Gently Sarcastic.

At half past eleven Mr. Stone retired. In a few minutes the telephone rang, and he hurried downstairs to find that there was no one on the line. He had just snuggled into his warm bed when the telephone rang again, and he answered it a second time.

It proved to be a man who wished to interest him in a new automobile. When the conversation was ended, the caller said, "I hope I have not inconvenienced you?"

"Not at all," said Mr. Stone. "I was sitting right in front of the telephone thinking that some one might call me up."—Youth's Companion.

Few Bricks Came From England.

The late George Alfred Townsend established beyond controversy that, while there may have been a few isolated instances of cargoes of bricks from England, not one colonial house in fifty, for which such claim is made, included English bricks in its composition.—From a letter in the Baltimore Sun.

Open Bribery.

Jane had just commenced school, and the teacher asked her a question in numbers which she was unable to answer. She walked up to the teacher and said in a low voice: "If you won't ask me that I'll give you some of my animal crackers."

King Governs Marriages.

Spanish diplomats are forbidden to marry without royal permission by a decree published in the Official Gazette. If this order is disregarded the offending person will be suspended from office and his wife will be excluded from diplomatic privileges.

The object of the decree is to prevent diplomats marrying women without means or of undesirable reputation. Similar rules are applied in the case of naval and military officers and noblemen.

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Womens' complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

Harnessing the Sun's Rays.

That the rays of the sun can be used for curing many skin diseases, and that sun baths are beneficial to those who are in perfect health, is well known. The problem of utilizing this agency in northern countries where [illegible] hours of sunshine are few has [illegible] solved, he claims, by a British [illegible]tor, M. J. de Thezac.

Still Useful.

Mrs. A. had just finished cutting her five-year-old daughter's hair and was preparing to throw away the clippings when the youngster asked, "Mother, what are you going to do with the hair you cut off my head?"

"Why, throw it away, of course," answered Mrs. A., a trifle impatiently. "Why, what made you ask?"

"Oh, I thought maybe you would save it to patch father's with," returned the youngster. "It needs it bad enough."

Woman Seeks Sunken Riches

Salvages Cargoes From Vessels That Have Gone Down in Great Lakes.

DIVER GAVE HER THE IDEA

Mrs. Margaret Campbell Goodman Has Recovered Fortunes From Wrecks on Floors of Inland Seas.

Cleveland.—Mrs. Margaret Campbell Goodman, the only woman salvager in the world, has regained a fortune which went down with the steamer Pewabic, in Lake Huron, 55 years ago. Succeeding where many men had failed, Mrs. Goodman has broadened her scope of work until she now has contracts to raise sunken fortunes in almost every sea.

Mrs. Goodman spent her early life in Mount Pleasant, Mich., and after her school days she went to Toledo, O., her present home. There she became interested in diving suits, after witnessing an exhibition of deep-sea diving in which the diver went down 361 feet, remaining under water for 45 minutes.

[illegible]

This feat of deep-sea diving convinced her that scouring the floor of the sea for sunken treasures would be a profitable business. Remembering the loss of the Pewabic, Mrs. Goodman, after much discouragement, formed a stock company. She went to Alpena, Mich., and found Capt. John Persons, who had stood with his father, keeper of the lighthouse in Thunder Bay, and watched the ship founder.

Later, Mrs. Goodman located George P. McKay, the captain of the Pewabic. Captain McKay was living in Cleveland and showed Mrs. Goodman the manifest of the lost vessel. It showed that the Pewabic carried in her hold tons of copper, worth $200,000 or more, and several hundred tons of pig iron. In the ship's express box was $50,000 of "shin plasters."

The work of searching for the Pewabic was begun in 1916. In the first season's work, the divers took out 100 tons of copper and 100 tons of pig iron. Many interesting relics were discovered which, when possible, were forwarded to the relatives of the sailors who had lost their lives a half century ago. When the treasure chest of the ship was brought to the surface, the "shin plasters" were found to be watersoaked and valueless.

Considerable work was done in 1917, until the needs of the government, at war with the central powers, called a halt to all salvaging operations.

To Salvage Cargo of Logs.

