them, and married men get more than they need right at home.—Chicago News.

Only Poisonous Bird.

There is only one species of bird known whose bite is poisonous, the Rpr N'Doob or "bird of death," of New Guinea. Loss of sight, convulsions and lockjaw are symptoms which follow rapidly after the bite.

Papal Consistory.

In a consistory the pope and cardinals are seated in a circle. At the pope's right hand sits the senior cardinal bishop, beyond whom are the others of that order, according to seniority. After the last cardinal bishop comes the senior cardinal priest, and so on through that order. Finally, after the last cardinal priest comes not the senior but the junior cardinal deacon, and so on in reverse order, finishing with the senior deacon at the left hand of the pope.

Almost Too Much.

A wealthy Jew on his vacation was fond of horseback riding. He had been riding a fine horse, and decided to buy it, if he could make arrangements to have it kept on the hotel grounds. He spoke to the manager, who smiled and named a ridiculously high rate. "Excuse me," said the son of Abraham, with a twinkle in his eyes, "but I don't mind if you sting me for my board—I'm a Jew—but the horse ain't a Jew, too, is it?"—San Francisco Argonaut.

Chill Poor Country for Stock.

Stock raising in Chili does not seem to be keeping pace with the general development of the country, owing to the fact that better use can be made of the land, since beef cattle can be brought from Argentina cheaply. Then the ravages of tuberculosis, carbuncles, fever, etc., and the large number of deaths during droughts in unirrigated sections of the country tend to make the business unprofitable.

Duty.

The sphere of duty is infinite. It exists in every station of life. We have it not in our choice to be rich or poor, to be happy or unhappy; but it becomes us to do the duty that everywhere surrounds us. Obedience to duty, at all costs and risks, is the very essence of the highest civilized life. Great deeds must be worked for, hoped for, died for, now as in the past.—Selected.

Avoid Fretting.

The moment I fret about a thing I am its slave instead of its master. And there is no slave-master in the world like worry. Another master may grudge the dinner hour, but he must give you time for sleep. Another master may grudge the dinner hour, but some time you must eat. But worry will work you twenty-four hours a day and spoil your appetite into the bargain.—Mark Guy Pearse.

The Thing He Likes.

About the only time the average man feels any real importance is when on an occasional day off he leaves his $20-a-month flat and permits a solicitous and gentlemanly real estate agent to drive him 50 miles around the country in an automobile to show him 18 or 20 $10,000 houses, none of which he has the slightest intention of buying.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

To Shell Pecans.

The meats of pecan nuts may easily be removed if they are first placed in a pan and boiling water poured over them, says the Western Christian Advocate. Allow them to remain in the water for 20 or 30 minutes. When the nuts are cracked the meats come out without trouble and are usually whole.

Look for the Beautiful.

Never lose an opportunity of seeing anything beautiful. Welcome it in every fair face, every fair sky, every fair flower, and thank him for it who is the fountain of all loveliness and drink it simply and earnestly with all your eyes; it is a charmed draft, a cup of blessing.—Kingsley.

Daily Thought.

Prejudices are most difficult to eradicate from the heart whose soil has never been loosened or fertilized by education. They grow there firm as weeds among stones.—Charlotte Bronte.

English as She Spoke.

"Have you anything that will cure corns?" asked the customer in the drug store. "What seems to be the matter with your corns?" asked the polite clerk, who was something of a purist.—New York Times.

Pictorial Farming.

Photographers and engravers have made farming very fascinating. With the right periodicals before him a fellow can spend a very delightful evening in agricultural pursuits.—Toledo Blade.

Looking for an Opening.

An Irishman walked into a hotel and noticed two men fighting at the far end of the room. Leaning over the bar, he earnestly inquired of the bartender: "Is that a private fight or can any one get into it?"—Life.

Nature's Discrimination.

Scientific tests have shown that in occupations employing the larger muscles women tire more rapidly than men, while in work in which smaller muscles are used they are more efficient.

Query.

"The pen is mightier than the sword." "Then can the fellow with the fountain pen be said to be carrying concealed weapons?"

Truth.

Truth is as impossible to be spotted by any outward touch as the sunbeam.
