DIAMOND IS MODERN JEWEL

Beautiful Stone as We Know It Today Was Unfamiliar to the Ancient World.

The perfectly cut and brilliant diamond the world knows today is not very much more than 50 years old, says a writer in Popular Science. The ancient world knew little of diamonds. From the first Pharaoh to the last, through all the pageantry of 31 dynasties, diamonds were unknown in Egypt. From the dawn of history, Babylon remained unfamiliar with them for 40 centuries.

The conquest of Alexander across the Indus in 327 B. C. acquainted Greece vaguely with their existence. The patricians of Rome in the days of the early empire rarely owned them. Byzantine supremacy, the rise of Venice to maritime power, the Moorish conquest of Spain, brought only a trickle of diamonds into western Europe. A fashionable jewelry store in America today carries more diamonds in stock than were in all Europe when Columbus sailed from Palos.

Henry D. Morse of Boston, in the last century was the first to discover the balanced proportions that developed a diamond's highest reflective and refractive possibilities. Since brilliancy is the crowning glory of a diamond, he did not hesitate to sacrifice whatever weight was necessary to achieve it. Retaining the 58 facets of the earlier cutters, he found that a diamond is at its sharpest climax of brilliancy when the depth from table to culet is six-tenths of its diameter, and that a little more than two-thirds below. Cut in this style, a diamond not only flashes light from every polished facet surface, but seems alive with coruscating inner fires.

Morse's proportions are the rule of the world today, and they mark the final triumph of the art in the achievement of the perfect jewel.

SCHEME WORKED TOO WELL

Teacher Should Have Remembered That Old Proverb Concerning Things Heard by Listeners.

A new high-school teacher had come to the local high school and was anxious to know how she impressed the faculty members and students. But she was new and of course would not ask any of them the others' opinion of herself.

So she decided to watch for a chance to use her own ingenuity in making the discovery. And one day her chance came. She was in the principal's office filling out an identification card when she saw him and one of the other teachers coming down the hall. Quickly she slipped just outside the back door and stood there to listen a wee bit.

Just as she had hoped they would, they noticed the card she had just filled out. "Oh, she's the new teacher," spoke up the principal. "Do you know by any chance what history she teaches?"

The other teacher answered, "Ancient."

The principal grinned. "Why, of course," he returned. "I should have known that from her looks."—Exchange.

Fingers With Only One Joint.

Dr. C. F. Oddie reports to the archives of radiology and electrotherapy (London) the case of a boy of fourteen whose fingers have only one joint. His mother had similar hands, as have four of her nine children, the fingers of the five others being normal.

Promises of Spring.

It is not the variegated colors, the cheerful sounds, and the warm breezes which entice us so much in spring; it is the quiet, prophetic spirit of endless hope, a presentiment of many happy days.—Margaret Optiz.

Days of Gluttony.

Seventy-five years ago it was not unusual for a formal English breakfast to last two hours, while a dinner might start at 8:30 o'clock and be protracted till midnight. And the courses were as many and substantial as the meals were lengthy.

"Lilith" is a female demon of Jewish folklore. The name means "night monster." In Rabbinical literature Lilith becomes the wife of Adam, but flies away from him and becomes a demon.

IOWA BOY WINS ESSAY CONTEST

Writes the Best Article on "Benefits of Enlistment in United States Army."

BEATS TEN MILLION RIVALS

Gets Free Trip to Washington and a Gold Medal From Secretary Baker —The Prize-Winning Essay.

Washington, D. C.—Donald L. Campbell, a fifteen-year-old Clinton (Ia.) high school pupil, has been awarded first prize in the army national school essay contest for the best essay on the "Benefits of Enlistment in the United States Army." Ten million school children participated in the contest, inaugurated to stimulate enlistment in the army.

Young Campbell will receive from the war department a free trip to Washington, where Secretary of War Baker will pin a gold medal on his chest.

Here's the Essay.

Campbell's winning essay follows: "As Horace Greeley once said, 'Young man, go West,' we now say, 'Young man, join the army.' Why? It is the big opportunity of the age.

