Food Will Win the War

A LARGE part of the world is coming to the position that Belgium is in; coming to the stage where the primary and important thing in life is enough food to keep alive. Food has now taken a dominant position in the war. The American people must prepare themselves to sacrifice far more than was at first thought necessary.

The cold facts are: France, Italy and England have just enough food to keep them going ten or twelve weeks. When America's food shipments stop—the allied nations begin consuming into this slender store and begin a swift march into actual famine conditions—which would mean defeat in short order.

Europe then must live on America's surplus. Your saving increases our available stocks just that much and actually feeds some person in the countries with which we are associated in our war against the Central Powers. Our surplus wheat has already been shipped to the allies.

Historic Flag IsSeen in Duplicate

In "The Slacker," the Metro production de luxe starring the brilliant actress, Emily Stevens, to be shown at the Dreamland theatre, Ontario, on February 7 and 8, will be seen an exact duplicate of the flag that inspired Francis Scott Key to write the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner."

This was the flag that floated over Fort Henry at Baltimore, when the British fleet attacked the American fort. At that time the national emblem consisted of fifteen stripes and fifteen stars, and measured 40x30 feet. The duplicate of this flag, screened in "The Slacker," measures exactly the same as the original, which is one of the treasures of the United States government.

Under cover of a flag of truce, the young composer had gone on board a British war vessel to see a friend who was a prisoner, and during the night the British attacked the fortress. The sight of Old Glory, battle scarred but still flying in the morning breeze, inspired him to write the immortal song.
