Prospects Look good for Stock Men in Spite of Weevil

Although there will be less than a normal crop of alfalfa harvested in the county this season owing to the plowing done by some of the farmers who could see the light, and depredation of the alfalfa weevil, the stockmen have no worries as to where they will get feed, for the interior ranges, pastures and meadows will yield the most abundant crop of feed for many years. Cattle and sheep are fatter than they have been for years at this season of the year and the prospects look good for the stockman who needs cash, to ship a lot of stuff, grass fat, instead of having to put it into the feed lots or sell as feeders.

From the cattle sections come reports that there will be more than sufficient feed for winter needs, some hay growers in the interior being in doubt about it paying to harvest all their crops. After the long grind of the past three or four years, things certainly look better to livestock men, but hay farmers who depend on the sale of their crops are not feeling so optimistic now that conditions have shifted from the war time status.

Big Increase in the Potato Crop

Potato growing, though yet in its infancy in Malheur county has made great progress during the past two years. The amount of this farm product which will be turned off in 1921 will probably be five times that of 1920 and about ten times as much as in 1919. A census was recently completed by County Agricultural Agent, Breithaupt who has been co-operating with the potato men in securing good seed and promoting the industry during the last two years, which shows the names of the principal growers and the acreage each has. According to this census, there are between 600 and 800 acres of potatoes in commercial fields in the county, and the crop looks good, the yield should be not less than 200 carloads.

The farm bureau organization has cooperated with the agent in urging the planting of a larger acreage of potatoes for the early market to be shipped direct from the field to market in refrigerator cars. A large number of growers have listened to this argument and have taken advantage of the combined orders made up to get good seed from seed growing sections in Idaho, Oregon and Minnesota. As a result, a considerable part of the crop will move early in August, bringing some early cash to the growers as well as enabling them to market the crop when average prices are at the top and without the expense incident to storage and rehandling as with late potatoes. It is believed that the growers of late potatoes will usually be up against too stiff competition from sections nearer to market and capable of high production, while the area suitable for early potatoes to come on in August is rather limited.

About twenty of the principal growers representing the Nyssa, Cairo-Ontario, Dead Ox and Vale districts, met recently at the Cairo grange hall and took steps to organize an association of potato growers. By joining together in an association, the growers expect to cooperate in securing information on markets, car supply, and such other matters as may be to their interests. They may also cooperate in buying seed and supplies and in the sale of the crop. The standardization of varieties and grades, disease free seed, good production methods, etc., is only part of the game. In order for the industry to thrive, these early potatoes must move promptly—just as much as early fruits, and for that reason the necessary details must be attended to.

Homesekers Coming

A trainload of homesekers from the East are due to arrive in Malheur county on July 21, and preparations are being made to receive them and show them the vast agricultural resources of the county.

Arriving at Ontario at 2:30 P. M., they will be brought to Nyssa by auto, later visiting Vale and the Warm Springs project, returning to Ontario for supper. At midnight the party will leave for an extended tour of the state.

ATTENTION DAIRYMEN

July 5th we will open a cream station in the La Frenz building on Main Street, Nyssa, Ore. We will be prepared to buy cream and pay you the SPOT CASH at the highest market price.—Mutual Creamery Co. Adv.

Margaret Reynolds Company

A Delightful Artists' Trio Scheduled for Two Concerts on the Second Day of Chautauqua

Mary Adel Hays, noted American coloratura soprano, organized and coached The Margaret Reynolds Company of New York. It is a trio of musical artists, each member having attained prominence in their respective field of musical endeavor. Margaret Reynolds, soprano, who heads the company has a rare beautiful voice, ample in volume and rich in quality. Miss Taylor, violinist, is a pupil of the great Leopold Auer and is one of the most promising young artists on the concert platform. Guy Martiner, the New Zealand pianist, is a brilliant artist on the piano and in his pianologue work.

Chautauqua Week

in Nyssa the Big Event of the Year

Chautauqua Week in Nyssa is becoming a bigger affair each year.

Starting yesterday afternoon with the Apollo Duo, the Ellison-White Company will give a daily round of entertainments for five days. The entertainers yesterday afternoon and evening were greeted by the largest crowd that ever attended a Nyssa Chautauqua on opening day. Nothing but praise of the excellence of the entertainment has been heard, the crowd being more than seated.

This afternoon and this evening the Margaret Reynolds Company of musical artists will give concerts, and Mrs. Taylor Z Marshall will deliver an inspirational lecture on "Levers that Move the World."

Not the least enjoyable part of the Chautauqua week will be the big picnic dinner, with free lemonade, in the big tent on July 4.

Hay Crop Nearly Up

Most of the first crop of alfalfa hay in the territory bordering the Snake river is now in the stack, although a few are still harvesting. Some of the early grain is ripening and the harvest will soon be on. There is a considerably increased acreage of grain this season, particularly of spring wheat, owing to the move on the part of some of the alfalfa hay growers to cut down their acreage of that product and get the land into something which is more salable. Probably twice as much grain will be harvested as last year, at least if corn is taken into consideration.

Automatic Oilers Make Hit

R. H. McNeer returned last evening from a trip to Long Valley and other Idaho points in the interest of the McNeer Automatic Oilier Company. He reports that the Automatic Oiling device, of which he is the inventor, is being very favorably received by the farmers and that his greatest trouble now is to get a sufficient number manufactured to supply the demand.

Mrs. James Dennis and Mrs. Elmore McLellan were Ontario visitors Wednesday.