"Are you physically weak?" "Health is the first wealth," and the army is a health builder. It provides wholesome food; clean, comfortable surroundings; proper clothing and medical attention when necessary. Physical exercise is compulsory, and every encouragement is given athletes. These, with outdoor life, make men straight, strong and healthy.

"Do you seek an education?" "You can attend school at any army post and study grammar and high school subjects.

"Would you learn a trade?" "The government has recently appropriated $2,000,000 for the establishment and maintenance of vocational schools, where you can learn to be a mechanic, auto repair man, electrician, telegraph operator, chemist or almost anything else you wish. These courses prepare you for a return to civil life or continued service in the army.

"Do you admire courage, honest, square dealing, resolution and tenacity of purpose? You will find these qualities in men like Washington, Grant, Sherman, Roosevelt and Pershing—men developed in our army.

"This training of body, mind and soul, and these opportunities for education, travel and adventure are more than sufficient reasons for joining the army; but there is another and greater motive for donning the 'olive drab.' Do you love your country, and would you be worthy of her? You must be willing to serve her both in war and peace.

"Have you, like Nathan Hale, one life to give for your country? If so, join the army."

Uncle Worries for You.

"You may think army pay is low. In addition to the $30 a month, Uncle Sam pays for your food, clothing, rent, light and fuel. With the present high cost of living, why not leave all the worries to Uncle Sam? After thirty years' service, you can retire on three-fourths pay plus $15.75 a month. The army is not all work and drilling. There are movies, libraries, games, music and dances; furloughs whenever conditions permit.

YANK WITH 38 WOUNDS HOME

George Tremain, Wounded in Battle of the Argonne, Gets Leave to Visit Parents.

Susanville, Cal.—When George Tremain, a soldier from Lassen county, was caught in the fire of a German machine gun nest in the battle of the Argonne, he received 38 separate wounds, 20 being of a serious nature. Tremain fell and lay on the ground in an exposed position for 12 hours before being rescued. When finally carried to a field hospital his injuries were pronounced fatal and for weeks he hovered near death in hospitals in France.

The amputation of both legs was anticipated for nearly a year, but healing was finally accomplished, and now he can walk with the aid of crutches. Tremain was permitted to come home from Letterman General hospital a few days ago to visit his parents.

Rat Killing Time Comes Again.

Falmouth, Ky.—The successful rat-killing party staged on the J. J. Eckler farm has suggested that "rat parties" would be a good thing for the farmers of that section. The rodents are particularly bad at present, but there are fewer on the Eckler farm than in many a day. While moving tobacco sticks three members of the party killed 83 rats and at the same time permitted six to get away.

Minister Quits Pulpit; More Money in Factory

Peekskill, N. Y.—Rev. Ellis Slippery, pastor in three suburban Methodist churches, has discarded his frock coat for a pair of overalls and began work as an apprentice pearl cutter in a factory here. He announced he had resigned his pastorate because he "could not make both ends meet," and would confine his preaching to "relief work which would not interfere with factory duties."

His salary as a pearl cutter would be several hundred dollars a year more than his salary as a minister, he said.

To Tunnel Mountain Chain

In order to cut down the running time between Pittsburgh's outlying districts and the city itself, an engineering project to blast through a mountain chain encircling the city has begun. When this tunnel has been bored it will cut down the time from one hour to 15 minutes. Photograph shows the first blasting for the tunnel. The rock within the white semicircle is honeycombed with dynamite.

"Do you long for travel and adventure?"

"Join the army. You can be an engineer at the Panama canal, a wireless operator in the Philippines, a line-man in Alaska, or an aviator flying in the clouds. Whenever possible, the government gives you a choice of station.

"In the army you can travel, learn, and earn at the same time.

Revolt Against Shoddy Goods

Overall Movement Is Protest Against Inferior Material Masquerading as "All Wool."

"TRUTH IN FABRIC" BILL

Measure in Congress Would Make It Obligatory for Manufacturer to Stamp on Cloth Percentage of Virgin Wool It Contains.

