KINGMAN KOLONY

Miss Bernice Martin has as her guest this week, her school friend, Miss Ella Waldrop, of Parma, Idaho. Rev. Shields held communion service in the Kolony last Sunday, four joining the Presbyterian church at this time, and one child receiving baptism.

The Sunday school attendance last Sunday was record day, 61 being present.

The children's Day Program on next Sunday, June 12, is to be a treat and it is to be hoped that at least every child in the community will be present.

The ranchers experience no difficulty in securing help with the hay this season.

The Otis brothers began moving hay Tuesday, as did several Kolony hay growers.

Mr. G. W. Reed has his fields shocked, and working with Oscar Shaffer has contracted to harvest the alfalfa on the John Vanderpool ranch.

Mr. Vanderpool was taken to the sanitarium at Vale Monday, suffering from a severe attack of Sciatica rheumatism.

Mrs. Ethel Martin of Pendleton, was called home last week by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Fred Powell.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Zeerlein make a business trip to Parma, Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Neal and two daughters of Fruitland, Ida., will spend the summer with their daughter, Mrs. Jenkins and family.

Pauline Neal of Ontario, is also spending a few days with her aunt, Mrs. Zeerlein.

Mr. Brock met with a serious accident coming out of Nyssa, one day last week his car going into the ditch, and seriously injuring Mrs. Fred Powell, who, with Mr. Powell, Miss Powell and Eddie Powell were passengers in the Brock car. Mrs. Powell is somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Kingman, Miss Florence Kingman and Miss Bertha Shafer were Parma visitors Tuesday.

Rev. W. F. Shields was an overnight guest in the Conrad Martin home last Saturday. Word was received last week from Mrs. MacLafferty, of the death of her brother at Aberdeen, Wa.

Mr. R. McCreary, who recently returned from the sanitarium at Vale, is reported not improved.

At the regular meeting of the Kingman Kolony P. T. A., on Friday, June 3, it was decided to continue the regular meetings during the summer and during the vacation months, to meet at the homes or combine the business session with a picnic, or in some form make the gathering during the vacation, an outing for the members. The next regular meeting on the first Friday in July is at the home of the President, Mrs. R. R. Overstreet, and we hope to have a 100 per cent attendance.

A Kingman Kolony Drainage District meeting is called for Saturday, June 11, 7 P.M. at the school under the direction of their class leader, Mrs. M. M. Greeling. The young people gave one of the most successful evenings of entertainment that has been given in the Kolony. The rooms and tables were beautifully decorated with greens and flowers.

The young people served, beautifully, all present with ice cream and cake. The musical treat under the direction of the class chorister, Miss Corinne Maxwell, was pronounced by a man in the audience, as alone, well worth an admission of $5. The Kingman Kolony Orchestra rendered a number of popular and grand opera selections:

Vocal quartette, "In the Garden"
Vocal solo, Thelma McCreary,
"Fiddle and I"

(Violin obligato, Mrs. Joe Bruning.)

Reading, Eulalia Shafer,

"Lily Servasse's Ride,"

Vocal solo, Bernice Martin,
"Roses and Twilight."

(Accompanied by Ella Waldrop, of Parma.)

The young people wish to thank the Kingman Kolony Orchestra Messrs. Hickox and Greeling, who donated the ice, and all the people of the community who co-operated with them to make this effort such a success.

Nyssa Loses Ball Game to Parmaites

Worrying too much in anticipation of the game, and the fact that Bill Lyles was out with a game leg, beat the Haymakers in a good game on the local grounds Sunday—9 to 1.

Alexander pitched for Parma, and Nyssa got him for eight hits, Felton Duncan making three of them. The old reliable Slim Woodruff threw for Nyssa, and Parma found him only seven times. Slight errors by Nyssa, combined with Parma's superior fielding and aggressive tactics, lost the game for Nyssa. The bases were filled three times, but Parma always rallied at the critical moment. The ever ready work of Woodruff and Diven, as in the preceding games, was the bright light of the Haymakers. With consistent support they would make the team a pennant winner.

A large crowd was out to see the game. The boys appreciate the support which has been given them this year. Fair minded fans realize that the boys are doing their best, and that under more favorable conditions our team would be hard to beat.

J. R. Hunter who started to Jordan Valley last week had quite a serious accident near Homedale Sunday when a large truck, in passing him on the road, skidded into the wagon and crushed two wheels, broke out the tongue and otherwise damaged it. Mr. Hunter was thrown from the wagon but escaped unhurt. He had his wagon taken to Homedale and was compelled to send to Nyssa to obtain a tongue for it and spokes for the wheels. The case has been placed in the hands of Attorney Blodgett for settlement.

ED NORRIS ALIVE AND WELL

The Journal was apparently in error when it stated in a recent issue that Ed Norris had been killed in Nebraska. Manny Hatfield an uncle of Mr. Norris states that he is alive and working every day at Doris, California.

Miss Crystal West, who has been teaching in the Twin Falls Public Schools, returned home this week, and is staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. West, for a short vacation. She intends to leave for Portland soon, where she has a position.

Lieut. W. V. Brown Falls to His Death in Airplane Accident

Son of Journal Editor Loses Life When Airplane Drops 500 Feet Into Potomac River.

A fatal accident that pulls hard at the heart-strings of the Journal force occurred Thursday morning when Lieutenant Walter Vernon Brown, son of Wm. S. Brown, of the Journal, fell to his death in the Potomac river near Colonial Beach, Virginia. The accident occurred while Lieutenant Brown, who was an officer of the Marine Flying Corps, stationed at Quantico, Virginia, was making a flight in an airplane. The body fell into the river and was recovered only after a prolonged search. Sergt. Bugby, Lieut. Brown's assistant, was severely injured. The following telegram received from the commander of the post gives the latest news of the accident:

"Deeply regret to inform you that your son, second Lieutenant Walter V. Brown, was instantly killed at 8:32 A.M., June 9 when machine stalled in dense fog and went into tall spin five hundred feet above Potomac river one mile from dock at Colonial Beach, Virginia. The remains are being shipped to mother at Boise, Idaho. Please accept my heartfelt sympathy.

"John A. Lejune, Major General, Commander."

Charley Crawford is recovering satisfactorily from an operation which he underwent Monday in a Boise hospital, where he was taken last week for surgical treatment. Mrs. Crawford is with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green, of Ontario, and Mrs. Gus Schwetzer, and Mrs. J. S. Glascock and children, John and Alice leave Wednesday for the Rose Carnival in Portland. From there they will go on to Seattle to visit Mrs. J. P. Nannary. Mrs. Nannary will be remembered by her many friends on the Owyhee as Miss Kate Schwetzer.

Barney and Barkley Wilson returned Tuesday from a few days' fishing trip at Ironside, where they went last Sunday. They report fine luck; their catch of the speckled beauties totalling more than one hundred. Barney caught forty-five in about an hour Tuesday morning. They were only persuaded to leave their sport when signs of an approaching thunder shower were heard, and they remembered that that they had neglected to bring their chains.

Miss Tressie Lackey left Friday for Portland, where she will spend a few days with friends. Later she will visit her cousin, Osa Storts, who is attending Mt. Angel college. On her return home, she stops at Baker to attend the commencement exercises for pupils of the St. Francis Academy, where she will be accompanied home by Miss Violet Cox, a cousin, who will graduate from the academy this term.
