The fifteenth annual convention of the Oregon Bankers' association convened at Eugene Tuesday.

The $60,000 gravity water project undertaken by Monmouth nearly a year ago has been completed.

While fishing on a dock at Newport, Ivy Howard caught an octopus which measured about six feet in diameter.

Charles A. Barr, resident of Marion county since 1879, died at his home five miles south of Salem. He was 69 years of age.

A picnic for all residents of Marion county is being planned by the Marion County Community federation and will be held sometime in July.

The Roseburg cherry crop is ripening rapidly. Earlier varieties will be plentiful, it is believed, and the late fruit promises heavy yields.

The Linn county farm bureau has decided to arrange a series of poultry culling demonstrations in Linn county during August and September.

Former Salemites from all sections of Oregon and the Pacific northwest assembled at Salem Saturday for the annual homecoming ceremonies.

F. A. Elliott, state forester, has signed the formal contract whereby the government, through Colonel W. H. Arnold, commander of the western department of air service, will assign to Oregon a squad of airplanes for forest fire patrol work during the 1920 season.

Under the provisions of the contract a patrol base will be located at Eugene, from which point two planes will make trips daily. One plane will go as far north as Portland, while the other plane will fly south to Medford. At Medford will be located a sub-base, where the planes operating south out of Eugene will stop for gasoline. There will also be operated out of Medford a plane which will travel in a northeasterly direction as far as Summer lake, thence south to Alturas and return to the sub-base.

Eugene and Springfield have joined forces for a Fourth of July celebration. Springfield will celebrate Saturday, July 3, and Eugene Monday, July 5.

Aurora's new artesian well is now flowing at the rate of nearly 40,000 gallons a day, which is several thousand gallons more than the city uses.

Airplane forest fire patrol service in Oregon will not start until June 26, according to a letter received at the offices of F. A. Elliott, state forester. The Sheridan Light & Power Co., with headquarters at Sheridan, has filed with the Oregon public service commission application for an increase in rates.

John Steiger, prominent sheep man and rancher of Baker county and known throughout eastern Oregon, died Friday while on a fishing trip near Baker.

Bert Jewell, of Greenpoint, formerly game warden for Clackamas county, drowned in the Clackamas river when the boat in which he and two companions capsized.

About 80 representatives of Baptist churches of Malheur, Wallowa, Union and Baker counties attended the Grande Ronde Baptist association, which was held at Baker.

W. H. Smith, Echo farmer, was killed on his ranch by Mayor Asa B. Thompson, of Echo, who went to aid the sheriff in arresting Smith on charges of robbery and assault.

Receipts of the motor vehicle department of the state government for the month of May, 1920, totaled $99,636, according to a financial statement prepared by the secretary of state.

Unprecedented increase in business during the past few months is given as the reason for the increase in the capital stock of the Phez company of Salem from $1,500,000 to $4,000,000.

A number of men of Coburg and vicinity were cited by Deputy Sheriff Croner to appear before District Attorney Ray and explain why they have not obtained state licenses for their dogs.

Washington county Holstein breeders held a field meeting on the farm of H. Martin, near Eddy. Mr. Martin has a herd of thorough-bred cattle. A cattle judging contest for both adults and boys was staged.

For the purpose of discussing the wool and mohair market situation and the organization of a county wool and mohair growers' association, a series of meetings of growers of wool and mohair will be held in Linn county this week.

The fight of the Dallas churches to close the moving picture theaters in the city on Sunday was lost when the citizens of the town in a special election decided they wanted the Sunday evening shows by a vote of 407 to 260, ending a bitter fight.

A large amusement hall and several homes for employes of the Oregon Lumber company are being constructed at Bates, a lumber camp on the Sumpter Valley railroad, by the lumber corporation, in an effort to better living conditions and afford recreation to its employes.

Between 6000 and 7000 pheasant eggs are to be hatched this year at the state game farm at Eugene, according to State Game Warden Burghdoff. At present 1300 young birds are out and 2600 eggs are under the hens. The Corvallis farm will also produce about 7000 birds this year.

Because a large number of cases of illness from stomach trouble have developed in Medford from unknown causes, none serious, Dr. E. B. Pickett, city health officer, has issued a warning to all users of city water to boil the water for cooking and drinking purposes until a sample of the water has been analyzed by the state board of health.

HENRY GAINES HAWN

Henry Gaines Hawn of San Francisco, an authority on community building, is one of several speakers now touring the state in connection with the expansion movement of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce.

The State Chamber is making a state-wide appeal for a budget of $450,000, covering a period of three years, to carry on its development work.

The movement has been endorsed by more than two hundred leading men throughout Oregon. Eighty community executive committees have been organized to co-operate with the State Chamber in the canvass throughout the state which will be conducted during June and July.

STATE CHAMBER TO EXPAND ACTIVITIES

State-wide Appeal For Budget
Made to Provide For Development Program.

What is the plan of the expansion movement of the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce? How is it to be carried out? What is it for?

These are the three questions uppermost in the minds of the majority of those who have been informed of the movement which the State Chamber launched April 19th with a survey of the state to set up preliminary organization and establish a direct connection with practically every community in the thirty-six counties of Oregon.

The expansion movement by way of explanation might be divided into three distinct classes.

First—A survey of the state. Second—An educational campaign to be carried on through local newspapers and by mailing literature pertaining to the movement direct to industries, firms and individuals interested in the development of the state.

Third—The intensive organization work at which time a state-wide canvass will be made, county by county, to raise a budget to enable the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce to carry on its program of development work for the state on a broader, more comprehensive scale. This canvass will be made throughout the state during June and July.

This budget is to be obtained by popular subscription. The appeal will be state-wide and to everyone interested in the development of Oregon and his particular community. It is believed the response will be met by the manufacturer, the merchant, the farmer and the individual, for each is vitally interested in seeing Oregon forge ahead and develop its advantages and resources.

Industrial developments depend on two factors: Natural resources or raw materials, and proximity to markets for manufactured products. Granted these and sufficient encouragement development inevitably follows.

Oregon has the raw materials and natural resources. "It will be the purpose of the State Chamber of Commerce under its expanded program to acquaint the world with these facts, and through direct solicitation, get industrial management to consider Oregon as a site for their industries.

Furniture and wool manufacture in Oregon are in their infancy. So is the canning and preserving of fruits. With its vast resources in water power, its labor market, geographical location, Oregon offers many advantages to the manufacturer who, however, must first be interested in Oregon and know its advantages.

DOUBLE POPULATION OF OREGON FARMERS
STATE CHAMBER PLAN

Oregon now has 5,000,000 acres of land under cultivation. In 1919 the agricultural crop was valued at $206,000,000.00.

By honest advertising the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce can double the agricultural acreage in three years. This would add another $206,000,000.00 to the agricultural revenue of the State, using last year's figures as a basis of figuring.

To Keep American Ships on the Seas

For the first time since the Civil War we have a real merchant marine. It cost us $3,000,000,000 to get it.

The farmer, manufacturer, laborer—every American is interested in holding our position on the seas.

As a first step in this direction it is necessary to modify those articles of existing commercial treaties which have operated to thwart the upbuilding of our merchant marine—

By giving the notice of termination for which the several treaties provide.

This action is directed in the constructive Shipping Bill now before Congress:

Which declares it to be the policy of the United States "to do whatever may be necessary to develop and encourage" a merchant marine.

This policy deserves the support of every American.

Lacking this support the present effort to maintain our merchant marine may suffer the fate of many ineffective attempts of the past.

Send for a copy of "For an American Merchant Marine."