Chicago.—When the French peasants and bourgeoisie became utterly fed up with the ancient regime, they led several dozens of aristocrats to the guillotine and nicked off their heads. The citizens of Boston, years ago, declining to pay a tax, dumped a shipload of tea into the harbor. Americans today, from preachers to clerks, outraged at the prices they are forced to pay for inferior garments, spurn the clothiers' more select wear and don overalls.

Movements like these are to be regarded as symbols of protest. The peasant was not an advocate of indiscriminate slaughter; the Bostonian did not dislike tea, and 1920 Americans are not strong for overalls per se. The LeGrand F. Maloney, secretary of the National Sheep and Wool bureau, 29 South La Salle street, is of the opinion that the protest demonstrated by the denims is only partly against the high prices. It is equally against the inferior material, the shoddy masquerading as "all wool" that appears in garments nowadays.

"The overall movement will prove, I believe, ephemeral," said Mr. Maloney. "But it proves that the public is becoming very tired of spending its money for clothes and not getting value received. It blames the retailers for both prices and material. The retailer is as much a victim of circumstances as it is."

"Sixty-five per cent of the people nowadays are wearing shoddy when they paid for real clothes. Now these clothes one sees advertised in windows bear the sign 'All Wool,' which doesn't mean anything.

"Shoddy may be all wool, but wool that has been made over more than once, and sometimes even baked to keep its shape. It has lost its resiliency and wearing qualities. The wool, as it comes off the sheep's back, is known as 'virgin' wool.

Bill in Congress.

"A bill was introduced in congress January 7 designed to prevent the deceit and profiteering that result from the unrevealed presence of substitutes for virgin wool and in garments made therefrom, known as the 'truth in fabric' bill. This bill, if passed, will make it obligatory for the fabric manufacturer to stamp on the cloth the exact percentage of virgin wool, shoddy or cotton that it may contain. The fabric will be stamped: 'Maker's Registration No. — Contains not under — per cent virgin wool. Contains not over — per cent shoddy.'

"In this way the retailer will know what he is selling and the consumer what he is buying. A man will not pay $70 for a $45 suit. Clothes will find their proper price levels and the public can abandon overalls."

Remarkable Picture of Fighting in Berlin

A photograph made during the height of the fighting between "regular" troops and Spartacists in Berlin streets. The photograph, which is a recent one, was taken in the "Pariser Platz," where heavy fighting was experienced. The body of a fallen soldier may be seen in the right center of the photograph, while troops massed behind an armored motor car (at left) were firing upon the opposing faction.

What's in a Name?

"A printer informed me recently what the 'Evansville Bar association' really is," said Joseph H. Igleheart, secretary of the Evansville association.

Mr. Igleheart recently ordered printed a number of licenses to be granted to members of the association. When a copy of the proof was shown him, he discovered that the words "Evansville Bar association" were in unusually large type.

"What do you think these licenses are for—saloon keepers?" inquired Igleheart of the printer.

"Why, certainly; what else does the word 'bar' mean?" was the printer's response.—Indianapolis News.

Unique Specimens.

"The only thing," solemnly said Professor Pate, "that walks back from the tomb with the mourners and refuses to be buried is character."

"Just so!" replied Festus Pester. "And the only thing that comes back from the cemetery giggling and on the dead run is the rickety old widower who figures on—ee-hee! hee!—marrying again."—Kansas City Star.

Natural Result.

"Your friend seems buried in thought."

"Yes; he is in a grave reverie."

Wild Beasts' Toll in India.

Not a day passes of your own life but somewhere in India some 50 people have died through the action of wild beasts. It is not to be supposed that efforts are not made to destroy these monsters. Standing rewards are offered by the government for the killing of all the more dangerous types. But so wild and impenetrable are their sanctuaries that it is impossible to do anything except to keep their number within bounds in the more populous territories.

Embarrassing.

I was giving a lecture to my juniors on the life of Shakespeare. I was sitting on one of those folding chairs which are only too willing to live up to the name applied to them, and you can imagine my feelings when I suddenly found myself seated on the floor, with my feet protruding on the other side of the desk, while I was looking over the top of it.

The pupils politely waited to see if I were injured before they laughed.—Exchange.
