

FRANCE READY TO MARCH ON BERLIN

WILL FORCE REPARATION PAYMENT, EITHER ALONE OR IN COMMON WITH ALLIES.

Believed That Berlin Government is Well Aware That There Remains No Room for Procrastination After End of Month.

Paris.—It is no longer doubted in circles here considered to have the best information that France will, either alone or in common with the allies, take radical action against Germany if satisfactory assurance regarding the payment of reparations are not forthcoming by May 1.

What form the action will take is only a matter for surmise, but semi-official opinion is that it will be such as to impress the German people as they have not been impressed since the armistice.

The occupation of the Ruhr valley and the entire industrial region of Westphalia is advocated by some. Others are convinced that the French army should this time go to Berlin, in order to make sure, they argue, of finishing a task which they hold would be achieved much more cheaply in the end by this method than through the successive application of lesser penalties.

It is thought in official circles here that the Berlin government is well aware that there remains no room for procrastination after the end of this month. Hence, after failing to interest the United States in her case, as the French interpret the outcome of the recent correspondence between Berlin and Washington, Germany is understood to have made a tentative effort to draw Switzerland into the reparations question as a mediator. It is understood Czecho-Slovakia is disposed to join in the application of economic penalties against Germany, and even to contribute to military measures if desired.

A change in the French government in May, with a cabinet headed by former President Poincare in power, is predicted in well-informed parliamentary circles, in case Premier Briand should not succeed in putting effective pressure on Germany.

HAYWOOD MUST SERVE TERM I. W. W. Leader Loses Long Fight to Avoid Prison Sentence.

Washington.—The supreme court on April 11 refused to review the conviction of William D. Haywood and more than seventy-nine other members of the I. W. W. on charges of having conspired to obstruct the war activities of the government.

Petition for review was based on the contention that the federal agents in conducting raids on the homes and offices of officials of the I. W. W. on September 5, 1917, acted without search warrants and that the evidence thus obtained was illegal, under recent rulings of the supreme court.

Refusal of the supreme court to interfere closes the long fight to save Haywood and his associates from prison. Only a presidential pardon can now prevent their entering upon the sentences imposed.

OKLAHOMA WINS FROM TEXAS Gets Verdict in Controversy Over Red River Oil Fields.

Washington.—Oklahoma won in the supreme court on April 11, the first big point in her suit with Texas for jurisdiction over valuable Red River oil fields.

More than 1000 miles of boundary were fixed by the decision.

Hughie Smith, city jailer of Covington, Ky., has no hands, but prisoners step lively when he speaks and he needs no valet. Hands, he says, are "convenient, but by no means necessary."

MANY PROBLEMS FOR EXTRA SESSION

LONG PROGRAM OF BUSINESS FACES MEMBERS OF THE SIXTY-SEVENTH.

Taxes, Tariff, Foreign Affairs and Domestic Problems to Be Considered During Special Session of Congress.

Washington.—With the Republicans controlling both the executive and legislative branches of the government for the first time in a decade, the sixty-seventh congress will, during the special session, embark upon a program of reconstruction involving problems greater than those of the war.

The program of legislation to be considered includes the following: An agricultural emergency tariff bill practically identical with that vetoed by Ex-President Wilson.

An anti-dumping bill to prevent foreign manufacturers from flooding American markets with goods at prices below fair value in the exporting country.

A bill basing duties on the American instead of the foreign valuation of imports, designed to eliminate exchange difficulties and afford increased protection under present rates.

A permanent tariff bill for protection of American producers as well as for increased revenue.

Revision of direct taxation and repeal of the excess profits tax.

Army and navy appropriation bills, which failed in the last congress, involving national defense policies and the question of reduction of naval armaments.

The soldiers' bonus and soldiers' relief generally, including adequate hospitalization for disabled service men.

Repeal of the bill for percentage restriction of immigration, pocket-vetoed by Ex-President Wilson.

Establishment of the budget system proposed in the bill vetoed by Ex-President Wilson.

Action on the president's proposals for termination of the state of war with Germany, Austria and Hungary.

The Colombia treaty, on which the senate is to vote on its eighth legislative day.

Reappointment of congressional representation.

Further railroad investigation and possibly legislation.

Reorganization of the government departments and reclassification of government employees.

Americanization of federal aid to education.

Maternity and infancy bill, providing federal nursing aid to the states.

In the opening preliminaries on Monday the overwhelming Republican majorities of twenty-two in the senate and about 170 in the house, worked with precision. Speaker Gillett was re-elected, 208 to 122, with Representative Kitchen, North Carolina, Democratic floor leader, his perfunctory opponent.

The emergency tariff bill was introduced, and is to be the house's first business.

In the senate, Republicans held off attempts to introduce bills and other business.
