

Some Responsibilities of Parents

repetition. A boy was seen wandering slowly about the streets. The officer had rung. The kindly policeman tapped the boy on the shoulder, saying: "Sonny, you must either go home or go to jail." "Well," replied the boy, "I'll go to jail then, Pa's gone to the club, Ma's gone to a euchre party, Bud's out walking with his girl, Sis is at the theatre with her beau and they left me and the dog at home." This boy, thoroughly familiar with the loneliness of home, that the jail more desirable. Undoubtedly it was the thought of companionship that caused him to decide in favor of the jail. It is decided now that these parents had failed to provide a way of amusement for this lad not realizing that the time would be long for him with friend dog. There are let us then be sure to welcome our children's playmates, having our homes not too daintily or nicely furnished, but where there will be found some place, either in the attic, cellar or living rooms for their friends games.

Lastly no child will work for an education if the parents do not value it. It is not sufficient to educate him only to the limit of his parents' knowledge; we must not expect him to pay for his raising for that is a debt to be passed on to future generations. Today there is little room in the business world for the uneducated. This is exemplified by the number of students that are trying to secure neglected education at night schools and by the extension courses provided by our higher schools and colleges. We are aiming to educate the child that he may give to the next generation, all the advantages accorded him and any additional privileges or qualifications that he may provide for them. This is the law of progress. In this connection, let us not forget to visit the schools and teacher and get our information and observations first hand; to learn from the teacher what our children are doing, and to let her know that we appreciate her efforts with our children.

While it is a rather difficult problem at present for the most of us to meet, we cannot have good schools or suitable public school teachers without tax money, and we can never have adequate tax money without public sentiment favoring it. We say the late war found us so unprepared in the matter of education as to be a great handicap to our government. No person ever believed our country contained so many illiterates until the facts were tabulated by the various departments. Education is preparedness, and the government must make sure that there is preparedness of all the people (through the education of the young). In addition to this there must be a co-operation to work for success and improvement in our school and community. For—

"It ain't the guns nor armament, nor fund that they can pay. But the close co-operation that makes them win the day. It ain't the individual, nor the army as a whole, But the everlasting teamwork of every bloomin' soul."

News From Adrian

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Schafer visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Schafer, who live near Nyssa, Sunday. However they missed a time in their absence from home. A bachelor dinner was served by Lee Schafer. The afternoon was spent in playing cards, wrestling, and a bucking contest. Those present were: Moxie Simmons, Merritt Greebling, Clarence, Ray, Jack, Mike and Bill Elliot; Eddie Powell, Frank Doyle and the Schafer brothers.

Again we must turn our attention to the "wonderful one horse shay." Peterson Christensen is seen driving about the streets in a new buggy (which he purchased from Ray Elliot), drawn by a white horse which he obtained from William Ashcraft, having traded three lots in the city for it. Mr. Christensen has a team now and says he expects to do considerable farming on his homestead northwest of town.

Little Dorothy Holly has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. Frank Miller, of Big Bend, the first part of the week. She attends school from there.

Mrs. William Ashcraft returned on the Homedale train from Nyssa Monday. She has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Zink, and her son, Mr. S. Ashcraft. She became ill while there and she to come home at once. Her son, accompanied her to Adrian where she was met by another son and taken to her home near the city. Mrs. Dolly McCree has been very ill the past week, but she is reported better at present. Her daughter, Thelma, was absent from school during her illness.

Ray Elliot motored to Parma one day this week, returning with a truck load of supplies for Holly Bros. store.

A very valuable calf belonging to Thelma McCree died Tuesday night.

Pat Connelly was in Adrian on business Tuesday.

Bud McPherson, of Caldwell, was in Adrian on business Tuesday.

NYSSA COMMISSION HOUSE DOING GOOD BUSINESS

The Nyssa Commission house which opened for business January 25th, is doing a land office business in the shipment of dressed poultry, hogs and veal, according to a report to the Journal office.

This firm goes to the producer and culls his flocks of poultry, or hogs or veal and brings them to town and dresses and packs them and puts them on the market for the producer on a commission basis, and thus far they have built up a large trade and expect to handle more stuff as they get arranged to take care of it.

SURPRISE PARTY
Last Friday night after the Tom Thumb wedding a group of high school people surprised Ruth Servos in honor of her birthday. The evening was spent playing games after which refreshments of candy and popcorn were served.

A STRAW RUDE.

A number of high school students enjoyed themselves immensely at the McCurdy home Tuesday evening. The evening was spent in playing lively games and dancing which was made more peppy by red pepper sandwiches. While preparing to start home it was reported that one horse power was gone. After a long hard search by all those present (except Serene Mc Murren) the missing creature was found leisurely eating his hay in the barn. It was learned that two seniors were too aristocratic to take a jolly straw ride; consequently they missed a hilarious time.

SCHOOL NOTES

The First Grade are devoting this week to the study of Lincoln. Miss Hope has taken the fourth grade "B" class.
The Third Grade children gave Miss Hope a surprise party last Friday afternoon.
The fourth grade has been working on window decorations for Valentine Day. Red hearts gave them quite a festive appearance.
The fifth grade has been divided into sections; the A's being sent into Mrs. Reynolds room and the B's into Miss Sayer's.
The seventh and eighth grades are preparing a Lincoln program in honor of Lincoln's birthday.
