Up-to date Churches.

That at least three of our local churches are awake, with live men as leaders, was manifested last Saturday when Rev. E. F. Meier of the Lutheran church, Rev. Father Godschalax of the Catholic church and Rev. Claton Rice of the Congregational church all came in to have some church printing done.

We confess we never could see why churches could not be placed upon the same business plans that other organizations are placed. It is true the work the churches are doing is spiritual, but if it pays to advertise boots and shoes for the feet; flour and meat for the stomach; and school for the mind—how much more important should it be to tell the world some of the things for which the spiritual and eternal organizations stand.—New Plymouth Sentinel.
