Lift off Corns!

Doesn't hurt a bit and Freezone costs only a few cents.

With your fingers! You can lift off any hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

A tiny bottle of "Freezone" costs little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift that bothersome corn or callous right off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug!—Adv.

Handicapped. "I tried to tell that lady about my new Paris gown, but she wanted to talk about the new books."

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Catarrhal Deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy.

PERFECTION NOT OFTEN SEEN Assertion Made That Not One Person in Ten Thousand is Absolutely Sane.

Perfect health of mind and body are both exceedingly rare. Not one "civilized" person out of ten thousand is perfectly healthy.

Pleasure Missed. "Oh!" said Marjorie as the dessert came on, "how I wish you had told me this morning, mamma, that you were going to have strawberries and cream for dinner!"

The Building Crisis. "The house divided against all fall."

Golf has the advantage of keeping one in the open air without afflicting him with chiggers.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

THE PLATYPUS.

"I don't believe any creature is just like me," said Mr. Platypus. "I am," said Mrs. Platypus. "I mean outside the family," said Mr. Platypus.

"Then you should have said what you meant in the first place instead of wasting all this valuable time," said Mrs. Platypus.

"You are as rude to yourself as you are to me when you say that," said Mr. Platypus, "so I don't mind."

"Well, don't let us bother," said Mr. Platypus. "Oh, all right," said Mrs. Platypus. "I was saying," began Mr. Platypus, "that I don't believe there are any other creatures like our family. Now I am a mixture of animal and fish and bird. I have a bill like a duck and my feet are web feet. My tail is queer and horny."

"I like to live by the sea or else in the forests. There is a good variety for you."

"Thank you," said Mrs. Platypus. "I'm very, very old. When I'm pleased I rub my back on a rock. I dive very well, too."

"Now, some creatures, when they're pleased, laugh; others smile, some jump up and down with joy. Some chuckle and, some grunt and some sniff with pleasure."

"Some whistle and some talk cheerfully. All of these things are very usual to do. I wouldn't do them because they are so usual."

"It isn't every creature, as I said before, that can be fish and animal and bird at the same time. I can swim, and yet I enjoy the forests, as I said before, too."

"And as I'm so different from all other creatures I should behave differently."

"And you do," said Mrs. Platypus. "And so do you," said Mr. Platypus. "Well," he continued, "if I were but a bird I would sing and do things like that."

"If I were but a fish I would swim and look at creatures out of my glassy eyes."

"If I were but a land animal I would walk about and get my food and become friendly with many men and women and children—if I were a friendly sort of animal."

"But as I'm a platypus and as even my name is different I must do everything in an unusual and interesting way."

"It strikes me that the most interesting thing I do is the way I show how loyal I am."

A Real Grievance! The railroad official invited the stern citizen to communicate his troubles.

"I want you to give orders," demanded the visitor, "that the engineer of the express which passes through Elm Grove at 11:55 be restrained from blowing his whistle on Sunday mornings."

"Impossible!" exploded the official. "What prompts you to make such a ridiculous request?"

"Well, you see," explained the citizen, in an undertone, "our pastor preaches until he hears that whistle blow, and that confounded express was twenty minutes late last Sunday."

Yet it is more reasonable for an infant to sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to regulate the delicate organism of that same infant. Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food. A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper food. Could you for a moment, then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived. Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.
