

MANY FARMERS ARE ADVERTISING PRODUCE

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, July.—Newspaper advertising of farm products is practiced more generally in other western states than in Oregon, says the agricultural college press bulletin. The Idaho university press bulletins say that many farmers advertise in their local papers and do not consider the cost a waste of money. The news bulletins of South Dakota college wrote letters to nearly 100 farmers asking them to give their experience with local newspaper advertising. Some of the answers follow:

"We have been so successful in advertising our seed grains that next year we plan to erect a new granary and get more equipment to clean and handle grain. We must have a new truck."—Hillcrest Farm, Clark, S. Dak.

"We have found that it pays to use the local papers. The best success is with using those that cover our natural selling territory."—Hewington Farms, Highmore.

"We have been so successful in selling young pigs through local papers that we have been unable to keep up with the demand."—J. M. Tucker, Edgemont.

"Yes, it pays to let people know what you've got to sell. People believe an advertisement since they think the editor stands good for its being true."—M. A. Stocum, Ipswich.

"I am sure it paid me to advertise in the local and farm papers. Perhaps a neighbor may want just what you have to sell, and the way to let him know is to advertise it."—Chas. P. McPherson, Sturgis.

"A small ad in our local paper sold all our pure bred eggs for hatching. Yes, I certainly am in favor of advertising."—Bright Side Farm, Lily.

"Bring those auto wheels to the Nyssa Blacksmith and have the bands set and stop them from popping or squeaking in the hub—advise."
