PULL TOGETHER

(Communicated)

A recent number of the Malheur Enterprise contained an editorial which should give all forward citizens of the county a progressive thought. It was concerning the idea of the different centers of the county getting together to plan for the welfare of the county as a whole, and advertising our wealth of resources to the world. This plan is an excellent one, and on the eve of the development and progress of Malheur county, must give us serious consideration.

With a Malheur county man in the United States senate, and the Owyhee Project in view, it seems that our day will soon come. Vale, Ontario, and Nyssa each support a commercial club, but so far these separate organizations have been able to do little good on account of limited means. Now it seems that if these cities would unite their resources and form an organization of real merit, we could get somewhere. We could form a Malheur county Chamber of Commerce, not a second class "commercial club," hire a real salaried organizer and advertiser, and watch results. Our aims and hopes are the same, our mission and methods the same, and it is high time we put our efforts together for the great cause. Thus shall we prosper.

SCHOOL NOTES

The grades of the public school have enrolled in the 'Modern Health Crusade' movement. Every Crusader receives an enrollment certificate and a report folder in which the number of health chores he does every day is marked. For doing 54 or more chores in each week, he becomes a squire and receives a squire's button in five weeks; he becomes a knight in ten weeks, and a knight-banneret in 15. The Oregon Tuberculosis Association furnishes free material for the crusade.

Final semester examinations are being given in the High School during Thursday and Friday. In the second semester, which begins next Monday, several changes will be made. A course in economics will take the place of Sociology. Biology instead of Physiology, and Agriculture instead of Botany. Household Science I will become Household Art I.

J. Boydell has presented the school with a supply of thermometers and blotters.

Physical Drill, greatest chest expansion:

Seventh Grade—Merle Linder.
Sixth Grade—Gordon Looper.
Eighth Grade—John Koopman, Frank Leuck, Dave Walters.

Several important educational measures will be submitted to the Oregon legislature in its present session. One of them provides for free text books in the elementary schools, another provides for lengthening the terms of school board members to four years, and another would do away with property holding restrictions for qualified voters in bond elections. If the people of this district are interested in these measures one way or another they ought to let their state senator and state representative know.
