The Best Light Is the Only Kind You Can Afford to Use

Incorrect, improper light is bought at the price of eyestrain, headache and loss of health. No wonder it is the most expensive!

Check Up Your Empty Sockets

Every empty socket in your house is a place from which steady, proper illumination may be had, provided you furnish it with the right kind of lamp to fit the room, the fixture and the voltage of your current.

Too bright light is just as bad for you as not bright enough—direct light often causes a glare which is bad—in a room with dark walls you need a more powerful light—you should use lamps made for the current with which your house is supplied. These are the things you should know.

You can't afford, either from a dollars and cents standpoint, or from the standpoint of eye-comfort and health, to have anything but the right kind of illumination. It's part of our service to show you how to get it—gladly freely. We WANT you to have better light. Come and ask us.
