Proper Selection of Materials Means Better Construction

Time and the elements prove that the use of first-class building materials means better construction. Economy follows the proper selection of these materials. A house built on the sands will eventually fall. In this same class is the building constructed of poor lumber and other building items. It can't stand the test against the rigors of severe weather.

All Boise Payette yards carry our high grade lumber and building materials. Our yard managers are ready and competent to advise you regarding your construction problems. Consult your nearest yard manager about your building plans, whether it be for a house, barn, garage, shelters for animals or implements, chicken coops or other structures.
