Nailing a lie won't always keep it down.

The best way to get rich quick is to go slow.

Congress can't expect to raise revenue by taxing our patience.

Every time a Turkish soldier falls, about 110 women have to put on crepe.

Those Russians seem to fight better on the road than on the home grounds.

Our notion of a wise Mexican father is one who brings up his son to be a surgeon or an undertaker.

It must be a great relief for once for the girls to pop the question without having to question pop.

Let's put a stop to this peace talk. Charlie Chaplin says he intends to play Hamlet when the war ends.

Senator La Follette is not standing back for any leap year demonstrations from the 1916 nomination.

Russia is getting back at the Turks for those atrocities. Grand Duke Nickolas has ordered his prisoners to bathe.

It is unpleasant to lose old friends, but after this year's experience the public should never trust another ground hog.

It might encourage a citizenry trained to look on the practical side to be told that the Swiss government insures its citizen soldiers against eventualities of sickness, accident and death.

In signing the warrant that promoted Brig. Gen. Scott to be Maj. Gen. Hugh Scott, Secretary of war Hugh Scott performed an act that the entire nation approves.

That drop in the price of mules is likely to be temporary. The Standard Oil company is using horses again to pull its oil wagons because of the high cost of gasoline.

Another mildly humorous feature of the situation is the New York editors sitting around in dazed horror because Hon. Josephus Daniels does not resign, although they explicitly requested him to.

Nobody seems to have thought of providing our missionaries who are urging the African savages to get civilized and wear clothes with a few photographs of the latest Palm Beach model bathing suits.

Nobody has ever accused the Swiss of militarism, yet that smallest of the world's recognizable republics has a much larger army than has the largest of republics.

Armor plate manufacturers who threatened the government show an atrophied sense of humor.

"The British army is not attacking yet," London explains. We seem to have noticed it.

News From Gooding College Campaign

At a recent meeting of Gooding College Trustees some very important matters were inaugurated.

The campaign is on in good earnest, and the District Superintendents and preachers have as their purpose and program to make the campaign for Gooding College the all important and supreme item in church work for the next four or five weeks, or until success crowns this enterprise.

The time limit was set forward from April 11 to April 13, as Dr. Hancher, assistant secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal church, wired that he would give two days of extra service to assist in closing up the campaign. The trustees congratulated themselves and Gooding friends on some expert assistance rendered by Dr. E. H. Todd, of the College of Puget Sound, who gave 10 days valued service. They have, for thirty days, the assistance of Wm. M. Dudley, vice president of Simpson College, Indianola, Iowa, who is an expert in such campaigns, having closed a campaign for his own college December 21, 1915, for $200,000, with a good margin. Dr. Dudley will preach on Sundays at important points, and canvass during the week and advise and assist in every possible way in various parts of the field.

It is planned to have other noted expert workers, and if possible a bishop or bishops, who will give addresses, and give such other help as their time and strength will permit, so that everything is to be done to win a big victory for Gooding.

The Board also authorized the sale of scholarships (covering tuition) for $1000, and a half scholarship for $500, good for thirty years, and usable by the "family and lineage" of the donor, or he may bestow the privilege of the scholarship on a needy and worthy student. Or the scholarship may be founded for worthy and needy students, preparing for the missionary work. These scholarships have always been a popular feature in college campaigns. Some sixty odd were donated in the Baker University campaign, most of them as memorials to some loved one and for worthy, needy students.

It was also decided to grant special help to preachers' families, admitting their sons and daughters at one-half tuition, a very commendable thing to do, as most preachers, especially in this country, have meagre salaries and need this concession to enable them to educate their children.

The Board also provided for the sale of annuity bonds—"Gooding College Annuity Bonds"—on which they will pay annuity during the life of the annuitant, using the same rates as those used by the Missionary society of the M. E. church, which vary according to the age of the donor or annuitant, from 4 per cent to persons 50 to 55, to 8 per cent to those of 80 years.

These bonds make a fine investment for persons of moderate means, because they are non-taxable, and also for the aged and those who wish to be free from the management and investment of their funds, and also for those who want to be sure to what use their money will be put after their death.

The spirit of the meeting was heroic and optimistic, and all with a vision can see the buildings rising in their places on the college campus, and a great crowd of students gathered in their halls, from all this great "Inter-mountain Empire." Success to Gooding.

NYSSA, OREGON

The Gate City as It Is Described in a Pamphlet Issued by the Farmers and Business Men's League

The object of this little folder is to give tersely and honestly general facts about NYSSA and that part of the great Snake River Valley of which NYSSA is the center. This thriving town is located on the main line of the Oregon Short Line railroad and junction of branch line to Homedale, Idaho. Some of the advantages which its citizens enjoy are:

A population of over 600.

