Ancient Musical Instrument.

It seems not unlikely that the earliest form of the harp was the instrument we call a lyre. The latter was possibly the first of all stringed instruments. One finds it represented on the monuments of ancient Egypt and, though so long obsolete, it often appears in modern architecture as a decoration.

Something Like Cold!

A commercial traveler gives a terrible account of the intense cold in Sweden: "In Haparanda, the day before I left, I attended a performance at the theater. It was a tragedy. Everybody wept; but it was so cold that the tears of the spectators in the gallery fell like hailstones among the occupants of the stalls."

Music of the Shepherds.

In the stillness of the night, what more beautiful or soul-elevating than the mournful music of a flute? It was this instrument which the shepherds of Bethlehem were playing that memorable night, when the angels interrupted to announce to them the birth of the Savior.

Powerful Home Influence.

The blessed influences that radiate from a home well ordered and happy are countless and far-reaching; the unselfish love there kindled and nourished shines forth as a beacon light to encourage the world's hopes and faith in humanity.—Madam Willard.

Queer Old-Time Signals.
On the first railways a candle stuck in a station window meant "stop." Its absence was a signal to go on.

Jesse Knight's Spring Canyon COAL

When you have this hot, clean burning coal your bins you are well protected against the weather. It burns with equal efficiency in a furnace, stove or open grate. Every lump is of heat energy and, per pound, it gives more warmth than any other coal.

This makes Jesse Knight's Spring Canyon the most economical coal you can buy. A ton of this coal goes farther—it leaves less ash, and the orders are practically unknown. It stores well, crumbling into slack. But every piece is hard and breaks on the grain.
