HOW "ROMOLA" WAS MADE
George Eliot's immortal "Romola" is an inspiration and a hard work.

The scene of "Romola" is the life of the fifteenth century. The plan of it came to George Eliot from a course of an Italian journey. Those journeys that seem to be one's life in half so many years do they suggest, so many of interest do they open to us. Having fixed on her scene, she turned to Florence, visiting streets, rummaging archives, seeking to impregnate herself with the spirit of the venerable city. She was still far from her goal on her return home, she sat at work, she saw its difficulties before her. Would not her next best thing when she left the scenes of rustic life in the country for foreign countries? She despaired more and more, she gave up her task, then again, plunged (conscientiously did everything) into history and brought forth in sorrowful moral tragedy which even cannot behold without emotion. SCULPTOR'S USE OF
A gigantic figure of Neptune of Art as well as Architectural Curiosity.

At Monterosso, near Spello here stands an architectural—a gigantic figure of Neptune, constructed of cement and used as the extreme end of a terrace. The villa. The house is the line, and the statue is the large Minerva, a talented statue.

A small promontory on the left is built presented to the architect, but he needed in building there a solid and comfortable statue, which is about 33 feet in height, which, like the head, is reinforced cement, is hollow, and a spiral staircase. The nature of the material and the design Minerva had to work in a congratulatory on the statue.

"All for a Song" "He has sold his future for the sake of a rich man's aid of taking advantage of the sun opportunities open to him in the north-while career, was his golden years on the Grand Vay.

"All for a song" has come to us "paying too much for any undue sacrifice or waste of time that is worthless or transient moment, particularly superficial. It has come down to us when its significance is a token of her appreciation of Edmund Spencer, Quaker ordered Lord Burleigh to him with £100, which in the time was a small fortune. Burleigh is said to have said: "All this for a song?"

Rats as Food. Doctor Kane, the Arctic explorer, said that one of the worst of the far North were the "rat-eaters." He never wanted of his food, but he did not want to eat the frozen food—sometimes frozen in tallow balls.

He wrote: "During the night, Hans beguiled me by shooting rats with an arrow. The repugnance of the rats to share with the luxury gave me frequent fresh meat soup, which I doubt to my comparative luxury."

"Piglin English" The shibboleth of the word "business," which is the right kind of the people are in a constant state which borders on confusion they never begin in time, the right sort of preparation stop long enough to call in order to get their business.

Most Welcome. A man never appreciates a solitary dinner more than he holds the three other men Transcript.

ELECTION, MAY 21

STATE ROADS

Vote 302 X Yes
For 4% State Road Bond Limit

BALLOT TITLE IS AS FOLLOWS:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT—Referred to the people by the Legislative Assembly.
LIMITATION OF FOUR PER CENT STATE INDEBTEDNESS.
Article XI of the Constitution of the State of Oregon so as to permit the creation of debts and liabilities including previous debts and liabilities for the purpose of building and maintaining permanent roads to a amount of four per cent of the assessed valuation of all the property in the State of Oregon, instead of two per cent as now provided by law.

NO PROPERTY TAX—NO DIRECT TAX
NO INCREASE IN AUTO LICENSE FEES
NO INCREASE OF GASOLINE TAX

Keep these three facts in mind. The present auto license fees and gasoline tax will pay both the principal and interest on all the bonds under this amendment, and will yield an annual surplus besides for other state highway work. No additional taxation of any kind.

FEDERAL FUNDS MUST BE MATCHED

Oregon must have sufficient Highway Funds to match Federal apportionments or Oregon cannot get the benefit of Federal money for Oregon Roads. Increasing this constitutional limit is a necessity. Unless limit is increased, other state roads cannot be completed for many, many years, or must be financed by direct property taxation. This measure averts direct property tax for state highways and makes early completion possible. Let's get the roads built now.

Income from Present Sources Sufficient to Pay Principal and Interest.

The fact that revenues from auto license fees and gasoline tax, without increase of present rates, are ample to pay both principal and interest on these bonds, is clearly set forth by official figures in the State Pamphlet, mailed to every registered voter. Refer to State Pamphlet for verification. Consider the table carefully. It proves that no property tax is required and that present rates for auto license fees and gas tax will redeem principal and interest and yield surplus besides.

BOX SOCIAL A SUCCESS

The Soldiers' Monument Fund box social given by the Community Service club last Friday evening was a decided success. The fairy play by the third and fourth grade pupils, under the direction of Mrs. Thompson and Miss Millikin was well done and brought forth hearty applause from the large audience. This was the children's offering, they being anxious to have a part in the remembering our soldier boy; and the free will offering made by those who did not care to remain to the social has been credited as the children's in the receipts of the evening.

There were many beautiful boxes and although the start was slow, the bidding soon became more spirited and the fun enjoyed by all. An unusual and decidedly pleasing feature was the serving of free coffee by the ladies.

Everyone entered into the spirit of the occasion and this combined with the hard work of the Community Service club gave a most enjoyable evening.

Following is a report of the affair as handed to the Journal by the president of the Community Service club:

The ladies of the Community Service club desire to express their gratitude to all who so cordially aided in making the Soldiers' Monument Fund social so much of a success.

Especially do they wish to thank our school and the teachers for their hours of work; and Mr. Asstad for his kindness in permitting the use of his room and utensils for the coffee making.

Following is a statement of receipts and disbursements of the occasion: The hope was for a clear $150, these figures will show how close to the mark they came.

If anyone who has been unable to make an offering to this cause still desires to do so, he or she may have the privilege of adding to the C. S. C. Monument Fund account in the Bank of Nyssa, and will not only gladden the hearts of the club members but help our little home town to a place of honor.
