Dr. H. J. Smith, who some time ago had the misfortune to cut his knee, has been compelled to give the knee a complete rest.

Although it seems we have been having an unusual amount of rain this year, the official records, which are kept by Mr. A. G. Kingman, show that rainfall is not above the average. The first half of the year was so dry that this unusual amount of rain only brings it to normal. The rainfall for the past 11 years has been between 6 and 10 inches, averaging eight and one-half inches, and the annual summary of the records show eight and one-half inches this year.

Mrs. Conrad Martin went to Boise Thursday to spend several days with friends.

Floyd Anderson and Roy Crouch were business callers in Caldwell Tuesday.

A. S. Vaughn, a prosperous rancher on Bridge Island, brought a load of turkeys to town one day recently for which he received the neat sum of $435. There were about 100 turkeys in the load and just filled the wagon box nicely rounded up. They were nicely dressed and ready for the market and the load was greatly admired by those who saw them come in. Mr. Vaughn is an enthusiastic turkey raiser and expects to go into the business quite extensively during the coming season. As a preliminary he has imported a couple of fine gobblers with which to improve his flocks.

Watch the M. E. church display advertisement on first page for hour of services. Preaching services are held each Sunday and alternate, one service in the morning, the following Sunday in the evening. The correct hour will be announced each week in the advertisement.

The home of John Keater, who lives on Bridge Island, was entered Monday morning during the absence of the family and thoroughly ransacked. Nothing of value was taken, but the intruder, evidently a hobo, partook of a good square meal. Mrs. Keater met the man as he was leaving the premises but didn't know that he had been in the house and paid no attention to him.

The M. E. church has a neat and attractive sign on the board at the corner of First and Main streets, which will give full information to the public regarding services. The pastor, Rev. Henry Young, evidently believes in advertising, as he is also carrying a paid advertisement in the Journal.

FUDGE!

A delightful fudge party was given by Jack and Ruth Barrett at their apartment on January 1. Miss Barrett and Miss Maxwell acted as hostesses. The honor of cutting the fudge was given to Tressie Lackey and Jack Barrett. A delightful time was had by all those present until Jim Kakebecke injured his tooth by a nut shell and Ruth Barrett received a severe burn while beating the fudge.

Those present were: Charley Newbill and Geneva Vaughn, Tressie Lackey and Jack Barrett, Lillian Hunt and Jim Kakebecke, Paulyn Maxwell and John Hamblin, and Ruth Barrett and Dick Klem. Mrs. F. A. Gallegly acted as chaperone.

John Vogts, the genial representative of the Boise Capital News, was in Nyssa this week in the interest of his paper. Mr. Vogts is optimistic over the business outlook and believes that after a few months of readjustment business will get its second wind and go ahead with renewed vigor and on a better basis than during the late period of high prices. Mr. Vogts accompanied the congressional party investigating the irrigation question on its trip through Idaho a few months ago and is confident a more liberal policy will be adopted by congress toward reclamation projects, as a number of the party who had always opposed irrigation appropriations were the most enthusiastic supporters of reclamation at the end of the trip.

HAY GROWERS' COMMITTEE DECIDES ON ACTION

Fifteen delegates from various sections of the alfalfa area of the county met on Thursday, December 16, at the city hall, Ontario, to continue investigations on the proposed alfalfa growers' association as discussed in a mass meeting held recently at the Cairo Grange hall. After discussion of the matter from all angles it was concluded to prepare a set of constitution and by-laws for submission at a meeting to be held some time in January. This matter was referred back to the Farm Bureau marketing committee for attention.

Probably the most important progress in connection with this work is to be found in the declaration of purposes and objects of such an association as adopted by the committee. The outstanding feature is the recognition of the importance of the grower having advance information from which he can regulate the production of various crops, particularly with regard to hay. In other words, the committee recognizes that the first principle of marketing lies in producing that for which there will be a demand and that to know this requires systematic investigation well in advance of the time of planting. The purposes and objects of an alfalfa growers' association were declared to be:

1. Gathering of information to guide our production. Under this head are listed, determine cost of production; standardize measurements and grades; standardize wages and other costs; determine feed requirements for transient stock; determine export demands and probable value in future; determine quantity of feed to be offered for sale locally and in other sections that are competitive; guide production of substitute crops and farm use of feeds by investigating of costs, markets, etc., and advising members.

2. Develop an efficient marketing system for hay. It was the opinion of the committee that this would be accomplished most likely by linking up with other associations in this and other states.