Electric lighting system, privately owned.

Municipal waterworks system furnishing a bountiful supply of pure deep well water. Magnificent school buildings, high and graded schools, with free transportation for pupils within a radius of five miles from NYSSA. The only schools with this system in the State.

Steel wagon bridge across Snake River connects NYSSA with the Apple Valley bench, Idaho.

Two banks, capital and surplus $64,000. Carry deposits aggregating $125,000.

One general store, lumber and coal yard, four grocery stores, one hardware store, one men's and boys' store, two dry goods stores, two butcher shops, one drug store, two restaurants, one confectionery store, two blacksmith shops, two pool and cigar stores, one auto garage, a first class hotel, housed in a modern brick building; modernly equipped motion picture theatre; an up-to-the minute cheese factory—the only one in the county.

The center of a 100,000-acre irrigation project.

Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Episcopalian and Mormon churches.

Masons, I. O. O. F. and Women of Woodcraft lodges.

A live weekly paper.

FARMING

The farmer finds his paradise in the Snake River Valley. The advantages are:

SOIL—The soil is composed of decomposed lava rock, volcanic ash, sand and loam, the richest soil known. The soil is of great depth, often 50 feet or more. It contains the fertilizer itself, making it unnecessary to manure land to give it life.

CLIMATE—The climatic conditions are ideal. Short mild winters; seldom below zero. Summers of continual sunshine. June, July, August, September and October contain 135 days of clear sunshine.

WATER—The best and cheapest water rights in the state are found here; shortage of irrigation water is unknown.

ELEVATION—The lands of the valley lie at an elevation of from 2200 to 2300 feet.

Seldom does the farmer find the concomitants of all the essential conditions for successful farming so beautifully blended in harmony of climate, soil, elevation and cheap water.

The principal crops grown are:

ALFALFA is the great forage crop. The long dry summers of continual sunshine make the curing of alfalfa hay possible without loss. No other forage crop equals this alfalfa in production of fat and growth of stock. Three cuttings every season, yield from 6 to 10 tons per acre. It sells for from $5 to $8 per ton in the stack. Alfalfa seed makes returns of as high as $100 per acre. Malheur county ranks first in alfalfa in Oregon.

GRAINS yield abundantly. Wheat from 40 to 80 bushels per acre; oats from 75 to 125 bushels per acre, weight 40 to 45 pounds to the bushel. Barley does equally as well, yielding from 50 to 85 bushels per acre.

POTATOES are easily grown and yield from 8 to 20 tons per acre. They sell at from 65c to $2 per hundred. The potato bug is unknown.

ONIONS, cabbage, tomatoes, peas, sweet corn, melons, and in fact all truck farming products are successfully grown.

CORN AND HOGS—This valley is peculiarly adapted to successful corn growing. Last year was the first that the farmers grew corn as a principal crop. The yields were enormous, ranging from 60 to 123 bushels of shelled corn per acre.

NYSSA took first prize for corn exhibited at the Malheur County Fair, State Land Products Show, and the Walla Walla Corn Show, Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana competing. Malheur county ranks first in the state for corn production, quality and yield. Hogs are very profitable and are easily raised. Cholera is unknown. The wonderful opportunities for corn and barley production, coupled with the high grade alfalfa grown, promises to make this the premier hog section of the state.

FRUIT—Apples, prunes, peaches, apricots, and cherries are grown in abundance. Prunes and apples especially do well. The largest prune orchard in Oregon is at NYSSA. This orchard of 100 acres ships annually from 40 to 60 cars of prunes. NYSSA prunes dry 8 per cent more fruit than prunes grown west of the Cascades. Within a radius of five miles of NYSSA are 4000 acres of apple orchards. The principal varieties are Jonathan, Rome Beauty and Winesap. Owing to the continuous sunshine, this fruit reaches a size, flavor and rich coloring that excels that grown in the rainfall sections.

FACTS FOR THE DAIRYMAN

SHORT WINTERS—Spring work begins in February.

NO DISEASE—Dry climate.

CHEAP FEED—The kind you want. As an illustration, 22 head of cattle and horses were pastured on 64 acres of bluegrass pasture without other feed from April 15 to November 1.

ALFALFA—Three and four cuttings, 6 to 10 tons.

CORN ENSILAGE—Twenty tons per acre easily grown.

CREAM STATIONS AND A CO-OPERATIVE CHEESE FACTORY—Cheese easy sale at good prices. Conditions are ideal for this business.
