Save Repairs Paint Now

It Costs More to Rot a Building Than to Paint It

A GOOD way to determine how much it costs to rot a building is to find out how much labor, needed to repair or rebuild, would cost.

You'll find that it costs several times as much as the paint which repairs. Paint your buildings when they need it. Rotting property is wasteful and extravagant.

The most economical paint, in the long run, is the best paint. It's easy to apply—saves labor cost. It covers more area per gallon than "cheap" paint.

The best paint serves five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

The best paint is economical because it is scientific in formula and preparation. It is right.

We've made best paints for 73 years—to meet the weather conditions in the West. They contain the finest materials—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, pure zinc, and pure colors—combined in scientifically exact proportions with long-time skill.

NO LONGER IMPORT SULPHUR

Entire Supply Needed by the United States is Obtained Within Our Own Borders.

Deep under marsh land and quicksands, in which it is impossible to sink shafts, there have been for ages deposits of almost pure sulphur in Louisiana and Texas. For many years these deposits defied efforts to obtain them.

All the sulphur used in this country formerly came from Sicily, where the sulphur mines on the slopes of Mt. Etna had been worked for more than 2,000 years. It is only since 1866 that sulphur has been obtained in any appreciable quantities from our own sources of supply in Louisiana, and today, thanks to chemical ingenuity and acumen, all the sulphur used in this country is of native origin.

By far the greatest part of the sulphur produced in the world is used in the manufacture of sulphuric acid. Sulphur is a constituent of black powder, which is used largely in mining soft coal. It finds employment in the rubber industry as a vulcanizing agent. It is used in the bleaching of silk and wool.

The straw for use in straw hats is bleached with sulphur dioxide fumes, made by burning sulphur. Large quantities are used in the form of solutions and powders to combat injurious growths on grapes. Its use as a medicine in the form of ointments is well known.

The Wicked Judas

During a visit he paid to Oberammergau several years ago the late Mr. Andrew D. White, the American diplomat, made the acquaintance of the Judas, whom he described as by far the best actor in the whole performance. Mr. White remarked to him that he ought to have a double salary, as the Judas had in the miracle plays of the Middle Ages, when this was thought due to him as compensation for the injury done to his character by his taking that part. At this the Oberammergau Judas smiled pleasantly, and replied: "No; I am content to share equally with the others. But the same feeling toward the Judas still exists." He then told Mr. White the following story. A few weeks before, while he was working at his carving bench, the door of his workshop opened and a peasant woman from the mountains came in, stood still, and gazed at him intently. On his asking her what she wanted she said: "I saw you in the play yesterday. I wished to look at you again. You look so like my husband. He is dead. He, too, was a very bad man!"—Manchester Guardian.

One Better.

The South Side Political, Social and Athletic club had split into two factions regarding its choice for its next president and the meeting hall was jammed when election night came round. As the chairman started to call the gathering to order, the door-keeper stopped a member who was entering, perspiring under the weight of a canvas sack slung over his shoulder.

"Casidy," he demanded, "what have ye there?"

"Bricks," replied Casidy with some deliberation.

"Casidy, there'll be no brick thrown in the night. Words and ballots will be all."

"Dye think so?" said Casidy with skepticism. "Annyways, the bricks come in, so if they start anythin' we can go them with better. 'Tis me own ears that heard a guy say, 'There'll be a lot of mud slingin' in the night.'"—The American Legion Weekly.

Music Increases Egg Supply.

Two young lady graduates of Toronto university are the owners of a poultry farm a few miles east of Toronto. They have been very successful. To lovers of music one of the ladies recently said something that is very interesting.

"Do you know that hens love music? Some time ago a ferret got into our henhouse and terrified our hens so much that the eggs fell off from 150 to 75 a day and we couldn't get them back to normal. One day a girl who was staying with us was working for several hours in the henhouse and she sang mostly the while. There was a marked improvement in the number of eggs, and we continued the experiment with success. We afterward heard of a farmer who installed a gramophone for his hens and got 3 per cent more eggs as a result."—Exchange.

Wasn't, but He Did.

One day as I was sitting in the window I saw a man coming up the street dressed like a farmer. Now I had but a few minutes before seen a goose trying to fly over the bushes in the yard.

As the man seemed to be looking for something, I called out to him: "Are you looking for a goose?"

He stopped short and gazed suspiciously, as much as to say, "Well, it looks as if I'd found one."—Exchange.

Improvement on Tractor.

A new attachment designed to give the small tractor greater bearing area and increased pulling power, replaces the round wheels with two large sprockets, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. Outside of each sprocket is a cast-steel arm which projects forward and downward, carrying at its front end a smaller idler wheel. A track tread passes around the sprocket and idler wheel, giving the tractor increased bearing area.

Early Impressions.

The little, or almost negligible, possibilities on our tender memories are very important and lasting consequences; and there it is in the fountain of some rivers, where a gentle application of the hand turns the flexible waters into channels that makes them take quite contrary courses; and by this little direction, given them at first, in the source, they receive different tendencies, and arrive at last at very remote and distant places.—Locke.
