Rev. Baker Injured in Auto Accident

Ontario, July 18.—Two automobiles collided just west of Ontario in Sunday evening's dust storm. Three of the four men in the cars escaped with bruises, but the fourth, Rev. D. E. Baker, pastor of the Baptist church of Ontario, suffered bad cuts across the cheek and temple and a severed artery in the wrist, from windshield glass. Mr. Baker was returning from an appointment in the country with F. A. Stewart, an Ontario merchant, in the latter's Ford car. They met B. B. Wood in his high powered Stoddard-Dayton roadster, on his way to his farm. Art Magill, another young farmer, was with him.

Both drivers seem to have seen each other, but one or both failed to turn out far enough to pass. Lamps, fenders and radiators on both cars were damaged, and the lighter one will be in the hands of the surgeons in the Ford hospital some time before it is presentable again.

Several stitches were required to close the minister's wounds. Hard luck seems to be camping on Mr. Baker's trail. Five weeks ago his wife burned her foot and was confined to bed several days. A week later Mr. Baker, then doing a full carpenter's work in remodeling his church building, stepped on a nail and was on crutches two weeks.

Rancher Arrested on Charge of Bootlegging

Caldwell.—Arrested Tuesday morning at his ranch just southwest of Caldwell and lodged in county jail, O. K. Brody will face a charge of bootlegging. He was taken on a warrant sworn out and served by Sheriff Froman.

Six quart bottles of "evidence" said to have been uncovered about the Brodie premises were brought in with the prisoner. They will be used as evidence, states County Attorney Griffiths, in prosecution of the prisoner on a charge of illegal possession and sale of liquor.

At 10 o'clock Wednesday morning Brodie will be brought before Probate Judge Frank Meek, when the time will be set for the preliminary examination, unless the accused man decides to waive his hearing.

Judge Meek on Tuesday fixed Brody's bond at $500. This he was unable to raise during the day and remained in jail. He is a young man, his age being given as 21 years.

INDUSTRIAL REVIEW.

Figures compiled by the Forest Service show that the furniture manufacturers of Oregon use annually nearly seven million feet of lumber.

Reports received from nearly all sections of Douglas county indicate that this year's crop of prunes will far surpass previous years.

Construction of John Day highway, which will connect the Columbia river highway with Lincoln highway, will be started soon.

Wasco county cherry stems are being shipped to Europe to make poisonous gas that is used by opposing armies in France.

Work has been started on Sunset oil well north of Vale.

Auto tourists spent $7400 in Baker in four weeks.

Oregon gold output increased $107,000 first six months of 1916 over same period 1915.

Allies have, in past year, paid $1,500,000 for Oregon and Washington spruce for manufacture of aeroplanes.

Bag Wildcats Instead of Sage Hens

Nampa.—Hunting sageshens in Owyhee county Sunday where they motored from here, Robert Poole, Tom Poole and Harry Kimmel came across a wild cat and its two kittens, much to the misfortune of the cats.

The pelts of the mother and one of the kittens were brought home by the party, and kitten No. 2 was brought home alive, having been captured by Robert Poole, although it first gave him a severe bite on the thumb.

War Machines.

There has been completed at the U. S. Arsenal at Rock Island, Ill., and sent to the Mexican border, a double turreted, armored automobile.

It weighs, fully equipped, 12,000 pounds. It has four times the power of the ordinary automobile of like dimensions. It can run on any ordinary road that is not too soft to support its weight; its speed is twenty-five miles; it is immune against musket shots, and each turret has a machine gun that fires several thousand shots per minute. It is believed to be a most formidable machine. It is said that several smaller and swifter armored machines with one turret are being made ready at the same place for the same destination.—Goodwin's Weekly.

Eight Constitutional Amendments Filed

Eight petitions for the placing of state wide constitutional amendments on the November ballot have been filed with the secretary of state. Last Saturday was the last day of filing. Three petitions announced earlier had failed to show up.

The missing petitions were one for "One day of rest in seven," fostered by the Weekly Rest Day League; one to protect salmon in the Columbia river and its tributaries, and one relating to the admission of health practitioners to do business in the state.

The rural credits petition, in which there has been keen interest manifested over the state, was filed late Saturday afternoon with about 26,500 signatures. This amendment is initiated and favored by the Oregon Referendum league, a federation of the Oregon State Grange, Farmers' Educational and Co-operative union and the Oregon State Federation of Labor.

The state wide tax limitation amendment petition came in with about 35,000 signatures. It is fostered by the State Taxpayers' league.

The amendment "to abolish discrimination against home manufacture of light beer" was brought in with 42,046 signatures, and the amendment initiated by the Oregon state prohibition committee "to prohibit the importation of liquor for beverage purposes" was filed with 30,470 signatures.

Other petitions filed were the "Peoples land and loan law," "Validating location of certain public institutions and providing for normal school at Pendleton," "Prohibition of compulsory vaccination and medical treatment," "To repeal and abolish the Sunday closing law," and several petitions for county laws.

Popular Pastime at Weiser.

Just at present the popular pastime for both the younger and the older sets is swimming, and not to have been in all over is to acknowledge one's self a sort of a "has been," according to the prevalent opinion. The Seventh street bridge is the resort most frequented and the Weiser river furnishes the water. It also furnishes the current that makes swimming down stream a pleasure but swimming up stream an impossibility. It's similar to coasting, a long, pleasant ride down, then a hard walk back on the bank.

The water is cold, there is no dispute on this fact, but the temperature doesn't bother the bunch one bit. Bathing suits have been in demand for the past week and the "polar bears" and "snowbirds" are about all outfitted. The bridge each evening is filled with autos and traffic is about stopped on the road. The drivers seem to experience difficulty in getting all the way over during the ablutions below. Harking back to an ancient fable of a certain sailor who filled his ears with wax or cotton batting, or some other handy material, it might be well for the chauffeurs to lash themselves to the steering gear and wear four-cornered blind bridles.

The fun commenced about 7 o'clock and lasts until—but that don't matter, it commences about 7.

Carey Act Project Soon to Be Opened

Inquiries are continually being received at this office in regard to lands in this valley. Not many landowners in this section of the country appear anxious to sell, the tendency being to acquire more acres. This is a good place to live and the people know it and are content to stay.

There is still good government land for homesteading, some with possibilities for private irrigation systems at moderate cost. All natural flow irrigation waters have been appropriated.

There are thousands of acres of road grant lands for sale at from $5 to $20 per acre, with water available for a lot of it.

The Carey act project under the Ar-telope reservoir comprises 50,000 acres of very choice land, beautifully located. This project is not yet open to entry, but the system is practically completed and the time for opening will not be long delayed.—Jordan Valley Express.

Asks for Money for Artesian Well Work

Senator Chamberlain has secured an amendment to the sundry civil bill to increase from $150,000 to $250,000 the appropriation to make experiments in artesian well development in Oregon and other states.
