Young People In the Church

By Pastor C. E. Wharton

Not many years ago the Church was considered the great object to be ministered unto. Today that view is radically changed. The Church is the ONE great agency for ministering to the people. Hence youth is finding its place in the Church. Youth is not asking favors but is asking for a place to do something. Youth may not always be Christian but is essentially religious. Hence for the Church to hold its young people, the door into the Church must be the door into real life service.

The youth of today is not interested in the Church and its activities, but if the Church is to live and flourish, youth must be interested and must be brought into the membership of the Church; and its privileges, its offices, cares, and burdens, all must be fully realized by the young of today.

Young people answer to all requirements and expectations, fully, eagerly, cheerfully, and are happiest when doing their part. To be sure, the judgment of elderly Church members is ripe, but that ripeness is the result of experience, and that ripeness might be unto rottenness. Youth must be ministered unto by the Church, but must also be given full opportunity to minister unto others. In the Church must be the home of safety for the young.

PRIZES FOR PICKED PEOPLE

The Gate City Journal has been authorized to announce that a high school students in this territory are eligible for the prize play-writing contest, conducted by the Dramatic Club of Gooding College, which is composed of members chosen from the Department of Expression.

This contest has grown from the conviction that there is much latent talent in our schools which, if discovered and developed, will lead to the betterment of the American drama.

This plan provides a list of prizes to be given for the best one-act play written by high school students. The rules of the contest permit any student of any high school to compete. There are no limitations upon the plays as to the type or length, provided they are suitable for one act production.

The first prize will be $25.00; the second $15.00; the third $10.00 and the fourth $5.00. All plays sent in will be read by competent judges, who will name the winners. The manuscripts must be in the hands of the judges by April 1 and, after awarding of the prizes will become the property of the Dramatic Club.

Further instructions concerning the contest may be obtained from Esther Hope Jacoby, Dramatic Director, Gooding, Idaho.