Mrs. Goodman's next contract is to salvage a schooner that sank in Lake Erie in 1864. She has a release from the owners and will begin work about July 1. This schooner carried a cargo of black walnut and white oak logs, chained to the deck, and Mrs. Goodman expects no difficulty in salvaging the cargo.

Formerly a newspaperwoman, Mrs. Goodman has made a success of a business which is as interesting as it is dangerous. She dislikes being described as a woman diver, because she has never gone under water herself, and she says she does not expect to do so unless for the purpose of increasing her own scientific knowledge.

Deserter Lives Long in Cave

Ohio Youth Fears Firing Squad Because of Visit to Family.

GIVES UP AFTER TWO YEARS

Hides in Hills, Feeds on Herbs and Wild Berries and Such Scanty Food as His Wife Got to Him.

Chillicothe, O.—Stories of how a neighbor deserter from the Union army during the Civil war had been brought to bay in a nearby village by a United States marshal and shot, brought visions of a similar fate to Carl Amerine and impelled him to hide in the hills almost two years rather than face a firing squad at Camp Sherman.

Amerine, drafted into the army, left a wife and two-year old babe at home, in the quiet, picturesque hills. He could neither read nor write and the largest village visited in his 24 years had numbered less than a thousand inhabitants. The bustling thousands at the camp, military restraint and customs weighed heavily on him and an impelling desire to see his wife and baby boy led him to quit camp to see them without obtaining permission.

Fears Firing Squad.

At home, his father, a tottering veteran of the Civil war, told him he was a deserter. Visions of the firing squad flashed through his mind. Kissing his wife and baby good-by he took to the rugged hills.

There Amerine found a cave in which he slept most of the time, venturing forth only at night and at times during the day when there was little chan[illegible] was [illegible] get [illegible] gath[illegible] and [illegible] The [illegible] to [illegible] son, and [illegible] against many. So closely did he watch all approaches to his hiding place that until a few days ago he had been seen by no one except his wife and a brother-in-law.

Military authorities had abandoned the search for Amerine. Three weeks ago an attorney friend of the family became interested and implored the wife to have her husband return and give himself up. She steadfastly held that her husband would be shot if captured and refused to have him return.

Clarence Stone of Adelphi managed to get word to the youth last week that his was not a case of desertion, and there was no danger of a firing squad. Amerine cautiously left his hiding place, and visited Stone's home, where they went over the situation. He agreed to give himself up.

Amerine again went to Stone's home. His wife brought his uniform, which she had preserved for him and had neatly pressed for the occasion. With Stone and an attorney, Amerine went to Camp Sherman and surrendered to the adjutant. He made no comment except to express himself as being well pleased that "it is all over."

"SEE AMERICA FIRST"

Conditions in Europe Not Attractive to Tourists.

Poor Hotel Accommodations and Scarcity of Food Keep Americans at Home.

Washington.—Sponsors of "See America First" ideas will find consolation in the stories reaching the United States of conditions in Europe which tend to discourage "going abroad" this year. One of the big obstacles to tourists of foreign lands is the lack of transportation facilities. Throughout the continent rolling stock is at a premium and passenger service is badly crippled.

While conditions in France and Eng[illegible] come over the borders of Soviet Russia into Poland, and the food situation adds to the distress there.

Tourists to Europe this summer will find that they did not leave high prices at home, for the Europeans [illegible] exists in England and France, although the governments are doing everything to check it.

For many months Europe has suffered from the effects of the unfavorable rate of foreign exchange in endeavoring to buy commodities in the United States, and the American tourist is now paying some of that deficit.

Well, He or the Hen Deserves a Medal

Los Angeles.—Edward Schaffer of Broadway, Venice, has one hen in his flock of eight that has distinguished herself. She is a Plymouth Rock, 2 years old. During the past two weeks she has laid fourteen eggs, not one of which weighed less than six ounces nor measured less than eight and three-quarters inches around. Schaffer says there is no doubt that it has been the same hen in each instance, for each egg bears a trademark which consists of two pronounced elevated rings around one end of the egg.

More Power to the Tractor.

Danville, Ky.—What the tractor has done for transportation was shown here when 46,000 shingles were hauled away in one load. It was probably the largest load of shingles ever shipped except by boat or train.
