TWENTY YEARS OF HARDING.

"It seems that I have been President for twenty years,"—said President Harding in a speech at the National Press Club.

Not only you Mr. Harding, but to others does your service of one year seem like two decades. To the following citizens it seems all of twenty years—or longer; tramping the streets under your administration looking for jobs.

The farmers who are burning their corn and who cannot sell their products at a profit because their foreign markets have been destroyed by your own party's policies.

The business men who have been waiting in vain for a revival of business, which you and your party promised, while business conditions have steadily grown worse.

The legitimate capitalists who would invest in industrial enterprises, instead of tax exempt securities, if industry had been revived as promised by you and your party.

The owners of factories whose plants are closed or running on reduced time by reason of the failure of you and your party to redeem your election pledges.

The average taxpayer to whom you promised a reduction of taxes which they are still looking for.

The ex-service men who have watched you play hide-and-seek with the bonus and who have been discriminated against in appointments to postmasterships.

The producers and shippers who have waited in vain for a reduction of freight rates.

The genuine friends of the civil service who have witnessed your mockery and contempt for civil service principles.

The man whose emblem was once the "full dinner pail," but is now the empty pocket.

The man who voted for a change—and got it.

Yes, Mr. President, it seems like twenty years—all of twenty years.

OUR GREAT EX-PRESIDENT.

Whatever differences of opinion exist in the future concerning the greatness of Woodrow Wilson as a President, we believe that even most of his enemies (and they are rapidly getting fewer) will admit that he has made a greater President, in which capacity he has just completed his first year. His bearing since he retired from the White House has been such as to resolve all doubts as to how our ex-Presidents should conduct themselves. With a dignity that always fits him as a mantle; with a silence more eloquent than even his eloquent speech; with courage and cheerfulness that have lightened and brightened his period of retirement as a semi-invalid; with an occasional word of wisdom and good will to his fellow-citizens and with many evidences of an unshaken faith in the ultimate triumph of the principles of truth and justice upon which this great democracy is founded, he has administered the most effective rebukes to his critics and detractors.

Patient, uncomplaining, claiming nothing he has neither resented attacks nor retaliated upon his assailants. He has never whined nor wined. He has been the most colossal, majestic any typical of latter day American citizenship.

The haying chorus directed at the soaring eagle has died out. Contemplation of the stricken eagle upon his eyrie is bringing genuine understanding and appreciation of the purpose and grandeur of his unparalleled flight.

Once they read fashions to see what was going on; now they read them to see what's being pulled off.

This country isn't crowded much but we have no use for the man who wishes he were somewhere else.

At his reported salary, the movies will make Hays while the stars shine.

Harding has a saddle horse named Democrat. Make your own comment.

The Danger Point

in trying to save on painting
Repairs Cost More Than Paint

WHEN the paint on your property begins to check and crack, it is time to paint again. Unless your house is protected by a smooth, elastic film of durable paint, decay will set in and rapidly depreciate it. Decay is expensive and wasteful. Price lumber alone, to get an idea of what it will cost to repair or rebuild. Paint saves this cost.

The best paint is the most economical in the long run. It spreads easily—saves labor cost. It covers a larger area per gallon than "cheap" paint.

But most important, the best paint serves five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

We have been making the best paints for 75 years. They are scientific in formula and preparation. They meet the weather conditions in the West.

They contain the finest materials—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, pure zinc and pure colors—combined scientifically in exact proportions. They are the best paints we know.
